EVANSTON'S DOG CATCHER SHOOTS BITING SQUIRREL

Frank Skinner, official dog catcher of Evanston, is getting tired of his job. At first he caught only dogs. Then it was cats. He has been especially busy lately because a number of Evanston men, women, and children have been bitten by dogs.

Yesterday when Mr. Skinner received a call that Betty McCreary, 8 years old, 2404 Noyes street, had been bitten by a mad squirrel, he grabbed his net and ran. He skinned up trees, along roofs and down again.

Finally Mr. Skinner threw his net away and got a gun. He shot the elusive nut cracker and took its head to the health department where it will be examined for rabies.

"Of course the squirrel was mad," Skinner said. "Betty offered it food, and then tried to pick it up. Naturally it bit her."

Fine! Smith's Smiling Verdict As He Listens to the Cheers

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., June 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Alfred E. Smith waltzed to the strains of "The Sidewalks of New York," here tonight after his name was placed in nomination at the Democratic convention in Houston by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Seated at the side of his daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner, in the executive mansion, and surrounded by friends and newspaper men, the governor listened intently to the radio borne tidings of the Democratic convention.

After his name had brought the convention throngs to its feet and the demonstration had been under way for more than thirty minutes, the governor motioned to the newspaper men.

"Pleases Me Greatly."

"You may say," smiled the governor, "that I listened to the nominating speech and the demonstration and both pleased me greatly. It was fine."

He was the beaming Al Smith that Albany and New York knows so well. The nervous tension that had marked his actions during the afternoon and all through the nominating address had vanished with the first cheer that came from the radio loud speaker. He took out his large open faced watch with which he had toyed all during the speech and timed the beginning of the demonstration that meant so much to him.

"This will last for at least a half hour," said the governor, "so we might as well enjoy it."

Dances with Glee.

It was then that the Houston band began playing, "The Sidewalks of New York," and Al Smith, his arms held out as if encircling all the voters in America, waltzed over the carpeted floors of the executive mansion.

When Mr. Roosevelt began his address soon after Arizona had yielded to New York, the governor bowed his recognition of the handclapping that came from the twenty or more friends in the executive drawing room.

He listened eagerly to every word and nodded his head approvingly when the speaker scored a particularly forcible point. At times he smiled the famous Smith smile when Mr. Roosevelt grew semi-humorous, but when the speaker was heaping personal praise on the governor's shoulders he fixed his eyes on the ceiling and maintained a poker faced silence.

All during Mr. Roosevelt's speech and the demonstration that followed, the governor puffed nervously at his cigar. By midnight the ash tray was filled.

At the height of the cheering that came through the radio, as though it was just outside the open doors of the drawing room, the governor suddenly rose from his chair.

"He says even the press is excited," laughed the governor, repeating the comment of the radio announcer.

Makes the Governor Chuckle.

Earlier in the evening, when Senator George of Georgia was enjoying his place in the calcium, the New York governor chuckled when the announcer told of a banner being carried in the parade which read "The Constitution Must Be Preserved." Gov. Smith indicated he appreciated the thrust at his candidacy.

There was a moment of tension in the mansion as marked as any in Houston. It came when the radio suddenly went silent just after one of Mr. Roosevelt's ringing sentences. The governor's face registered his anxiety and his daughter cried out:

"Harry, Harry, it's stopped!"

A butler rushed over to the instrument, but the governor extended a restraining hand. "Leave it alone," he said, "It will start again."

And it did, a moment later.

After his first nervousness had passed, the executive relaxed and appeared to be enjoying every moment of one of the most important nights of his life. During the demonstration he forgot all of his cares.

Religious Issue Pains Him.

Gov. Smith came out at one time tonight to greet some friends who were upset over the reports of disorderly scenes in Houston when the mention of religious freedom was made by Senator Robinson on the floor of the convention.

He declined to comment on it, but his close friends said it had pained him greatly.

The pats he received on his back tonight would have made a lesser man pigeon breasted. Each of his friends present rushed up to congratulate him the moment Mr. Roosevelt finished, and the governor gave them slap for slap.

Seated close by Mr. Smith were Mr. and Mrs. Parker Corning, his daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner, and her husband; Dr. and Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, William A. Humphries, Charles Winchester, and Secretary of State Robert Moses.

CLOUTS WIN DAY FOR TOLERANCE AND GOVERNOR

Liquor and Religious Questions Out.

Tune in on W-G-N to hear the third day's proceedings of the Democratic convention in Houston. Session begins at 12 noon, Chicago time.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—The liquor question is not to be permitted to get out of hand, so far as this national convention of the Democratic party is concerned. There will be no wet plank; in fact, the determination is for a straddle, since, as Senator Robinson of Arkansas suggests, prohibition is a controversial question, with good Democrats on both sides of it.

And religious tolerance wins here, in the sense that Democratic anti-Catholics are not to be granted a compromise non-Catholic candidate.

Robinson Points the Way.

Joe Robinson meant business when, in his address as permanent chairman, he said:

"It is suggested that no wet plank be put in our platform."

Joe Robinson is a burly man with leather lungs and a chin like an anvil. When he says:

"It is suggested . . ."

. . . that means, "And let no man who values his health suggest anything else."

Now religious tolerance is being settled to the accompaniment of fleeting fisticuffs and a picturesque walkaround that lasts ten minutes.

In a Republican convention these fisticuffs would be a scandal. In this gathering of the lads of the land of the free, from the homes of the brave, the clouts bestowed on Protestant "beans" are merely the expressiveness of consistently warm-hearted and temporarily overheated boys who take their politics as they take their boxing in the school of physical culture—with ardor.

Politics and Pugilism.

Again it is Robinson of Arkansas who propels politics into the arms of pugilism. He does it by quoting, with approbation, from that sedate document, the constitution of the United States. The words come toward the close of his address, upon taking the gavel as permanent chairman of this convention.

He begins instruction No. 2—instruction No. 1, on prohibition, having already been given—by imparting to the delegates Thomas Jefferson's views on religious tolerance.

He is saying:

"Thomas Jefferson gloried in the Virginia statute providing for religious freedom."

That is as far as the senator from Arkansas gets for two minutes. As minority leader of the United States senate he knows the value of the graduated dose and the formula "it is suggested."

Take Their Daily Dozen.

So now he is letting the larrybucks take their daily dozen in the name of Thomas Jefferson.

Cheering, leaping to feet, tugging at state standards, fill the ears with heartening clamor and the eyes with the sweaty glow of faces that are excited and pleased.

This preliminary bout with the emotions subsides, and Robinson, still toying with the sacred name of the master of Monticello, resumes:

". . . and he rejoiced in the provision of the constitution which declares that no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification for an office of trust in the United States."

Joe Says a Mouthful.

Now, Joseph, thou hast said a mouthful.

Yea, more. Thou hast released the emotions boiling in the bosom of this convention.

Again the leaping to the feet, again the long, wild whoopee of these sons of freedom, again the tugging at the state standards which sentinel each group of delegates and each group of alternates. This time up come the standards. This time they are waved aloft.

Texas, where once the Ku Klux Klan was puissant, leads the way.

Texas Flag Stirs Delegates.

Down the aisle, toward the platform and then to the left, and then with another left turn, Texas magnificently marches. Willing hands are carrying not alone the state standard but also its proud flag of the two long

PRIVATE FIGHTS, FREE-FOR-ALLS, ENLIVEN SESSION

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—Fusses, fisticuffs, and free-for-alls. The day was hot and long and tempers were hot and short in the Democratic national convention.

First, two North Carolinians battled on the floor over religious tolerance until Houston police stopped them. And there were minor ructions in other state delegations.

Then, in the resolutions committee's hearing on prohibition, United States Senator Tydings attempted physical violence on the person of his colleague in the upper house, Glass of Virginia. Cole Blease, usually a hostile member of the world's most deliberative body, turned peace angel and prevented bloodshed.

And late in the evening, while the Smith demonstration was on, after Al's name had been placed in nomination, the Mississippi delegates engaged the Mississippi alternates in a battle royal. Some one tried to grab the state standard. Senator Stephens pummeled him roundly. Police led the man away. Then the alternates advanced yelling for Smith. The delegates formed a flying wedge and attacked.

A knockdown fight followed, and, when a half dozen of Houston's peace guardians restored peace, Mrs. F. C. Hawthorne of Hattiesburg emerged from the melee bearing the standard.

Rum Raid Robs City of Chance to See Circus

BY STANLEY JACKSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., June 27.—Pay night in Montreal and shopping in the Quebec government liquor stores, combined to demoralize the military precision for which the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus is famed, and today patrons in Ogdensburg, N. Y., waited in vain as the fourth section of the big show failed to arrive there. En route from Montreal, where the circus played Monday and Tuesday, it was held up all day at a siding at Malone, while federal officers worked feverishly to unload thousands of bottles of liquor hidden in the cars.

The fourth section comprised the elephants, camels, gnus, zebras, the ring horses, and the show people. The first three trains went through late, but on time to get the big top up in Ogdensburg in readiness for the performers.

Toss Booze from Windows.

When the fourth section was pulled on the siding in Malone the word was quickly passed to the performers in the Pullmans that a search was impending. Bottles began to fly through the windows of the cars, and crowds of local residents began to scramble in the tall grass for the liquid prizes.

Customs officials estimated the seizure at between 3,000 and 4,000 bottles. Every variety of liquor sold in Quebec government stores was in the lot, with whisky and beer predominating.

Find Chest of Champagne.

A whole chest filled with choice champagne was found in one stateroom that also contained two other large boxes filled with liquor.

In one stateroom, where a family of Spanish actors lived, there were two tiny children in the upper berth. The father protested he had no liquor, but a customs inspector found two jugs and many bottles of beer under the children.

WILD OUTBURST AS SMITH IS PUT IN NOMINATION

Delegates to Pick Candidate Tonight.

BULLETIN.

Houston, Tex., June 27.—(Special.)—Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts announced at 2 o'clock this morning that a "burning rebuke of corruption in the Republican party" has been prepared for insertion in the Democratic platform.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—With the nomination of Al Smith for President scheduled for tomorrow, the session of the Democratic national convention tonight was given over to a succession of speeches presenting the names of candidates and of tumultous demonstrations of enthusiasm by the partisans of each aspirant. Most of it, of course, for Smith.

After the names of Gov. Smith of New York, Senator W. F. George of Georgia, Evans Woollen of Indiana, and Congressman W. A. Ayres of Kansas had been presented the convention adjourned at 11:15 p. m. until 10:30 tomorrow forenoon, when the names of the remaining candidates for the presidential nomination will be submitted.

The balloting on the candidates "placed in nomination" tonight and tomorrow will take place probably at the session tmorrow night, following the adoption of the party platform at the afternoon session. The candidate for Vice President will be named at the final session of the convention on Friday and the delegates will be homeward bound that night.

Al on First Ballot.

As a result of the stampede to the band wagon of the redoubtable Al, the governor of New York is destined to be nominated on the first ballot by more than 800 out of the 1,100 votes in the convention. This proof that Smith is the overwhelming choice of the party for President in this election is to be made the occasion of a demonstration of harmony.

Senator Reed of Missouri, the outstanding contender against Smith, and other rival candidates will be given the opportunity of moving and seconding the nomination by acclamation or of making addresses after the nomination pledging loyalty to the ticket.

Robinson for Second Place.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas probably will be nominated for Vice President. He made a direct bid for the nomination at the morning session today in his address on accepting the gavel as permanent chairman of the convention and it was favorably received.

He sent the convention into a delirium of approval by rebuking the bigotry that would deny Al Smith the presidency because he is a Roman Catholic. In its reception of Senator Robinson's utterance the party manifested its abhorrence of religious intolerance, though only four years ago in Madison Square Garden it rejected by one vote a resolution denouncing the Ku Klux Klan by name.

Representative Crisp of Georgia presented the name of Senator George in a speech in which he said that Georgia will cast its electoral vote for the Democratic nominee whoever he may be. The demonstration acclaiming the presentation of George was confined to the states of Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

Roosevelt Offers Smith.

Gov. Smith was placed in nomination by Franklin D. Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy, who had made the nominating speech for Smith twice before—at San Francisco in 1920 and at New York in 1924.

Mr. Roosevelt offered Smith as "the surest leader to victory," and as one with whom "victory is a habit."

Whereupon the convention went into paroxysms of enthusiam for the popular Al with deafening cheering and shrieking, with cavorting and marching up and down the aisles, with uprooting and parading of the standards bearing the names of the state delegations, with bands playing and general pandemonium which Chairman Robinson brought to a close after a lapse of 23 minutes.

In the parade of delegation standards all states were in line except those with favorite sons and the anti-Smith southern states. Arkansas was the only state of the solid south whooping it up for Smith, as was appropriate in view of the candidacy of its senator for running mate to the New York governor.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky seconded the nomination of Smith in an eloquent speech which he has hopes will land him in second place on the ticket.

It was because the platform was not ready for consideration tonight that the convention proceeded to the presentation of names of candidates for the presidential nomination. By this procedure, which has been followed since 1920, the business of the convention is being expedited and it was possible to present the nominating speeches to a night instead of an afternoon radio audience.

The program tonight was so devised that Smith would be placed in nomination and the Smith demonstration would be loosed between 10 and 11 o'clock, New York time.

A move to abrogate the two-thirds rule for the nomination of presidential candidates, beginning with the convention of 1932, was voted down overwhelmingly at the night session. The motion was made by a delegate from Florida.

Picture Is All Smith.

There is naught but Al Smith in the picture now. Reed of Missouri and Hull of Tennessee and Woollen of Indiana and all the other rivals of the former fishmonger from the sidewalks of New York have faded from it even with the presentation of their names tonight. Unless some of the southern die-hard opponents of a Roman Catholic and a wet refuse their consent, Smith will be named by acclamation at the conclusion of the balloting.

Senator Reed is represented to be well disposed toward the proposition that he move the nomination of Smith by acclamation. He has placed himself in a position to take this step without self-stultification by his utterances since reaching Houston. In all of these he has emphasized his intention to get out and work for the ticket whoever may be the nominee.

Eleventh hour leaps for the Smith bandwagon are still being executed by delegates here and there who had neglected earlier opportunities. When the Oklahoma delegation caucused today it transpired that a majority is in favor of giving Reed a complimentary vote and then switching to Smith.

Four to Make Switch.

On a count of noses there were 10½ votes for Reed for first choice and 9½ for Smith. As the delegation is under the unit rule its 20 votes will be cast for Reed when the roll is called. Before the result is announced, however, one or more of the votes for Reed will switch to Smith, thus placing the 20 votes in the Smith column.

Ohio, Indiana, and Mississippi are prepared to switch from their respective favorite sons on the first ballot. All of these and several other delegations have authorized their chairmen to use their judgment as to the appropriate moment to get aboard the bandwagon.

The favorite sons of all three states are also candidates for the nomination for Vice President and, therefore, bidders for the favor of Smith, who will have the deciding voice in the selection of his running mate.

If the Ohioans could, by switching their 48 votes, put Smith over on the first ballot they would have a valid claim on his gratitude which, in accord with custom, they would expect the governor to manifest by picking Pomerene, the Ohio favorite son, for his running mate. Likewise, the Hoosiers as to their favorite son, Evans Woollen, and Mississippi with reference to Senator Pat Harrison.

Acceptable to Farmers.

There are a number of extremely powerful considerations operating in behalf of Robinson with the party leaders.

Though a recent convert to the McNary-Haugen brand of farm relief, he is acceptable to the organized farmers. That he is acceptable to eastern business interests is inferred from the fact that Bernard Baruch, liaison officer between the Democratic party and Wall street, is here working for the choice of Robinson.

As a member of the federal council of churches, the powerful propaganda agency of the Protestant sects representing 22,000,000 church members, Robinson also commands church influence of the first order in a quarter extremely important to a party about to nominate a Roman Catholic for President.

Announces His Candidacy.

Any doubt as to the receptive attitude of Robinson was removed during the day when his colleague, Senator Caraway of Arkansas, called on George Brennan of Illinois, Judge Olvany of Tammany, and other Smith leaders and informed them that Senator Robinson is a candidate. J. Hamilton Lewis, who has been in a receptive mood, announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the vice presidency.

In his speech Robinson took a position on prohibition acceptable to the drys without antagonizing the wets. To the farmers he held out the promise of farm relief by a number of different methods. But it was the injection of the subject of religious intolerance into the address of the permanent chairman that caused the politicians to raise their eyebrows and observe that here was a direct bid for the vice presidential nomination.

Adds to Printed Speech.

The printed copies of the Robinson speech contained no reference to religious intolerance. Not until after he reached Houston, not until after he became a candidate for running mate to a presidential candidate of the Roman Catholic faith, did Robinson decide to speak his mind in this address on the bigotry of those who would deny Al Smith the highest honor in the gift of the American people because he is a Catholic. So he added to his speech the following words:

"Jefferson gloried in the Virginia statute on religious freedom. He rejoiced in that provision of the constitution which declares that no religious test shall ever be required for an office of trust under the United States."

Senate Pals May Oppose Each Other

SLOGANS ARE LIKE BADGES AT HOUSTON; EVERYBODY HAS ONE

Houston, Tex., June 26.—[Special.]—One first class slogan, it has been said, is worth a dozen speeches. If that is so, the Democrats need no orators at all. Slogans are almost as thick at the convention as badges, banners, and brass bands.

Far and away the most popular are "All for Al," "Al is in," "Al by acclamation," and others extolling "another Lincoln from the sidewalks of New York." Senator James Reed's forces have caught up his warning that Missouri will go "to the end of the road," while his "turn the rascals out" has become a byword.

Every favorite son has a slogan: "Embark with Barkley," "Pick Berry," "We'll win with Walsh," "Join up with Jones," "George of Georgia," "Moody's the man," and so on.

Claude G. Bowers, in his vitriolic keynote speech last night, sounded a dozen new slogans echoed in the hotel lobbies today. The favorites include "Pillage and plunder—the gold dust twins of normalcy," "Silence is golden—for the thief," "End dollar diplomacy," and "Clean the Augean stables from mow to manger."

New slogans are coined every day of the convention. Some last a few hours; others, catching the popular fancy, survive and spread. One or two, such as "Turn the rascals out," and "Pillage and plunder," perhaps will live to become battle cries in the fall campaign.

'HAPPY WARRIOR' SPEECH THRILLS HOUSTON HEARTS

Smith Demonstration Is Loud and Prolonged.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—Democrats love the night air and the bright lights.

Hence another evening session.

It opens with decorous and touching tributes to dead magnificoes of the party and then it forged into torrents of ornate language about the living. At the beginning, a delegate from Georgia was holding forth the relative virtues, private and public, of Senator George of Georgia.

Apostle of Anguish.

The speaker's name is Crisp—Charles B. Crisp—a not inutile member of congress whose permanent distinction is that he is the son of former speaker of the house, Crisp. This man was parliamentarian to the house when his father was wielder of the gavel. He is vocally vehement, and in his passages describing how desperate is the present state of the Union he releases the words, "O my countrymen" with a rumble of anguish which convinces you that matters have not mended much on our shores since Patrick Henry, our first authentic groaner, lamented the deplorable state of things.

The principal difference between Patrick Henry and Charles Crisp seems to be that Charles' groanings fail to command attention and so affright nobody. While he rails on the delegates are cheerfully visiting and the gallery are restfully fanning.

Pays Tribute to Bryan.

Let us revert for a moment to the tributes to the dead. In memory of Mr. Bryan, hearty and fond words were spoken by former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels. When he had finished the bands softly played "Rock of Ages." The delegates stood in silence.

That silence was eloquent and tender. It gave you time to muse—piously, let us trust—on the mutability of things. For 'twas only four years ago this summer that the old warrior, vehement to the end, was clamoring in the Lord's cause—so he thought—at Madison Square Garden. Now he is gone and the world wags on and naught is changed.

In memory of Tom Marshall, most likable of Vice Presidents since Martin Van Buren, the bands played "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Again the delegates stood. Again the silence. Again, I am sure, the pious reflections.

Parade for Georgian.

Despairing Charlie Crisp has finished and the convention cheers up by partly participating in, but in general watching, a noisy walk around for George of Georgia by delegations from the warmer side of the Mason and Dixon jar.

The demonstrators carry a banner which reads, "The Constitution, it must be preserved."

This celebrated utterance by Andrew Jackson suggests the thought that there are a lot of constitutions in this hot hall that will need preserving if this convention does not get away by Friday night.

Now stop fooling. For Georgia has subsided, and here comes Franklin Roosevelt to the platform to nominate Al Smith for the presidency as he did at Madison Square Garden four years ago. The convention greets Roosevelt jubilantly. Now it listens attentively. No visiting now. The delegates love these phrases:

"We are Americans even before we are Democrats."

"Who stand out as our great Presidents? New York gave to us Grover Cleveland, teaching in Albany that public office is a public trust; Theodore Roosevelt, preaching the doctrine of the square deal for all; Virginia and New Jersey gave to us that pioneer of fellowship between nations, our great leader, Woodrow Wilson."

Cheers Greet Each Name.

Strong, honest cheers greeted every name in that list.

Here are short bits to which the convention gave close heed:

"During the last month alone, the Republican controlled congress of the United States repeatedly passed important bills over the veto of a Republican President. During eight years at Albany the wisdom of every veto by a Democratic governor has been sustained by a Republican legislature."

"The voting public of the nation is fully wise enough to compare the ethical standards of official Albany with those of official Washington."

"We must be interestd in whether that national destination be heaven or hell, and not content that the man at the wheel has assured us that we shall there find a full bank account and a soft bed."

"The governor of the state of New York stands out today as having proved not only his desire but his power to make the people as interested in their government as he is himself."

"To stand upon the ramparts and die for our principles is heroic. To sally forth to battle and win for our principles is something more than heroic. We offer one who has the will to win—who not only deserves success but commands it. Victory is his habit—the happy warrior, Alfred E. Smith."

On the words "the happy warrior Alfred E. Smith," Roosevelt's voice rises to a mighty shout—and he an invalid! The convention takes up that shout. It becomes a roar. The bands jam in.

Banners, bunting, transparencies, portraits of Al Smith are being brought out.

One of the transparencies reads "The newsboy of the city has come to help the boys behind the plow."

Everybody is talking to everybody. One old fellow, his eyes wet, his face blazing with excitement, shouts, "O, ain't it glorious!"

Well, so it is. You can't gainsay that. To so take hold of the hearts of men—it is a kind of glory that comes into few lives.

Mrs. Smith Is Beaming.

Mrs. Al Smith looks on from a gallery on the left side of the hall. The marching delegates are pausing in groups before her. She rises. She is beaming. Well she may be. Then the inevitable happens. The multitude is singing "The Sidewalks of New York." It does not seem forced and shopworn now. It becomes the ballad of a heroic night.

Banners waving everywhere—Michigan's rampant deer fringed with gold, North Carolina's tricolor, Maryland's crimson and black and gold—eight and forty banners of the commonwealths swaying in the aisles and above them. Lord, what an empire we live in!

Row in Mississippi Area.

Also, amid what vital lads we live. For watch now the row in the Mississippi area.

Michael Morrissey, a Vicksburg citizen, runs to Senator Stephens, chairman of the Mississippi delegation, and demands that the Mississippi standard be carried in the parade.

Senator Stephens explains that Mississippi expects to give Senator Pat Harrison a complimentary vote and hence he prefers to remain quiet.

Morrissey, an ex-football hero of Mississippi university, now is seizing the standard. Some hot language passes. Senator Stephens is brandishing his cane. He grasps Morrissey with his other hand. But before violence is committed the police hustle Morrissey out of the hall and Mississippi relaxes again.

Morrissey departs in a whirlwind of language, mostly of his own production. Among his words could be heard: "Florida, Alabama and Georgia ought to be thrown out of this convention. I'm a 33rd degree Mason, but I love Al Smith!"

Other than this little brush all is passing prettily.

When the music, the shouting, the parading, the balloon popping and the didoes in general have gone on for twenty-three minutes, Joseph Robinson thinks enough is sufficient and begins to berate the delegates. "Delegates," says he, "take your seats! Sergeants at arms, clear the aisles."

Seat taking and aisle clearing are accomplished. This convention fears Robinson.

Mrs. Ross Seconds Nomination.

Now comes Nellie Ross, former governor of Wyoming, with an armful of roses and a four page speech to second the nomination of Al Smith on behalf of the Democratic women of the United States.

Nellie's roses were the best part of Nellie's tribute to Al.

Thomas M. Hickey of California comes with four pages to second Al's nomination, and this paragraph from Hickey's speech wrought jubilation:

"Fifty-four years ago, in the city of New York, a fine mother, blessed with a gift of prophecy named her son 'Alfred Emanuel'—'Emanuel,' which means 'God with us'; and God has been with that man, who rose from the tenements of a city to the governorship of the Empire state, bringing to the service of the people who loved and trusted him, those qualities of mind and heart that fit him now for the Presidency."

Nobody Accepts Challenge.

Senator Al Barkley of Kentucky now is taking the pulpit. "I, I," he is saying, "was reared in the lap of Presbyterianism. My father was a Presbyterian elder. But who shall tell me that I shall not vote for Al Smith?"

Nobody accepting this challenge, the senator pays a fleeting tribute to Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis as goodly sons of Kentucky, and then makes way for Mrs. Carrol Miller of Pittsburgh, Pa.

She, too, seconds the nomination, and takes occasion to say a few blistering words about a party which she describes as so corrupt "that its crimes have reduced Pennsylvania's representation in the United States senate to one."

It waxes late.

The galleries are walking out on the convention. Flesh and blood can endure only so much gab and at 10:45 o'clock in this hot hall the halt is approaching.

A delegate from Florida—Fred Cohen—tells the delegates that he hails from the old Suwanee river.

He chats of a man who "never once cast a vote in the electoral college."

He seconds the nomination of George of Georgia.

Applause.

Judge William H. O'Brien of Lawrenceburg, Ind., nominates Evans Woollen of Indianapolis for the presidency and he is blessedly brief about it.

Now—eleven o'clock—the galleries are almost empty. But George McGill of Wichita, Kas., comes forward in a fresh linen suit to nominate for the presidency the Kansan, W. A. Ayres.

Nobody cares.

Mrs. Stella Hamlin of New Orleans closes the night's exercises at 11:15 o'clock by seconding the nomination of Al Smith in a cheery, clearly uttered little speech, which is cheered. It was the last.

MRS. WILSON PLANTS TREE AT HOUSTON IN HONOR OF HUSBAND

Houston, Tex., June 27.—(AP)—Smiling and gracious, but refusing, with her usual reticence, to say anything to the assembled audience, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson turned the first earth today in the planting of a tree in memory of her husband on the site of the new Woman's City Club building here.

Introduced by Mrs. C. H. Coughlin, president of the club, and by Jesse Jones, Houston's convention backer, Mrs. Wilson smiled and bowed as she lifted a shovelful of earth and accepted roses and a tiny silver shovel in memoriam.

Don't Slow Down So Fast

Brook Hill Acidophilus Milk helps preserve active, energetic health

Don't be one of the many people who, between the ages of forty and fifty, find themselves slowing down. Don't be one of those who, though not quite sick, are never really well.

Internal Poisoning, caused by decay-producing germs in the intestines, not only causes many digestive troubles, but also saps vitality, and leaves you exhausted at the end of the day.

The natural way to correct this is to drink Brook Hill Acidophilus Milk. Absolutely free of any drugs or medicines, this wonderful health food is full of energizing cells which drive out the germs of decay. This accomplished, digestion becomes normal and regular—health and mental and physical vigor return.

Write to Brook Hill Laboratories, Genesee Depot, Wis., for their enlightening booklet, and drink Brook Hill Acidophilus Milk regularly. At all

TIGER PADS ITS CLAWS, PURRS AL ON TO VICTORY

Roams Convention Softly and Smiles at Dixie.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—[illegible] its unhindered approach to a [illegible] cherished goal, the Democracy of New York and its allies have been treading softly, almost silently, with what amounts almost to demureness approaching humility.

The victorious army marches without trumpets and with only the simplest of standards. In itself the absence of demonstrativeness is imposing. It suggests the self-imposed restraint of a diplomatic mission into a recently hostile country.

Affords Two Contrasts.

But, more than that, it affords two contrasts. The more recent comes from still fresh recollection of the extensive, thoroughly organized stimulation of enthusiasm that preceded a similar occasion in Kansas City two weeks ago. But the antithesis is complete when one takes for comparison what occurred in Madison Square Garden four years back.

No one who was permitted to ramble freely through the ramifications of the Republican national convention has forgotten the many phased activities of the intricate, precise Hoover machinery erected there, the surface, the outward evidence of which filled the streets, the hotels, and the convention hall itself with laudation for the candidate, spoken, printed, sung, and trumpeted.

A different sort of a show, but one almost as strikingly different from this, was the drama of the New York Democratic convention of 1924. Throughout its then seemingly interminable length clanged, clashed, roared, and resounded the efforts of Tammany Hall to beat all comers in the sheer production of noise.

Record Breaking Outburst.

Tremendous, hideous sirens, operated by batteries that had to be carried by strong men, tore at the ear drums of the tired, perspiring delegates. Ordinary fish horns were whispers in comparison. Even electric automobile horns scarcely could be heard. Rattles, clappers, and bells merely filled in the quieter moments.

The record breaking outbust of this artificial enthusiasm ran for something more than an hour. The opposition succumbed.

But the Al Smith forces cannot be said to have descended upon Houston, to have invaded it. To use a military term, the process was one merely of infiltration. Their special trains were orderly, the passengers calm and reserved.

No campaign offices were opened—merely the hotel parlor headquarters into which visitors were free to come and pass the time of day. If there were any councils of war they were in private rooms on upper floors or over a table on the Rice roof.

All Blare Left Behind.

All the blare was left behind. Visitors know there are plenty of bands in Houston. But they don't pound away at Smith parodies.

The demonstrations so far have had every appearance of spontaneity. Four years ago Mayor Jimmy Walker was the big cheer leader on the floor of Madison Square Garden. Now he wears an air approaching comfortable listlessness. Some of his old aids have been seen helping to check outbursts of applause. They never start it.

When it treads softly the claws of the tiger are hid among its pads. Its voice is not heard.

WOMEN ENJOY HOUSTON PICNIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—Here are a few feminine overtones from the convention hall:

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, national committeewoman from Washington, D. C.—It's worth being a Democrat just to go to a Democratic convention instead of a Republican one.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, a delegate from Indiana—I'm for Woollen, for a while at least. It is still too early to make any statements.

Mrs. Catherine O'Day, New York delegate—No, we women didn't get many committee appointments. Yes, we made a few protests, but not very vehement. Al Smith's nearest our hearts these days; why bicker over trivial honors.

Mrs. Sarah Bond Hanley, state legislator from Monmouth, Ill.—I am busy organizing the middle west women in the interest of farm relief. Democratic men aren't so deaf as Republican men, and I know they will hear our voices.

Mary Brennan, daughter of the George E. Brennans—This is only my second convention, but I am never going to stop going to them.

Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, national committeewoman from Texas—I am the wife of a Methodist minister and I am so dry that the Democrats from Maine to Mexico know my name. But I don't care what they do to me. Right is right and I am dry.

A sergeant at arms found a woman in a violet gown walking about the platform reserved for distinguished guests. He asked for her ticket. She didn't have one. He told her she'd have to leave. An usher jabbed him in the ribs and whispered: "You poor sap, that's Mrs. Woodrow Wilson."

Mrs. Nellie T. Ross, Wyoming's former dry governor, is expected to second Smtih's nomination. The dry women insist that she is no longer arid and she insists that she isn't one bit wet. And the women are fighting it out all over the convention hall.

Mrs. J. Hamilton Lewis and Mrs. Edward Hurley accompanied their husbands, who are members of the Illinois delegation, to Houston and occupy a box near the platform.

Simmons Predicts Smith Will Divide Solid South

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who has been leading the opposition in his state against Gov. Alfred E. Smith, predicted tonight that if the latter is nominated for President it will mean a badly split southern electoral vote.

CUBA TO TAX VISITORS.

HAVANA, Cuba, June 27.—(AP)—A head tax of $3 upon all persons entering Cuba, and an additional $3 on leaving, has been imposed. The funds will be used for public works and for charity.

Tydings Leaps at Senate Colleague, Carter Glass, During Wet-Dry Clash

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—Controversy over the prohibition issue threw the Democratic resolutions committee into turmoil today.

A fist fight between two United States senators was narrowly averted, a third senator intervening.

Bitter clashes marked disputes as to whether Woodrow Wilson, who vetoed the Volstead act, was wet or dry.

There were threats of party disaster from both sides in the discussion.

Disorder prevailed again and again during the two hours and a half that the committee heard arguments on prohibition planks in a public hearing. In the end party leaders were more than ever convinced that the resolutions committee will report tomorrow a middle of the road plank promising law enforcement.

Bone Drys Threaten Fight.

A fight on the floor of the convention is threatened by extreme drys, principally from southern states, who want a declaration in favor of the principle of prohibition and opposing repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act.

Gov. Dan Moody of Texas and Josephus Daniels of North Carolina, former secretary of the navy, are the leaders of this group.

The wet supporters of Gov. Al Smith are prepared to accept the proposed middle of the road law enforcement plank, and will start fighting only in the event that clauses are included which would interfere with advocacy by Gov. Smith of the modification of the Volstead act.

Tydings vs. Glass.

Senator Tydings [Md.] was the aggressor in what narrowly missed being a physical encounter with the diminutive but fiery Virginian, Senator Glass.

Senator Blease [S. C.], noted for his vitriolic speeches in the senate, assumed the rôle of peacemaker, throwing his arms around Tydings and preventing him from rushing across the floor to reach the Virginia senator.

For a few minutes it looked like a typical senate row, as half a dozen other senators figured in the debate.

The controversy between Tydings and Glass grew out of denunciations by Bishop James Cannon of Virginia, representing the Methodist Church, South, the Anti-Saloon league, and a committee of 32 dry organizations, of the failure of the state of Maryland to enact prohibition enforcement legislation.

Bishop Cannon was citing Maryland and New York, two states which have no dry laws, as reason why the Democratic party should declare squarely for federal enforcement.

Tydings Leaps to Feet.

Senator Tydings, who earlier had urged the committee to approve the Ritchie plank, declaring for state regulation of prohibition, jumped to his feet and declared he did not intend to hear his state insulted.

Bishop Cannon reiterated his charge against Maryland, which, he asserted, formed with New York "the sore spots" of the prohibition situation.

Senator Pittman [Nev.], chairman of the resolutions committee, declared Bishop Cannon out of order for reflecting upon a state, but the latter insisted he was merely making an argument and continued his statements.

Senator Tydings again interrupted, accusing Bishop Cannon of stating falsehoods. The bishop kept on talking of Maryland's sins and Senator Tydings charged him with "compounding falsehoods."

Senator Glass, from Bishop Cannon's home state, got into the fray at this point, shouting that Senator Tydings had transgressed all rules of order by his treatment of the bishop. Senator Tydings was in his seat three or four rows from the front of the hall, while Senator Glass was standing at the front beside Bishop Cannon.

Tydings leaped to his feet, jumped over chairs which were in his way, and in another instant would have reached Glass. Senator Blease threw himself in Tydings' path and finally prevailed upon him to sit down.

Senator Pittman declared everybody out of order and the arguments continued, only to lead to other controversies.

It was Senator Tydings who started a series of clashes involving the name of Woodrow Wilson.

Cites His Liquor Stand.

He was appealing for the adoption of the Ritchie home rule plank. He insisted that he was not interested in liquor issues, but that he was vitally concerned over the maintenance of the fundamental Democratic principle of states' rights.

The Maryland senator referred to the fact that Woodrow Wilson had vetoed the Volstead prohibition enforcement act and that it was a Republican congress which passed it over his veto. If the party in its platform includes praise of Wilson, Senator Tydings said, it should not approve of prohibition.

"What hypocrisy it is," he said, "to praise Wilson in one breath and go counter to him in another."

There were three of the Wilson cabinet officials present—former Secretary of the Navy Daniels, former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, and former Secretary of the Treasury Glass. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the late President, was standing in a group near the platform.

Daniels Protests.

Mr. Daniels was the first to challenge the assertion that Wilson was opposed to prohibition.

"Having been associated with Woodrow Wilson for eight years, I protest against the unhallowed use of his name," said Mr. Daniels.

"Within a few weeks before his death he wrote a letter to one of the most distinguished men in America, in which he said that he thought that neither the eighteenth amendment nor the Volstead act should be changed.

"I appeal to his last words as an answer to any charge that he stood against prohibition merely because he vetoed the Volstead act. He vetoed the Volstead act because it reënacted two war measures which he believed should be repealed."

Senator Tydings asked for an opportunity to reply to Mr. Daniels, and, after getting permission, stepped over to talk with Mr. Tumulty, a wet. The Maryland senator apparently attempted to get Mr. Tumulty into the discussion, but the latter declined.

Tydings' Parthian Shot.

"We know," remarked Senator Tydings, after indicating that he would not attempt to take advantage of the permission granted him, "that, whatever Wilson may have said privately, he vetoed the Volstead act."

Other drys, including Bishop Cannon and Mrs. Jesse Nicholson of Maryland, head of a woman's Democratic dry organization, insisted that Wilson was a friend of prohibition.

"No man can quote the great Democratic President as being against prohibition because he vetoed the Volstead act," said Bishop Cannon, who read from the Wilson veto message the exact reasons given for his action.

Mrs. Nicholson declared that Wilson, by signing wartime prohibition bills, including that aplying to the District of Columbia, had approved more dry laws than any other executive in the history of the nation.

Wet Makes His Plea.

Capt. W. H. Stayton, chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, favored a plank for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He said that if this constitutional provision were eliminated he would help to make individual states dry by state action.

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment; Senator Edwards of New Jersey, Miss Louise Gross of a nonpartisan woman's organization opposed to prohibition; Miss Ethel Humphries of the American Woman's Council for Justice; F. C. Hardy, chairman of the National Liberal alliance, and Louis Cuvillier, a member of the New York legislature, were others urging various wet planks.

The extreme drys, led by Gov. Moody, included Cone Johnson of Texas, J. A. McSparran, a Democratic farm leader of Pennsylvania, and Col. P. H. Callahan of Kentucky.

"For heaven's sake, let's be wet or let's be dry," said Mr. Johnson, who insisted that dry Democrats in the south would desert the party unless it goes on record for prohibition.

McSparran Is Rebuked.

Mr. McSparran was called to order by Senator Pittman when he suggested that wet sentiment did not come from Democratic states but "from the sidewalks of New York and Philadelphia, where they don't register or poll the votes, but estimate them." This statement called forth shouts of protest from various members of the committee.

Bishop Cannon and his group asked the same sort of a plank as was incorporated in the Republican platform, declaring for "observance and vigorous enforcement" of the eighteenth amendment. They did not ask that the party go on record for the principle of prohibition, or that it specifically oppose repeal or modification."

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, who coöperates with this group, was present, but did not address the committee.

CLOUTS WIN DAY FOR TOLERANCE AND GOV. SMITH

Robinson Speech Touches Off Fireworks.

stripes of white and red and the dark blue field with the lone white star on it.

Superb flag!

Flag of the only state that ever entered the Union after having exercised independent sovereignty.

How the unfurling of this proud banner excites the delegates! How grandly it sweeps up and down the aisles!

State after state follows Texas. Sam Houston hall is clamorous with a majority for tolerance.

But a sulky minority is sitting tight. Be assured of that. A phrase from the constitution has started a stampede, but it has not effected a rout.

Georgia, as to the standard over the delegates, is sitting tight. But Georgia, as to the standard over Georgia's alternates, has leaped to its feet and followed Texas.

Then you think that Florida, horse, foot, and dragoons, has joined the procession. For you see a Florida standard waving and bending and lurching in the line of march.

But no! That is the standard of the Florida alternates alone. The Florida delegates are going to sit tight to the end.

Ructions Among Georgians.

Look out!

Ructions among the Georgia delegates, one of whom is tugging at the standard and is wishful to carry it into the line.

"No," shouts one of his colleagues. "No, anybody but you!"

From the shouting you extract the fact that the Georgian now so eager to join the tolerance parade made speeches against Al Smith in Georgia. Now he shall not have the honor of leading Georgia into the Al Smith band wagon.

So Georgia wrangles and fusses and sweats, and the parade is over before Georgia can come to terms with itself.

Ouch! Ouch! in North Carolina.

W. O. Sanders of Elizabeth City in the Tar Heel state is determined to carry his delegation's standard into the line. Partisans of Cordell Hull—whom, between ourselves, Al Smith has turned down as his running mate on the Democratic ticket because he fears the effect on the Harlem Negro vote of the nomination of a Tennesseean—are equally determined that Brother Sanders shall not at this point commit North Carolina to Al.

Brother Sanders Is Clouted.

In the fervor of the argument, Brother Sanders is clouted by Brother T. O. Everett, another North Carolina delegate, who believes everything that the lachrymose Senator Simmons of North Carolina ever said on the floor of the United States senate about Al Smith.

And what he said was plentiful and severe.

Besides, Brother Everett is for Cordell Hull for vice president.

Hence the clouts.

Three competent Houston policemen in blue flannel shirts come between the brothers and do a little clouting on behalf of Houston. Both brothers subside.

Olvany Holds Back New York.

Now New York is honing to join for tolerance, that noble word having an intensely vivid synonymousness in the New York mind with the word "Alsmith."

But Judge Olvany forbids.

"No! No!" says he, "let somebody else have a part in this. Sit still. Let them know that we don't think we are the whole show. Everybody knows where we stand. Don't be big boys. Subside!"

New York subsides.

But, tactful as the judge's orders may be, they are cruel discipline.

Slow—sometimes it seems ominously slow to the Alsmithians—are Missouri, California, Montana and South Dakota in joining the parade.

But finally they do join. Obviously a majority is for tolerance—and for Al.

So, having played his cards boldly, Joe Robinson of Arkansas has boldly won. He has shown the convention that it cannot have a wet plank and that a minority in it cannot muster the numbers to foment a religious disturbance a la Madison Square.

This will interest you.

It is the full text of the passage of the senator's speech in which he made that suave "suggestion" that the delegates may as well kiss a four year good-by to a wet plank in a Democratic national platform.

"Those who urge that our platform shall assail the eighteenth amendment and the laws for its execution should be reminded that prohibition has not heretofore been made a partisan issue.

Opposes Wet Plank.

"Prompted by a desire to promote harmony and concert of action, it is suggested that no wet plank be inserted in our platform.

"It is true that the Democratic party is not a prohibition party. Neither is it an anti-prohibition party. Democrats have always divided on the problem of prohibition. Many Democrats sincerely advocate prohibition as an economic and moral measure. Others, believing that its tendency is to encourage lawlessness, advocate substantial changes in the constitution and laws.

"The fear that this convention will attempt to commit the party to a 'wet' platform has alarmed many southern Democrats who favor the continuance of prohibition because of the evidence of its economic and moral value in the progress of the south.

"To ignore the practical political aspect of this question is to invite and encourage division in our ranks and to submerge those fundamental issues for which we can unite and labor in concert.

"Let it be remembered, as the congress is now constituted, and as it will be composed for many years, that there appears no likelihood of repeal or nullification of the 18th amendment.

"The only important practical result to be expected from a wet platform is that it may drive out of the party many who favor prohibition and are unwilling to yield their views upon the subject."

Now you know how much Al Smith will do for liquor if he is elected. For Al Smith has accepted the Joe Robinson who spoke the foregoing words today as a suitable running mate in the impending campaign.

The rest of the permanent chairman's address gave a recital of what a hell of a state our country is in—failures, peasants, paupers all over the ground, banks bursting in midair and a "saturnalia of crime"—good old saturnalia of crime—raging from Capitol Hill to the departmental end of Washington.

"Therefore," concluded Joseph Robinson, "the times invite decisive political revolution."

And it was thereupon so ordered, and the grieving patriots adjourned for luncheon and a nap—hard work having made the first necessary and the second salubrious.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT PUTS GOV. AL SMITH IN NOMINATION

Houston, Tex., June 27.—Following is, in part, the address by Franklin D. Roosevelt nominating Gov. Al Smith for President:

"I come for the third time to urge upon a convention of my party the nomination of the governor of the state of New York. The faith which I held I still hold. The whole country now has learned the measure of his greatness.

"During another four years his every act has been under the searchlight of friend and foe and he has not been found wanting. The proper understanding of this man has spread from coast to coast, from north to south. The understanding of his stature has been spread by no paid propaganda.

"His most uncompromising opponent will not deny that he has achieved an unprecedented popularity among the people of this country. He is well called 'the Pathfinder to the open road for all true lovers of humanity.'

High Qualifications Needed.

"It is, however, not my belief that I should urge popularity as the criterion in making our choice. A higher obligation falls upon us. We must, first of all, make sure that our nominee possesses the unusual qualifications called for by the high office of President of these United States. We are Americans even before we are Democrats.

"What sort of President do we need today? A man, I take it, who has four great characteristics. First of all leadership; next, experience, that does not guess but knows from practice the science of governing, which is a different thing from mere technical bureau organizing. Then honesty—the honesty that hates hypocrisy and cannot live with concealment and deceit.

"Last, but most vital, that rare ability to make popular government function as it was intended to by the fathers.

Three Great Presidents.

"History gives us assurance that a man who has displayed these qualities as a great governor of a state has invariably carried them with him to become a great President. Look back over our list of Presidents since the war between the states. Who stands out as our great Presidents? New York gave to us Grover Cleveland, teaching in Albany that public office is a public trust; Theodore Roosevelt, preaching the doctrine of the square deal for all; Virginia and New Jersey gave to us that pioneer of fellowship between nations, Woodrow Wilson.

"Personal leadership is a fundamental of successful government. I do not mean the leadership of the band of good fellows and good schemers who followed President Harding, nor the purely perfunctory party loyalty which has part of the time in part of the country sustained the present chief executive. I mean that leadership which by sheer force of mind, by logic, has brought friends and foes alike to enact vitally needed measures of government reform.

"His stanchest political adversaries concede the governor's unparalleled record of constructive achievement in the businesslike management of state finance; in the enactment of a legislative program for the protection of men, women, and children engaged in industry; in the improvement of the public health, and in the attainment of the finest standard of public service in the interest of humanity.

"Recently the Republican controlled congress of the United States repeatedly passed important bills over the veto of a Republican President. During eight years in Albany the wisdom of every veto by a Democratic governor has been sustained by a Republican legislature. The fitness of his appointments has been recognized and confirmed without exception by a Republican state senate.

Study of Taxation.

"By experience I refer not merely to length of time in office—I mean that practical understanding which comes from study of the basic principles involved in the science of taxation, of social welfare, of industrial legislation, of governmental budgets and administration, of penology, of legislative procedure and practice, of constitutional law. In all these matters he has developed himself into an expert.

"In any conference of scholars on these subjects he takes his place as a trained and efficient specialist. The high standard of the appointees of the governor has made strong appeal to the citizens of his state, urban and rural, regardless of party.

"As one who served his state in the legislature of which this governor then was also a member, and who later for nearly eight years held an administrative post under President Wilson in Washington, I can bear witness that the problems which confront the governor of New York and those national problems which confront the President in Washington differ chiefly in geographic extent and not in the fundamentals of political principle.

Four Times Governor.

"How well the people of his state have understood and approved the wise solution of the questions of industry, transportation, farming and finance is best shown by the fact he has been elected and reëlected, and reelected, and again elected governor by huge majorities—in the hundreds of thousands—in a normally Republican state.

"As to the requisite of honesty, I do not mean an honesty that merely keeps a man out of jail, or an honesty that hides the corruption of others. I speak of that honesty that lets a man sleep well of nights, fearing no senatorial investigation.

"The voting public of the nation is fully wise enough to compare the ethical standards of official Albany with those of official Washington.

"And now, last of all, and where the governor excels all political leaders of this day, comes the ability to interest the people in the mechanics of their governmental machinery, to take the engine apart and show the function of each wheel.

"Power to impart knowledge of government is the crying need of our time. The soul of our country, lulled by mere material prosperity, has passed through eight gray years.

"We must not accept ready made government; in a day of high powered advertising we must not fall for the false propaganda of the Republican party. We do not want to change these United Sovereign States of America into the 'United States, Incorporated,' with a limited and self-perpetuating board of directors and no voting power in the common stock holders.

"This is a time of national danger unless America can be roused again to wakefulness. I see only one hope of a return to that participation by the people in their government which hitherto marked us out as the great outstanding success among democratic republics.

"That hope lies in the personality of the new man at the wheel. The governor of New York stands out today as having that purpose. His desire is to make the people as interested in their government as he is himself.

"I have described so far qualities entirely of the mind.

Struggled from Obscurity.

"He senses the popular need of interest in one's fellowman because he himself has lived through the hardship, the labor and the sacrifice which must be endured by every man who struggles up to eminence from obscurity.

"Our two greatest Presidents of modern times possessed this quality. It was Lincoln's human heart, and Woodrow Wilson's passionate desire to bring about the happiness of the whole world which will be the best remembered by the historians of a hundred years from now. Without this love and understanding of his fellow men, no chief executive can win that international friendship which alone is the foundation of lasting peace.

"Because of his power of leadership there is no doubt the governor will make an 'efficient' President, a great President. He again will place us among the nations of the world as a country which values its ideals as much as its material prosperity.

Peace for the World.

"If the vision of real world peace, of the abolishment of war, ever comes true, it will not be through a reduction of armament program nor the platitudes of treaties piously deprecating armed conflict. It will be because this nation will select as its head a leader who understands the human side of life.

"America needs not only an administrator but a leader. To stand upon the ramparts and die for our principles is heroic. To sally forth to battle and win for our principles is something more than heroic.

"We offer one who has the will to win. Victory is his habit—the happy warrior, Alfred E. Smith."

ARTY TRIBUTE FOR AL MELTS WIFE'S CALM

esponds with Kisses and Happy Tears.

GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ouston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.] r thirty significant minutes to the wife of New York's gov sat silent and still, and listened a speech that sent her one big further along the path that may her the wife of the nation's t President.

en the Democratic party of the d States of America massed its ndards and rushed in a frenzy to in tribute before box 78. And woman in blue smiled, but still didn't say a word, not even to family; she didn't make a gesture. esently a little man from Brook George Riegelman was his name, beaming and perspiring, rushed to the box, stretched on tiptoes d grabbed her hand. The reserve gan to break. Her lips quivered. e next minute a score of men and omen swayed across singing "The dewalks of New York," and swung a picture of Alfred E. Smith.

Then Tears Come.

And Katie Dunn Smith, flushed with heat and the homage, stood up, ushed two white, plump hands to r lips, and flung out kisses to her ends from home. There were tears her Irish blue eyes.

For long, tumultuous moments, then, e crowd stumbled by. They grabbed e fragile sleeves of dull blue chiffon. They squeezed her right hand hard that she had to slip off the amond ring. They jabbed the lace her blouse with the long poles of e state banners, which they begged r just to touch "for luck." Rhode land was the first to do it. Then Wyoming and Colorado and the Philippines, Minnesota, and on, and on.

Another man from New York mped up on a camera stand, worked s face in between other cameras d enveloped her in an embrace. Illinois gave a noisy salute.

Gone Is Her Reserve.

The big movie lights beat their heat down on the woman, who, not so any minutes before, had sat perfectly silent and well nigh motionless. e laughed, she smiled, she flung em, she recognized this face and at in the crowd.

At last these friends from 47 states d the territories and the neighbors om one state crushed about her so generously that Dr. Raymond Sullivan, the Smiths' personal physician, ew her back from the front of the x. Presently, however, Wisconsin rolled by, its big banner waving giddily and showing a large picture of e White House, labeled "Al Smith's w home."

"How'd you like to live there; how'd like to live there?" the crowd lled, and once more Al Smith's wife ne of them, leaning over the box d, giving her hand to hundreds of ends.

Al's Sister Overjoyed.

To her left sat another happy oman, and one who had not boxed her emotions during that half hour eech. This was the governor's sister, who has something of the governor's profile and much of his personality.

Mrs. John Glynn enjoyed every ngle moment of the celebration. But especially tickled her when some the folks in the procession mistook her for Mrs. Smith. She'd laugh, a hearty, deep laugh, and point a capacious hand in the direction of her more restrained sister-in-law.

On the other side of Mrs. Smith sat her daughter-in-law, young Arthur's wife, and then came Arthur. He sat so far forward that his yellow curly hair just missed the whirling electric fan that he didn't even know was at his side. In the second row were the junior Alfred E. Smiths with Catherine, the bride, and her husband, Francis Quillinan.

While Franklin Roosevelt was telling the convention what a glamorous, sturdy personality was Al Smith, his nearest kin were sitting as quiet as if they had been hearing an impersonal lecture on botany.

Mrs. Smith Impassive.

Mrs. Smith did not say one word all during the speech. She didn't make one motion, save, occasionally, to open and close her fan, and once, to fix her black hair, with that mechanical gesture which women use, when they are thinking of something else.

During Roosevelt's more fragrant passages of praise of her husband, Mrs. Smith looked as self-conscious as any woman, not anxious for the calcium light, looks when she is trying to be unself-conscious as the chairman begins to introduce her. And when the words "Alfred E. Smith" closed the speech and started the tumult all that Mrs. Smith did was to shift in her chair and smooth the already smooth fold of her blue gown.

But the emotion was there. The New York delegation touched it off. A woman from Montana, ringing a big bell, kindled the laughter. And the challenge of "East Side, West Side," started her tapping out the rhythm.

And when the last cheer had reluctantly yielded to Chairman Robinson's gavel, Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, the correctly groomed, perfectly restrained, excellently poised portrait of a prospective candidate's wife, was Katie Dunn Smith, the flushed, joyous, possibly somewhat disheveled wife of the New York boy whom Democracy wants to send to the capital on the Potomac.

BABY DEAD OF RABIES; 5 MORE PERSONS BITTEN

Frederick Bukowski, 2 years old, of 2000 South May street, died in the county hospital yesterday of hydrophobia. The child was bitten by a dog June 3.

Five other persons were bitten by dogs yesterday. Morris Solomon, 3 years old, 1259 South California avenue, was bitten on the hand by his pet dog. George Sonsedek, 8 years old, 2029 West Cullerton avenue, was bitten on the hand as he played near his home. Rachel Fishbein, 7, of 4503 South Ashland was bitten on the arm as she was walking near her home. William O'Connor, 40, and Dennis O'Shea, 42, both were bitten by the former's dog as they played with it in the yard of their home at 2918 Taylor street.

TAKE 18 BODIES FROM WRECKAGE OF ENGLISH TRAIN

DARLINGTON, England, June 28 (Thursday).—(AP)—Eighteen bodies had been recovered today from the wreckage of an excursion train which collided with a freight train entering Darlington station. It was believed that about fifty persons were injured.

The passenger train was full of excursionists from Scarborough and was passing through Darlington for Newcastle at about ten miles an hour. The feight train was also going slowly, otherwise the catastrophe would probably have been on a huge scale.

Rescue workers were busy throughout the night searching for victims by the light of flares. The two foremost cars of the excursion train were completely smashed.

NONPARTISANS TRAIL IN PRIMARY IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., June 27.—(AP)—Independent candidates for Republican nominations established an early lead over their nonpartisan league opponents tonight when first returns were received from today's primary election in North Dakota.

With 99 precincts reported, George F. Shafer, independent candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, had a lead of more than 5,000 over T. H. Thoresen, nonpartisan. The count was, Shafer, 9,040, and Thoresen, 3,847. Steich, the third candidate in the race, had 56.

For the Republican senatorial nomination, R. A. Nestos, former governor and independent, led Senator Lynn J. Frazier, nonpartisan, by 4,500 votes, the count being, Nestos, 9,934, against 5,434 for Frazier.

On the proposal to repeal the prohibition clause in the state constitution, 22 precincts gave 3,260 votes for repeal and 3,565 against.

HOOVER DECIDES TO QUIT CABINET WITHIN 3 WEEKS

Will Then Visit Coolidge and Plan Campaign.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—Herbert Hoover, the Republican candidate for President, will resign as secretary of commerce within the next three weeks to devote all his time and energies to winning the national campaign. It is probable Walter Brown, first assistant secretary of commerce, will succeed him.

Mr. Hoover plans to visit President Coolidge at the summer White House at Brule, Wis., about the middle of July, and it is assumed he will turn in his resignation at that time. Following a discussion of the political situation with Mr. Coolidge, the Republican nominee will go to California, where he will deliver his speech formally accepting the nomination in the first week of August.

Advised to Hold Withdrawal.

From the beginning, Mr. Hoover has desired to resign at an early date, but many Republican leaders advised him to continue in office at least until the opening of his active campaign in September. The secretary finally decided today that it would be for the best interests of his candidacy for him to leave the department.

Because the control of radio broadcasting is closely interwoven with the department of commerce, many of the secretary's advisers felt that Mr. Hoover would be charged with using a government agency to promote his candidacy had he remained in the cabinet and at the same time made widespread use of the radio during the campaign.

The announcement that Mr. Hoover intends to resign was made at Hoover headquarters.

Plans Officially Stated.

"He hopes to start west about the middle of July, calling upon the President en route. The acceptance speech will take place during the first week of August at Stanford university," it was said.

When Mr. Hoover retires he will have served more than seven years in President Coolidge's cabinet. Although Mr. Brown, as first assistant is expected to be Mr. Hoover's successor, it is possible the President may yet decide to appoint either William P. MacCracken of Chicago, assistant secretary in charge of aviation, or Julius Klein, head of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. It is known that Mr. Klein is well thought of by Mr. Coolidge.

Senator Curtis [Rep., Kansas], the Republican candidate for Vice President, will leave early tomorrow for Quidnessett, R. I., where he will spend two weeks resting up. He will visit his daughter, Mrs. Leona Curtis Knight.

JAMES GOOD HUNTS 10,000 SQ. FEET FOR HOOVER OFFICES HERE

James W. Good, Hoover manager in all of the states west of Pennsylvania, returned yesterday from Washington, where he had spent a week conferring with the secretary of commerce. Mr. Good is looking for 10,000 square feet of office space in which to locate the Chicago Hoover headquarters. He conferred yesterday with Roy O. West, national committeeman from Illinois, and a selection of the headquarters' location will probably be made next Wednesday or Thursday, when Mr. Good returns from a week's vacation.

Walter Newton of Minnesota will head the midwestern speakers' bureau with an office in Chicago, Mr. Good announced.

The Hoover spokesman anticipates a vigorous campaign this year on both sides, but the Republicans in this section will not swing into action until after the Chicago headquarters are opened in late July or August.

In the selection of an advertising agency the factors normally weighed are reputation, ability, experience and personality.

The assumption is that advertising goes out into the open to stand or fall and that the tastes and habits of the American people are universal.

Therefore, advertising that will sell the citizens of San Jose, Cal., will sell the citizens of Troy, New York.

There have been some rude awakenings. Modern advertisers, finding their product first in one region, second in another, fifth in another, eighth in another, are beginning to have some doubts. The accepted rule doesn't seem to be running according to Hoyle.

THE downright truth is that in many instances the advertising set-up is trailing the sales set-up.

It is our fixed opinion that modern business and the cost of advertising require that an advertising agency have three complete, highly trained organizations in the three key zones of this country—eastern, mid-western and the Pacific Coast.

This means that in our judgment an advertising agency with but one office cannot have the grasp on a sales and advertising program that a closely-knit but widespread advertising organization has.

Nor is this just theory. Nor an appeal to logic solely. We have worked under both systems and know the better from experience.

Our business is good—The first five months of 1928 showed an increase of 34% over same period in 1927. The month of May was the largest individual month since the year 1928.

If your business is national in scope—or is pointing that way—why not look into this "triple-action" Rankin service? See if it offers more than you are getting. There is no obligation. No commitment. To any interested advertiser, we shall be glad to send—

1 The outstanding magazine advertising campaign of 1927 in colors. Also examples of our best work in 6 "color" advertising campaigns.
2 The most talked-of newspaper page advertisement of 1927.
3 The most original "Business Magazine" campaign.
4 The story of a newspaper campaign that has produced unusual results because of the merchandising idea behind it.
5 Our booklet "Radio Broadcasting: Does it Pay?"
6 "What of Farm papers in 1928" and specimens of up-to-date agricultural advertising.
7 A presentation of the personnel and services of the 4 divisions of our company—Eastern, Central, Coast and Canadian.

WE discarded the "single office" plan eleven years ago.

Since then we have built up strong and well-rounded independent units of our organization in New York and Chicago and, twelve years ago, affiliated ourselves with one of the oldest and most efficient Coast advertising agencies, the Honig-Cooper Company, with headquarters in San Francisco and local offices in Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle.

Through a system smoothly developed during the past twelve years, there is an interchange of opinion and service on all our accounts that is highly valuable to the advertiser.

A well-regulated flow of "at the source" information is in constant circulation. Intimate knowledge of local conditions and local buying tendencies opens up opportunities and closes up pitfalls that a "single office" agency might never see.

BY the same token, strong local contacts are created for a manufacturer's representative or sales manager. Each of these organizations has local influence with important buyers. Many advertisers whom we serve have learned the dollar-and-cent value of these influences. And, in consequence, put a high premium on it.

We shall be glad to tell any interested advertiser how our zone advertising service has worked to the great advantage of our customers. Address our nearest office.

SUBCOMMITTEE GETS TO WORK ON PLATFORM

Holds Night Session After Hearings End.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—Framing of the Democratic platform was in progress tonight following the conclusion of public hearings before the resolutions committee.

A subcommittee began work in executive session expecting to continue the greater part of the night. Presentation of the platform to the convention is scheduled for some time tomorrow.

Senator Pittman [Nevada] was chosen as chairman of both the full committee and the subcommittee. Michael L. Igoe of Illinois was made secretary. Others on the subcommittee were Senators Caraway [Ark.], Glass [Va.], Harrison [Miss.], Wegner [N. Y.], Walsh [Mass.], and Bratton [N. M.], Gov. Dan Moody of Texas, W. W. Ray of Utah, L. G. Ellingham of Indiana, Paul A. Jones of Kansas, and Thomas Cashman of Minnesota.

Various Groups Heard.

While chief attention in the public hearings was devoted to farm relief and prohibition, there were witnesses seeking planks on a wide variety of other subjects. Capital and labor, women's organizations, and numerous other groups were heard.

J. E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, presented the "platform of American industry," which was also offered to the Republican resolutions committee at Kansas City. This platform included planks opposing governmental interference in business, favoring an open shop, approving the present restrictive immigration policy, advocating measures to build up a privately owned American merchant marine, favoring a sound solution of the agricultural problem, urging the promotion of foreign trade, and approving tariff and taxation policies for the encouragement of American business.

Labor Asks 2.75 Per Cent Beer.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, accompanied by Frank Morrison, secretary, and Martin Ryan, James O'Connell, and Matthew Woll, members of the political committee, represented organized labor. They advocated 19 planks, including one for 2.75 per cent beer.

The principal demands of labor were the amendment to the Sherman antitrust act "so that labor, industry, and agriculture may develop along normal constructive lines"; enactment of legislation to prevent the issuance of injunctions against labor in industrial disputes, recognition of the right to organize in trade unions, and continuation of a restrictive immigration policy.

Legislation for rehabilitation of the coal industry, ratification of the child labor amendment, enactment of federal legislation to enable states to prohibit within their jurisdictions the sale of goods manufactured by convict labor in other states, were asked.

Oppose Labor Conscription.

More adequate compensation for government workers, preservation of the rights of free speech, press, and assemblage; opposition to conscription for compulsory service and labor under any form except for military service in a defensive war; a five day week for government employés, maintenance of high wages and continuance of graduated income, estate, and inheritance taxes, were likewise requested.

Women's organizations clashed on the question of equal rights. Miss Sue White, on behalf of the National Woman's party, advocated a plank favoring a constitutional amendment for equal rights. Miss Adele Clark, for the National League of Women Voters, condemned as "reckless and destructive the proposal to establish an arbitrary equality of law by blanket legislation or a sweeping constitutional amendment."

Miss Clark advocated five planks seeking indorsement of uniform agreements between nations for renunciation of war, the abolition of "lame duck" sessions of congress, further governmental provisions for maternal and infant welfare, government operation of Muscle Shoals and removal of legal discriminations against women by specific measures not prejudicial to women's labor laws.

John Thomas Taylor of the American Legion sought approval of a universal draft plank and urged adequate care of war veterans and military preparedness.

Unification of education activities of the government under a single head was favored by Mrs. Flora Meyers Gillentine and S. M. Morss. A plank indorsing the Boulder dam power and flood control project was advocated by Robert M. Fitzgerald and F. W. Greer of California. More liberal retirement privileges for federal employés were urged by Luther Steward, of the federation of government employes, and by E. J. Gainor, of the postal employés' organization.

Planks dealing with flood control and inland waterway development were presented by Senator Ransdell [La.], John H. Small, former president of the National Rivers and Harbors congress, and Miss Virginia Jenks. Senator Ransdell sought recognition of the principle of federal responsibility for flood control on the lower Mississippi.

Opposes Quota System.

Otto Schmidt, for the Steuben Society of America, opposed the national origin immigration quota system and urged a liberalization of present quota provisions. Ralph W. Cram of Davenport, Ia., asked encouragement of aviation development. Approval of the pending multilateral treaties for renunciation of war was sought by Miss Dorothy Detzer of the Women's International League of Peace and Freedom.

Manuel Quezon presented a plank for Philippine independence, but was opposed by L. J. Lambert, the Philippine member of the resolutions committee. Approval of a scheme for a territorial form of government with a view to ultimate statehood was sought for Porto Rico by Henry W. Dooley. Statehood for Hawaii was favored by L. L. McCandless.

Suffrage for the District of Columbia was advocated by W. P. Kennedy, and Robert N. Harper.

URGE COMPANIONATE COMMITTEESHIP TO HARMONIZE POLITICS

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.]—What politics needs is a companionate committeeship. As it now is the political union for four years of the national committeeman and committeewoman of each state is just as uncertain as any matrimonial experiment. Mrs. L. O. Keene and Frank T. Hamlin of the Canal Zone had so acid a fight they had to bring it to the floor of the convention. And Mrs. Gertrude Bowler of Wisconsin is so enraged of what she claims are the "dilatory tactics" of her state's committeeman that she threatens to take her quarrel to the convention.

FALLS ON SIDEWALK; DIES.

Alfred F. Peterson, 71, of 7714 South Shore drive, a butcher, collapsed in front of 6458 Stony Island avenue yesterday and died before a physician could reach him.

Try a Manicure, Only Way to Get Chair at Houston

Houston, Tex., June 27.—Politics develops strange strategems. The latest feminine ruse is to get a manicure to rest tired feet. With lobbies jammed; restaurants jammed; the only vacant chair in Houston is in the beauty parlor. Anne Wheston of the National League of Women Voters started the idea of getting a manicure in order to sit down. Now everybody's doing it.

SHOOTS WOMAN, KILLS SELF.

La Porte, Ind., June 27.—(AP)—Carroll Cottrill, 30, shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. Maude Van Sleet, 35, and then killed himself at the Van Sleet house here last night. The woman is believed to be dying.

WHY the Ciné-Kodak takes such Wonderful Home Movies

This is Ciné-Kodak Model B with f. 1.9 lens, the fastest lens supplied as stock equipment with any home movie camera. Two other lens equipments are available—f. 6.5 and f. 3.5.

PEOPLE everywhere rightly regard the Ciné-Kodak as the last word in amateur movie equipment. Specifically, it is the following features that make it so:

(1) Next to the lens mount is a semi-automatic diaphragm scale, a permanent part of the camera, which tells you just what to do under each light condition. (2) There is the usual eye-level sight finder but in the Ciné-Kodak it is so placed that you don't need to squint or remove hat or glasses. In addition, (3) there is a waist-level reflecting finder, invaluable when taking pictures of children or pets.

(4) The winding handle for the motor is permanently attached. You can't lose it or forget it. The very shape of the Ciné-Kodak is convenient; (5) it is easy to carry and (6) can be rested anywhere.

Because of this and because (7) the release can be locked in running position, you can actually take movies of yourself. (8) Loading and unloading are done with the greatest ease. There are no tight fits and the film is also completely protected. Everything is so arranged as to make threading the film and cleaning the mechanism simplicity itself. Moreover, no pains have been spared to make this mechanism strong and durable as well as convenient.

(9) The materials used are of the finest, the gate, for example, being chromium-plated, and (10) the camera itself handsomely covered with leather.

(11) Ciné-Kodaks are Eastman-made throughout. The lenses are made for the camera, not fitted to it and (12) not only is this equipment backed by the Kodak reputation but the user has the benefit of Eastman service, world-wide in scope.

(13) Ciné-Kodak embodies Eastman's forty years' experience in devising easy picture making methods for the amateur. The men who made still photography so easy have now made home movie making equally simple for you. The result is that the Ciné-Kodak is the simplest home movie camera.

(14) As an example of this simplicity, the f. 6.5 and f. 3.5 models require no focusing. And while the f. 1.9 pictured above, because of its extreme speed, does require focusing, this is easily accomplished by a simple twist of the lens barrel.

And now, finally, add to these fourteen points of excellence a fifteenth. Instead of being much higher in price than other cameras of its type, the Ciné-Kodak (15) actually costs less. See us today for an interesting demonstration. Any of our salesmen will arrange it.

PICTURE FARM REVOLT AS HOPE FOR DEMOCRATS

Corn Belt Leaders Carry Fight to Committee.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Texas, June 27.—[Special.]—The corn belt revolt was pictured to the Democrats today as their great campaign asset in November.

At 9 o'clock tonight the farm plank drafting sub-committee went into closed session. It probably will be a late vigil.

Western committeemen said the prospects are the plank will declare for the principle of spreading the cost of surplus control over the commodity benefited. This, it was argued, can be worked out in several ways different from the McNary-Haugen scheme. The federal reserve system may be taken as a pattern.

Seething With Discontent.

Farm organization leaders in the middle west, in a three hours' hearing, declared the upper Mississippi valley states are seething with discontent over the rejection of the minority farm plank by the Republicans at Kansas City.

Democracy's great chance, they argued, is to capitalize the farmers' grouch.

Men who led the losing fight at Kansas City told the Democrats the farmers are ready to cut party ties and throw in with any political party which undertakes to solve the farm problem. Among them were W. H. Settle of Indiana and Frank W. Murphy of Minnesota, chairman of the Corn Belt federation, who wired his opinion.

Must Suit Agriculture.

Middle west farming states, normally and strongly Republican, may be swung to Gov. Al Smith and the Democratic ticket, they urged, by the adoption of a farm plank which suits organized agriculture.

Early in the day the corn belters won a fight to get Thomas E. Cashman, a dirt farmer of Minnesota, on the draft subcommittee. They defeated objections from Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and others. Another leading friend they look to is Michael L. Igoe, Illinois, member and secretary of the committee.

One of the most emphatic arguments in the open hearing came from Mr. Settle, who is president of the Indiana farm bureau.

Mr. Settle led the march of the farmers around the convention hall at Kansas City.

Voted for Davis.

"I was born and reared a Republican," he said, "but I voted for John W. Davis because I became acquainted with President Coolidge and his attitude on agriculture.

"You may wonder why we Republicans are at a Democratic convention.

"We're here for self-preservation. Our situation is too serious to be temporized with. Look over the last seven years. First we lost our Liberty bonds, then our cash, then our credit. Now we fear to lose our homes. That is why we are here.

"We came to the conclusion this is an issue greater than any man or party, the greatest issue in a generation.

"We farmers are going to cast our political lot with the political party which undertakes to solve this agriculture problem with justice and equality.

"We are not asking you to adopt the McNary-Haugen bill. But we ask you to indorse a principle which gives us equality with industry and labor. That's all we are asking."

Mrs. Verna Hatch, Seventh Indiana Farm bureau, spoke of the pledge she had carried to Kansas City signed by 74,000 farmer folk in Indiana. The pledge said the signers "will not vote for any man for President, Vice President, senator, or representative" who is not pledged to support a farm law based on the fundamental principles embodied in the McNary-Haugen bill.

"I came away from Kansas City," said Mrs. Hatch, "a sadder, wiser, and older woman."

Rainey Opens Discussion.

Congressman Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, in opening the discussion, referred to Senator McNary as "the Judas Iscariot of the farmer."

"I come from the battlefield of the campaign, the corn belt of Illinois. I've represented it in congress 24 years. I'm a farmer and know how they feel in Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa. They are not interested in academic debate over liquor questions. But if you put in a farm plank as asked for by organized agriculture we will sweep a Republican majority out of both houses of congress and elect a Democratic President.

"This is the issue on which we can carry these corn belt states.

"At Kansas City the farmers were welcomed with drawn clubs as they approached the mausoleum of the Republicans. The Republican party, 72 years ago, was born in the corn belt of Illinois. Give us this plank and there this year it will die.

"Give us the plank and the Democratic party will have a resurrection."

Senator E. B. Mayfield of Texas declared the Democratic party was committed to the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill.

Democrats Voted for Bill.

"The Democrats in congress voted for it," he said, "it bore the name of a Republican senator and a Republican congressman and it was vetoed by a Republican President. The Democratic party is committed to this principle. The farmer has looked to the Republicans and has not received relief. We must give them something real and definite. They will leave the Republicans and come over to the Democrats to get equality for agriculture."

The suggestions of the American Farm Bureau federation on surplus control were submitted by Edward O'Neal, its vice president.

"Our organization is in 43 states and 1,800 counties with a million farm families as members," he said. "Agriculture faces the greatest crisis. Unless conditions are remedied the American farmer in ten or twenty years will be reduced to a state of peonage."

J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota farm bureau, said farmers want only equality with industry.

"In Minnesota," he said, "agriculture in the last few years has suffered a deterioration of one and one-quarter billion dollars—it has been written off the capital investment of the farmers.

Demand Square Deal.

"All we ask is the farmer be given the American standard of living. Of all classes engaged in gainful pursuit the standard of living is lowest in agriculture. Agriculture must be brought to the same economic level as other industries."

A scheme of crop surplus control on lines akin to that of the federal reserve was suggested by Gray Silver, delegate from West Virginia and former Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau federation. The work is to be done through organizations owned by the farmers.

"Give us a farm board with authority and power now given the federal reserve board in the matter of credit. Give us these powers and we can turn the trick."

Illinois farmers are opposed to any candidates who are opposed to measures for farm equality, the platform makers were told by Frank Barton, vice president of the Illinois Agricultural association. He said it has a membership of 60,000 farm homes in 94 counties.

"We suggest," he said, "the farm plank should declare that whatsoever costs are incurred in surplus control must be distributed over marketed units of the commodity affected. The bill [McNary-Haugen] which has been supported for five years is only one of several methods that may be worked out on the principle."

Mr. Barton read a resolution adopted last January in which his organization pledged itself to support only candidates with a sympathetic position on agriculture, and who are opposed to measures placing agriculture on an equal basis with other industries.

Strengthens Determination.

"What has happened since January?" he said, "has strengthened our determination to go along on these principles."

At the outset of the hearings the farm group won a fight to get T. E. Cashman of Minnesota, president of the Minnesota council of agriculture, on the subcommittee which will draft the platform, including the farm plank.

The contest was started by John A. Simpson of Oklahoma, who moved that Cashman be added to the subcommittee as appointed by Chairman Key Pittman. Senator Glass of Virginia objected the motion was out of order. T. J. Thomas of Nebraska countered on Senator Glass.

Calls It Paramount Issue.

"Agriculture is the paramount issue," said Thomas. "The farmers were repulsed at Kansas City. The farmers demand they be let in on the ground floor in the Democratic party."

Senator Caraway of Arkansas settled the controversy by a motion that Cashman's name be added to the drafting committee, which was carried with cheers.

Dr. J. M. Lynn of Minnesota, told the platform makers: "To carry Minnesota and the northwest, let the Democratic party adopt a plank to do justice to the farmer and they will convert thousands of Republicans."

Towards the end of the talking C. E. Huff, president of the Kansas Farmers union spoke briefly: "We're normally Republicans out where the tall corn grows, but we're just about cured of it."

C. E. Brasted, secretary of the Kansas Farmers union, said he had been a Republican 45 years. "We went to Kansas City," he said, "and instead of getting a fish we were given a serpent."

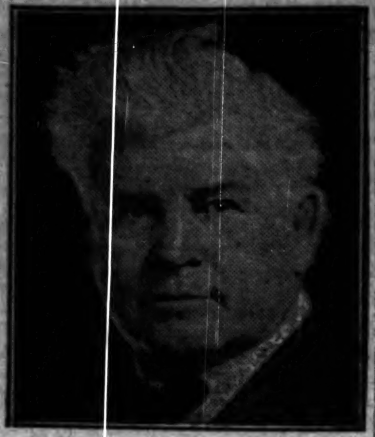
Objections to the equalization fee were raised by John A. McSpeeran, for ten years master of the Pennsylvania grange. He advocated the debenture idea. He said out of the various measures advocated something constructive could be devised.

"The urban centers are not for removing good surpluses," he said. "We want a plan under which a warehouse receipt would be made as good a piece of paper as a merchant's when he goes out to buy goods."

As to the tariff question, Charles A. Ewing of Decatur, Ill., told the committee: "If the principle of protection is wise, we've got to extend it to make it effective for agriculture. The farmer should have equal benefits under the tariff with industry and labor."

FIGHT FOR FARMERS

Mrs. Verna Hatch of Indiana, who told of her experience at Kansas City and promised support of Democrat who would aid agriculture.



Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, who promised the corn belt to the Democrats if they would adopt a farm plank suitable to agriculture.

DRYS LOSE FIRST TEST OF ONTARIO LIQUOR SYSTEM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., June 27.—More than a year ago the Ferguson government of Ontario jettisoned prohibition and introduced a system of government controlled liquor sales. Today three Ontario districts registered emphatic approval of the change, when they returned Ferguson government candidates in by-elections necessitated by death or retirement of sitting members. The result is the more noteworthy inasmuch as the Renfrew and Bruce districts are rural, where sentiment is supposedly dry. In the Bruce district the government candidate captured the riding from the bone dry Progressive party.

ANGER MINGLES WITH GRIEF OF MURPHY'S WIDOW

Would Avenge Him if She Knew Killers.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Finished forever with the "rackets," Big Tim Murphy rested last night in the living room of his own snug bungalow at 2525 Morse avenue—rested in a silver gray coffin, magnificent yet plain. Tim would have liked that coffin.

And beyond the closed door of the adjoining bedroom, Florence Diggs Murphy sat with her corncolored hair freshly combed, her blue eye red rimmed but tearless, and said:

"If I knew who killed Tim Murphy, I wouldn't tell anybody—I wouldn't wait for anybody. I'd take a gun and kill them as they killed him."

Doesn't Know Who Fired.

But she didn't know, nor did she have the remotest idea who might have wanted to kill the genial victim of gang vengeance with whom she spent seventeen years of happy married life. They celebrated their wedding anniversary last Monday.

"Why," she exclaimed, "he never dreamed of such a thing himself. If he had, do you think he'd ever have walked out that door and into that gunfire the way he did? He used to take walks all around this part of town night after night."

Vengeance she could not give him, but she strove to give him vindication.

Bitter Feud with Fahy.

It was for the Dearborn street station mail robbery that Big Tim Murphy did his term in prison, but from the time he was first arrested William J. Fahy, then a postal inspector, since sentenced to the federal prison at Atlanta, in connection with the previous Pullman mail robbery, Tim had consistently and persistently reiterated that Fahy had framed on him. He went into Leavenworth protesting his innocence; he came out still denying any guilt. He never referred to his prison record without a bitter allusion to "the guy that gave it to me, doing twenty-five years on his ear in Atlanta."

When Fahy was sent to Atlanta prison in the fall of 1924, the Pullman indictment still was pending against Murphy, then trying to get a parole from Leavenworth. He was never brought to trial in the Pullman case.

Not in Labor Troubles.

"These police theories of labor troubles are senseless," she said last night. "Tim had never mixed in those things since he came back. But why should any one want to kill him? He had the biggest heart in the world—he'd have given the shirt off his back to anybody that needed it. He used to say to me, 'Honey, when I was growing up, times were so tough that I can't stand it now not to shell out when I've got money, to help other people.'

"Here we were, going to buy a dairy farm at Woodstock at 9 o'clock this morning. Tim said it would clear $2,000 a month profit, and he thought it was a wonderful investment. He'd been crazy to live on a farm for years and he was as happy as a kid about going to the country. We made all sorts of plans—had arranged to sell this place, and to fix up the seventeen room house of the farm. and have a big herd of cows."

This diagram illustrates how the racketeers, through their organizations, dominate the cleaning and dyeing industry of Chicago and exact from it and, ultimately, from the public, more than $1,500,000 a year. The police attribute the murder of Tim Murphy to his desire to share in this profit. The central or parent organization is the Laundry and Dye House Chauffeurs', Drivers', and Helpers' union, represented as the hub of the racketing wheel. Out of this grew the others, and they are given proportionate sections of the wheel. The Retail Cleaners' and Dyers' union was formerly called the Retail Tailors' association, and its membership comprises approximately 10,000 owners of small tailoring shops. Activities of the wheel are directed largely by a board of twelve master cleaners and dyers, headed by F. W. Crowley and Attorney Max Krauss.

MURDER OF HOTEL CLERK EXPECTED TO START VICE INQUIRY

The murder early yesterday of Nick Manos, night clerk of the Metropolitan hotel, 418 South Halsted street, owned by Charley [Monkey Face] Genker, is expected to bring about an investigation of vice conditions in that territory when the inquest is resumed on July 11. It was at first believed that the murder had some connection with the killing of Big Tim Murphy, but this theory was later abandoned by the police.

The books of the hotel were discovered following the murder. They show, police said, that Genker, for years known as an independent vice lord and an enemy of Mike De Pike Heitler, is in possession of an unusually profitable hotel. The entries disclose that for a certain period at least he has cleared for himself $700 or more a week.

"Who is getting the 10 per cent split?" is a question the jury is expected to delve into. The books show that the 10 per cent averages $110 a week.

Witnesses at the inquest yesterday said that the murderer calmly walked up to Manos, shot him and then walked away.

HUNT RACKETEER CHIEFS IN KILLING OF TIM MURPHY

Murder Laid to Imported Amateur Gunman.

Al Capone into business with him for protection against the racketeers. The section of the report relating to Murphy and Schaffner said:

"Becker states that Abe Schaffner and Tim Murphy are attempting to unseat S. Ruben of the Retail Cleaners' and Dyers' union; and John G. Clay of the Laundry, Dyehouse and Chauffeurs', Drivers' and Helpers' union. Inasmuch as there are 10,000 retail tailors in Chicago, paying dues of $2 per month and $10 per year, this is a highly profitable racket; and these two well known ex-convicts are attempting to wrest it from those in control because the stakes are so large."

Four Groups in the Racket.

Then Walker explained more about the organizations Murphy and Schaffner were attempting to take over.

"There are four powerful organizations which form the backbone of the racket in the cleaning and dyeing industry," he said. They are as follows:

"The Retail Cleaners and Dyers' union. This has a membership of 10,000 and Sam Ruben is the president. Correctly, it is no union at all. That is a misnomer. It is in fact an organization of small tailors owning their own shops. Al Boris is one of the officials and sluggers. Both Ruben and Boris have been known for years as sluggers.

"The Master Cleaners and Dyers' association. Has a membership of 92 of the leading concerns in Chicago.

"The Cleaners, Dyers and Pressers' union. Ben Abrams is the leader.

"The Laundry and Dye House Chauffeurs, Drivers and Helpers' union. John G. Clay is the chief and it controls the men who drive for the industry in Chicago.

Get a Fortune Every Year.

From other sources as well as from Walker, Deputy Commissioner of Police William E. O'Connor and Chief of Detectives Michael Grady learned of the fortune that is exacted each year from the industry, and consequently from the public, by the officials of these organizations.

"Take the drivers' union," O'Connor said. "That organization has a strike benefit fund, collected from its members, of $240,000. The money is out at interest.

"Then there is the retail cleaners' outfit. Each of its 10,000 members pays a $10 assessment fee a year and dues of $2 a month. That is $100,000 raised from the assessment fee and $240,000 a year more in dues. Each of the other three organizations is raising as much or more."

Chief Grady's Version.

Chief Grady had a version of Murphy's activities leading up to the killing that was much like Walker's.

"Schaffner had bought a half interest in the Evanston Cleaners and Dyers," Grady said. "His friend, Ben Abrams, was boss of the inside workers of the Cleaners, Dyers and Pressers' union. So between the three of them they planned to get control of the whole racket. They wanted more support in this, so they took in Al Green, a business agent of the Painters' union.

"They planned to work Murphy in on the executive council and then to throw out those in charge. Murphy got himself set and then he wanted more power in the council and sent for Frank Noonan. He told Noonan if he 'eliminated' Clay, head of the Laundry and Dye House Chauffeurs, Drivers and Helpers' union, he, Noonan, could have Clay's seat."

Noonan Among Ten Sought.

Chief Grady said that Noonan, James Forsyth and an unnamed third man were among the ten being sought. Police, it was said, wanted to know the exact connections of these men with the racket, although it was known they were members of one or the other of the four organizations.

"Murphy made a mistake in trying to use Noonan," Grady continued. "Noonan was one of Clay's men and loyal to the organization. He simply informed the leaders that Murphy had attempted to win him over.

"It got to the point where they had to get rid of Murphy or let him in. And they knew if they let Murphy in they themselves were out."

Union Business Agent Held.

Only one man was under arrest last night in connection with the murder. He is John Hand, 6706 Parnell avenue, a business agent of the candy jobbers' union. Hand was said to have connections with the leaders of the cleaning ad dyeing organizations. A loaded revolver was found in his home, but there were powder marks on the barrel indicating, the police said, that it had been recently discharged.

Deputy Commissioner O'Connor continued to question Hand throughout the night after hearing on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus was continued by Judge Otto Kerner until noon today.

Mike de Pike Heitler, west side dealer in vice who had given himself up when he learned during the day he was wanted in connection with the murder, was released after he convinced police he was innocent.

5 MIAMI POLICE TOLD TO ESCORT CAPONE AROUND

Miami Beach, Fla., June 27.—[Special.]—Five policemen will henceforth trail Al Capone, Chicago's emigrant vice overlord, wherever he goes. That was the plan adopted today by the city council here, meeting in special session to devise ways of driving Capone out of the city. Efforts also were made to force Mayor J. Newton Lummus Jr., to resign, because of his changed attitude since last January when he ordered Capone to get out and stay out of Miami Beach.

GANNA WALSKA TO BE PRODUCER IN OWN THEATER

[Copyright: 1928: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 27.—Ganna Walska, wife of Harold McCormick, Chicago millionaire, will become a full fledged theatrical producer July 1.

An announcement in this morning's Comoedia states that Mme. Walska will assume sole ownership of the Champs Elysees theater on that date and also be its chief director.

The theater, one of the finest in Europe, recently has been operated as a de luxe motion picture house.

ILLIAM HODGES, ENVER LAWYER, TED FOR CABINET

Likely to Succeed Work, Who May Quit Monday.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Superior, Wis., June 27.—[Special.] William V. Hodges, Denver attorney and treasurer of the Republican national committee during the Coolidge campaign, is being discussed here as a likely successor to Secretary of the Interior Work for the remainder of this administration. Mr. Work, who is to manage the Hoover campaign, is due here next Monday. He will probably have his resignation in his pocket to hand to the President.

May Be Hoover's Choice, Too.

Mr. Hodges is a friend of the secretary of the interior and during the earlier period of the Hoover campaign, when much quiet work was being done, his name was associated in Colorado with the Hoover friends and managers. During the last campaign he was close to Chairman William M. Butler. He is 50 years old and has been a Republican all his life. He has practiced law in Denver for many years.

Mr. Hodges may not only serve as a bridge between administrations but may keep the post if Hoover is elected.

President Coolidge attended the wedding of Mr. Hodges in Maryland last year.

Ignores Foes' Convention.

The heat and tumult of Houston meant nothing to the President today. He was on the river with his Indian guide and practiced handling the canoe. His paddle work is improving and before the season is over he may be shooting the rapids.

The President is beginning to emerge from his strict seclusion, and the weather remains fine. He has planned to resume his press conferences twice a week, and so will be in town this often at least. Two trips are being planned for him, one over the iron range and one along the Canadian boundary.

Pegler Booms Prize Fight Ruler as Secretary of State Under Al

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., June 27.—[Special.] —Now that Gov. Al Smith is in, as the Hon. James Farley, that sterling statesman and chairman of the New York prize fight commission, assures me that he is, it is natural to wonder whether this implies that the Democratic politicians of the south have repudiated the ecclesiastical snake charmers who are supposed to have had full power to damn or demand all over the cotton belt ever since the war.

I call the Hon. James Farley a sterling statesman in no spirit of derision for, although his public life is mainly concerned with the official design and color of prize fighters' trunks, the discipline of preliminary boys who strike their opponents south of the Wright & Ditson line, otherwise known as fouling out, and the enforcement of the God given rule forbidding pockets in the sweaters of prize fighters' seconds to the end that no gaspipe, horse shoe nor hop needle may be smuggled into the arena, contrary to the ideals of sportsmanship, his duties have only skimmed the man's talents and I should like to see him made secretary of state.

His Seductive Diplomacy.

It was the suave and palliative Mr. Farley, who, patiently and with the most seductive diplomacy, transformed old Mr. Muldoon, the rural boarding house keeper, and professional honest man, from a grim and suspicious and braggart boss over the prize fighters into an acquiescent echo to his own decisions without letting Mr. Muldoon suspect that he was yielding his opinions or his independence. He would encounter many Muldoons among the diplomats.

Mr. Farley's training as commissioner of prize fights in New York has acquainted him with all the known variants of larcenous practice in the crude state and any time the British ambassador tried to trade him a hand of bananas for the Panama canal, Mr. Farley would wind up by trading him the whaling rights in the old Gowanus for the Rock of Gibraltar.

Where His Talents Lie.

Nor is that all, because the charm of Mr. Farley's diplomacy lies in his talent for sending the other gentleman away with a sense of having picked Mr. Farley's pocket, and this, notwithstanding a great deal of bowing from the waist and kissing of finger-tips around Washington, is the artistic test of diplomacy, and the common purpose that proves the kinship between prize fighting, politics, and international dealings.

This, then, is the sterling statesman who tells me that Gov. Al Smith is in and this brings me back to my curiosity as to whether the southern Democrats have forgotten their instructions from the Rev. Billy Sunday and others like him.

Out for Patronage.

I hear otherwise, to the effect that they still are dry in principle but are voting for Mr. Smith because he is the only Democrat with a chance to win and distribute appointments.

Why, then, would a true believer in prohibition vote for a wet nullificationist, as Mr. Smith has been described from the tent meeting rostrums? For sordid gain? I am assured that they would and will.

Long ago I began to suspect that some of our popular heroes of the roped arena were not above the temptation of material gain at the sacrifice of principle, but not until now had it ever occured to me that a Democratic politician from dry territory would yield a comma of the sacred Volstead act through Satan or Tammany were to offer him the earth.

His Illusions Suffer.

Well, if my illusions suffer I gain an understanding with these statesmen, finding them only slightly different from the boys in the prize fight profession after all.

And now that Mr. Smith is in, as Mr. Farley states, it is to be hoped that in his eagerness to reward the courageous citizenship of the drys who voted for him he will not neglect certain other deserving Democrats who come to mind. I was going to suggest the name of Mr. James J. Johnston for secretary of the treasury in the Smith administration because Mr. Johnston is a man who just loves to handle money.

Still there was an unfortunate episode during his term as treasurer of the National Sports Alliance, or prize fighters' union. It appears that some low character laid a stiff, as the saying goes, which means that somebody issued an unauthorized check for the entire treasury and left James with nothing to be treasurer of. If this should happen to the United States treasury it might cause a scandal to which the Republicans would point the finger of scorn in 1932. But he would make a good prohibition director, from the standpoint of James J. Johnston, although from the standpoint of prohibition he might leave something to be desired.

Now that he has acquired a yacht, Mr. Rickard might make a fair secretary of the navy, and I believe he would serve without pay if given an option on the services of all the prizefighters developed in the service. One heavyweight such as Jack (Rin Tin Tin) Sharkey of Boston, who came from the navy to the prizefight industry, would compensate Mr. Rickard for an entire term of service.

Some Deserving Democrats.

But as I think over the list of the deserving Democrats of my acquaintance I find it difficult to suggest jobs, because most of them would want to be either secretary of the treasury or director of prohibition.

If Mr. Smith were to appoint Flynn, Mr. Will Gibson, and Mr. Silent Charlie Harvey a committee of secretaries of the treasury it might only mean that the treasury would close down three times as soon.

And in the prohibition department some of the boys I have in mind might yield to their native instincts and carry on such a brisk business that in time all the customers would buy direct from the government, thus setting up a ruinous competition against the bootleggers. Perhaps, after all, the boys are too enterprising for the government service.

STUDENTS STORM LOUVAIN LIBRARY, WRECK BALCONY

Anti-German Inscription Arouses Fury.

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, June 27.—The battle over the Louvain library inscription—"Destroyed by Germany fury, restored by American generosity"—reached fever heat today when a band of students smashed the inscriptionless balustrade which President P. Ladeuze of Louvain university ordered to be put up in the rebuilt institution. There was a small sized riot as the student band marched down the street shouting. "Hurrah for Warren! Down with Hoover!"

Forming a cordon to prevent intervention, the crowd of students succeeded in breaking the balustrade before the police arrived. The leaders were arrested, and order was restored after a heated word and fist battle.

Says Architect Is Wrong.

While the demonstration was going on, Whitney Warren, the architect of the rebuilt library, who is still determined to retain the disputed inscription, was reading a restrained but stinging letter from President Ladeuze, who asserts the architect is all wrong when he says that Cardinal Mercier wanted the inscription put up, and is also all wrong when he says he represents the donors who gave the most funds.

The ecclesiastic denied German intervention and that he was influenced by the statement of the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Gasparri, that, "from the philological or historical point of view, the inscription is not a worthy figure for the university."

Commission Raised Money.

He denied that Mr. Warren represents the chief donors.

"Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler," he said, "who is opposed to your inscription and collected the first $280,000, was the main donor, with Herbert Hoover, then president of the Belgian relief commission. This commission furnished three-fifths of the capital without any intervention of yours."

Mr. Warren held a banquet for all workers and collaborators last night, and smiled pleasantly when he met President Ladeuze in the library this morning.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE, IT APPEARS, BETWEEN BOLOGNA AND BOLONEY

"Bologna" and "boloney" seldom have the same meaning. For instance, "bologna" is mentioned by the dictionary as a food, and in Chicago at least it is jail fare. "Boloney" is a popular word for expressing disbelief and sometimes more.

This all leads up to consideration of the experiences of Albert Dittmann, 4723 Castello avenue. Mr. Dittmann was seeking alms yesterday on the north side. At Rosemont street and Broadway he approached an automobile. It was filled, he remarked, with "fine young fellows who ought to get a hungry man a little food." The car was a detective squad car and in it were Sergt. Roy Coutre and his detail. Mr. Dittmann didn't know it.

"How would bologna do?" Sergt. Coutre inquired.

"It'll do in a pinch," said Dittmann.

"Then a 'pinch' it is," the sergeant answered, and Dittmann was soon in a cell at the Summerdale station.

"Get enough food?" Sergt. Coutre asked him shortly afterward.

"Boloney!" was Mr. Dittmann's dour remark, and he didn't mean "bologna."

CHICAGOAN WINS DAUGHTER; ENDS 10 YEARS' HUNT

Dr. William Williams of 1234 Bryn Mawr avenue yesterday climaxed his ten year search for his daughter by obtaining an order of the New York Superior court allowing him the custody of the girl during June, July and August in each year. Dr. Williams and his wife were divorced ten years ago, with the stipulation that he was to have custody of the girl part of the time.

Mother and daughter disappeared immediately afterward, and Dr. Williams began a nation wide search that took him 20,000 miles before he located the two in Oneonta, N. Y. That was a month ago. The daughter, Elizabeth Jane, is now 13 years old, and, according to reports, refuses to have anything to do with her father, having been taught to fear and hate him. Mrs. Williams explained that she left Illinois only that she might better support herself and her daughter.

MR. BOWERS' KEYNOTE.

It would be a gross ingratitude of which we, at least, are incapable to submit Mr. Claude Bowers' keynote speech to the chill arbitrament of fact. Nothing in this degenerate day of public speaking has happened like it since the cross of gold speech, and we ought all to thank Mr. Bowers for bringing his flaming bush of party rhetoric to bear, in our desert of campaign oratory, such a gorgeous bouquet of figures of speech. Mr. Bowers says "we are going back," and certainly he took us back, we of his middle aged generation, to the good old days of the kerosene torch procession, the transparencies, and the blaring brass bands, when orators wore Prince Alberts, when every campaign was Armageddon and the other party were scoundrels to a man, at least until after election day.

Not for nothing was Mr. Bowers in those years the boy orator of Terre Haute. It is true Mr. Bowers has later achieved repute as an historical essayist of spirit and passionate conviction, but if his eloquent parallel between the sinister aristocracy of Hamilton and the lofty democracy of Jefferson will seem to his brother historians to lack something of scientific balance and accuracy, they will allow for the occasion and for Mr. Bowers' responsibility to a selected audience perspiring freely under the pressure of Houston's summer climate and the ardent hope of office.

But Mr. Bowers not only fulfilled our expectations of what was known in the days to which he proposes to lead us back as silver tongued oratory, but also achieved a triumph of word painting. His picture of the state of this republic and its unhappy people at this momentous season is a masterpiece. With some easy changes in place names, it would do magnificently for Germany at the end of the thirty years' war. And what seems to us to give its dark panorama a special poignancy is the tragic fact that the American people would not recognize themselves in the picture. Only a few years ago under the benign influences of a Democratic administration we were living on such heights of moral grandeur as we had never known before. And now we are in the abysm of corruption, enslavement, and universal disaster.

We know of no other such transformation in history and perhaps it would be unreasonable to expect us to realize it yet. Mr. Bowers has done us an invaluable service in calling it to our attention. If as we learn from his eloquent tongue, or as we might say his silver, but not free silver, tongue, "the last seven and a half years have been putrid beyond precedent," we ought to consider calling a doctor. Doubtless that is Mr. Bowers' implication, but many will doubt if Democracy offers us a promising cure. Indeed it may be Mr. Bowers' olfactories that are at fault rather than those of the American people.

But if the moral olfactories of the nation are deplorably insensitive, Mr. Bowers also discloses grave defects in our sight. It seems we are living in a mirage. Our prosperity is mythical, our facts are mythical, our figures are mythical, our men of note and leading are mythical, and we have been living the last eight years, as Mr. Bowers assures us the historians of the future will agree, in the mythical age of American history

We are morons, in other words, or, to fall into Mr. Bowers' engaging alliteration, we are morons bemused by myths.

But not, of course, all of us. There is Mr. Bowers and Mr. Smith and Mr. Robinson and the Browns and Joneses of Jeffersonian Democracy. They are not living in this dark fog of illusion, but on those shining moral heights to which a Democratic immortal led us for a brief moment of breathless felicity. To these heights we shall be led again by a triumphant Jeffersonian Democracy, and there surrounded by a beatific choir under a Tammany leader, in which the fundamentalist of the southern farmstead and the wringing wet of the wicked cities, the Volsteadian die-hard and the state's rights champion raise the voice of praise in pious harmony, the American people will be restored to its pristine virtues and its ancient rights.

We don't pretend to know how this is going to be done, but under the magic influence of Mr. Bowers' eloquence we are almost persuaded. If we are putrid and unaware, if we are in the fell grip of plutocracy and bankrupt morally and economically, if this land is a stricken wilderness of abandoned homes and broken hopes and empty tills and we see not the devastation wrought by the soulless Republicanism of Hamilton, we are surely in no condition to doubt Mr. Bowers' roseate if somewhat vague and insubstantial promises or refuse to follow the Tammany prophet back to shining heights of true prosperity and virtue.

But if we may descend a little from the lofty plane to which Mr. Bowers lifts the campaign, may we suggest that as a gifted son of Indiana and as a Jeffersonian of the plain people Mr. Bowers might have quoted from another gifted son of Hoosierdom, James Whitcomb Riley, a slogan more inspired even than any which poured the other night from the cornucopia of his eloquence, to-wit:

"Let's go a visitin', back to Grigsby's station, Back where we used to be, so happy and so pore."

THE PASSING OF TIM MURPHY.

Tim Murphy, the most picturesque of the racketeers, has been killed by gunmen, as was to be expected. The burghers will be inclined to rejoice, as they have before when gangsters have been killed off, saying that each one gone is one less to prey upon the community.

That is the short view. The man who killed O'Banion was tougher and more resourceful than O'Banion; the man who killed Hymie Weiss was tougher than his victim; and the man who killed Murphy was a harder egg than Murphy. As one gangster is killed off he is succeeded by another who is less restrained by the standards of civilized society. The progression is from fists to bombs, to pistols, or to machine guns.

This progress in violence has been accompanied, as might be expected, by expansion in the field of activity of the gangsters. There was a time when they confined their murdering and extortion to their own underworld. They preyed upon bootleg saloons, gambling houses, and houses of prostitution. They still do, but they have reached out, in the machine gun era, to levy as well upon legitimate business. The racketeers already have their hands on small merchants all over the city and they are seeking new and richer fields to conquer every day. It was only a few weeks ago that one of the largest factors in the cleaning and dyeing trade took Scarface Al Capone into partnership to preserve his business from ruin.

Society will conquer the thugs or the thugs will conquer society with their régime of terror. The situation cannot be neglected in the belief that it will right itself with time. Time is not making the gangsters less ruthless and grasping but more ruthless and more grasping.

THE FRIGATE CONSTITUTION FOR THE EXPOSITION.

The secretary of the navy tells a TRIBUNE representative that work on the restoration of the frigate Constitution is going on and he favors sending this monument of America's naval glory to the Chicago exposition, if it be physically possible to do so. Mr. Wilbur's approval will gratify the people of Chicago and especially the officials preparing for the exposition. It is to be hoped the patriotic and historic phases of this centenary may be given the fullest expression in the plans, and the presence of the Constitution will be appreciated by all visitors. The ship will be no imitation, but the real thing restored without the slightest alteration of design or detail. There are no memories more glorious in our history than those associated with the Constitution, and undoubtedly if brought to the exposition she will rank as one of the most deservedly popular features.

A MONUMENT OF BAD TASTE.

The controversy over the placing of an inscription upon the restored library of Louvain is not without sardonic interest. The inscription is "Destroyed by German fury: Restored by American generosity."

We think a good deal of time and ingenuity would have to be expended by a mind peculiarly gifted for mischief making to discover or invent an inscription more obnoxious. It does not surprise us that the head of Louvain objects to it. It does not surprise us to learn that an American, in fact, the architect in charge of restoration, Whitney Warren, insists upon it. It does not surprise us, because the type of American he represents has been unhappily conspicuous, though not so conspicuous in recent years as from 1914 to, say, 1920. Mr. Warren seems to be one of the apologetic Americans who swallowed the war theories fed us by propaganda so effectively and has not got rid of their toxins.

But whatever condition Mr. Warren remains in, we trust there is enough sense of propriety among those responsible for the arrangements at Louvain to forbid the erection of a monument to an American's ineptitude and bad taste. The destruction of Louvain was deplorable, and no one of good sense doubts it is regretted by right minded Germans even more than by other nationals. The Belgian head of Louvain realizes this and, being neighbor to Germany and desirous of restoring tolerable relations with her people, he does not wish a bitter and provocative memory to be flaunted forever before them and his own people. That is good sense and magnanimity, highly creditable to him. On the other hand, common decency ought to prevent any American from wishing either to keep alive enmity between the Belgian and German peoples or to advertise an American donation under the pompous claim of "generosity." Mr. Whitney Warren and his like are a cause of humiliation to all self-respecting Americans.

BROOKLYN'S BID FOR A WORLD'S FAIR.

[New York World.]

People in other boroughs, even those who have traced the new motor route to Rockaway by way of the Barren island ferry, have commonly little notion of what is going on in the capacious southeast corner of Brooklyn. There a beginning has been made in the development of the great Jamaica bay harbor, a time consuming job; there a considerable manufacturing center is being established, with water communication as a bait; there a spacious airport is planned; there the second largest park in the city is planned, though not developed—indeed, if all the proposed additions become effective Marine park will be bigger than even Pelham bay's generous acres.

It is on this new park, at present mainly a waste of sand, that Brooklyn proposes to hold a world's fair in 1932 to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. This ambitious project is being pushed in a series of open air meetings, of which the first was held on the steps of the subtreasury in Wall street on June 4, and the second on the steps of Borough hall, Brooklyn, eight days later. A national commission formed to promote the celebration is slumbering in Washington, and Brooklyn, with a population larger than any other American city except Chicago—which has had one world's fair and should be satisfied—is trying to wake the dormant plan into life.

World's fairs have not of late been so uniformly successful as to encourage imitation, but the indirect benefits have always to be counted. If Brooklyn should capture this notable celebration it would appeal greatly to the local pride of New York's most populous borough.

CHANGING CLIMATE AND HAY FEVER.

THAT changing climate as a means of getting rid of hay fever is a straight gamble most people know. Most of those who have tried it have found that doing so is a bad gamble, worse than betting on a long shot in a horse race. Is there any way of selecting a hay fever climate on a scientific basis, with a reasonable chance of winning? Any one who reads "Hay Fever and Asthma" by Balyeat will find the answer. I should add that the average layman can read this book understandingly.

The method which Dr. Balyeat tells of is not too difficult. The first step is to have a physician make skin tests and discover which pollens are poisonous to this particular person. The next step is to find the locations in which there are not much of that particular pollen. For instance, if the test shows that a given man subject to hay fever is highly susceptible to pollen from oak trees that man should select a location in which there are no oak trees.

There are tables now available which show in a broad way what pollens abound in a given location and at what seasons. In "Hay Fever and Asthma" Dr. Balyeat divides the United States into six regions and gives the different hay fever pollens found in each. Of course, in such large sections as Dr. Balyeat makes use of there may be considerable local variations. In some cases the public health service, the state and local health departments, and some other governmental bodies are able to supply more localized data.

Dr. Balyeat discusses the reasons hay fever resorts lose their reputation in time. For instance, here is a piney woods resort which once enjoyed great renown. In that day the pine trees choked out all other vegetation. There were no weeds because of the dense shade and the mat of pine needles on the ground. In time the country was deforested. Weeds came in. The resorters needed a food supply and the country was put in pasture or in cultivation to supply the need. Presently the air was periodically polluted with a variety of pollens, the place was no longer a haven for hay fever sufferers, and the great resort hotels had to be abandoned.

SUN AND T-B OF LUNGS.

J. E. D. writes: I am a tuberculosis patient down in Florida from the north. I have been here on a farm for four months taking the rest cure and sun baths.

How long should I remain in the sun? Sometimes I think it does me good, and then again I think it doesn't.

I would like your advice on how to handle a case of consumption down here. Also, would the sun make the temperature go up?

REPLY.

While there is some disagreement, most authorities agree that in tuberculosis of the lungs with fever, there should be very little direct exposure to sunlight. Air baths are advised. Direct exposure to sunlight in such case is supposed to cause fever.

I am sure your physician can guide you better than I can.

GLASSES FOR NEARSIGHTED.

Miss P. R. writes: 1. Does a person who is nearsighted have to wear glasses all the time? I wear mine only while working, and I find that my vision is a little blurred when I take them off.

2. What causes nearsightedness?

3. Is there any way of improving the eyesight without wearing glasses?

REPLY.

1. If your vision is blurred when you leave off glasses you should not leave them off.

2. An unusual shape of the eyeball. As a rule, this unusual shape is congenital.

3. The evidence is that no form of exercise can materially modify the shape of the eyeball. If there is headache or other symptom of eyestrain wearing glasses is the remedy.

CAN'T AFFORD DIVORCE.

Chicago, June 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband deserted me about seven and one-half years ago, after being married but three weeks. He never contributed one penny toward my support and left me without word of any sort. I saw in an out of town newspaper later that he had been sent to prison for some offense which he committed. I have never secured a divorce from him as I have had many family troubles and no money. I now wish to secure a divorce, but the cost of attorney's fees seems beyond my reach. Could I secure this divorce without having to employ an attorney for this purpose, and if so, to whom shall I go. E. M.

Where it appears, after investigation, that a client is unable to pay an attorney and that a divorce is necessary for the proper protection of the family, the legal aid bureau of the United Charities sometimes takes such action, but there is no other agency through which one can avoid paying an attorney's fee. The mere fact that you have legal grounds and that the payment will involve some sacrifice for you will not suffice. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

EMPLOY AN ATTORNEY.

Chicago, June 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A neighbor of mine has recently put up a fence which is about six inches over the dividing line on my property. I have talked to them and they refuse to move it. What steps must I take to have them move it without employing an attorney? E. K.

We can suggest no other course.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

READ YOUR CONTRACT.

Chicago, June 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please publish the Illinois law relative to the highest fee employment agencies are allowed to charge for a position obtained for one? If more than the law required, are you compelled to pay, although you sign an agreement or promissory note? T. M.

The law fixes no maximum for the charge that may be provided for by contract.

A gypsy held a globe before my face
And told me that within it I could trace

I'd find here all the joy and all the tears
To put an end to all my unknown fears.
And it was truth and not just gypsy lore,
For she had pictured other lives before.
I trembled so that I could hardly say,
"Not today." E. QUINLAN.

GOV. AL SMITH would prefer to run for President on the Democratic ticket with a wet plank in the party platform. His theory of political strategy is that he is "all wet" in many localities anyway and that the damp issue might prove a deciding factor in several doubtful states.

Doubtful Advertising Value.

From an authorized flivver agency Helper B. C. N. had received a letter, the first paragraph of which reads: "Approximately 30 days ago you were in our place of business to have some work performed on your car. We know that 30 days cannot elapse without your needing something in connection with the operation of your car."

THE CROWD around the office radio was absorbing Claude Bowers' keynote speech and sat for a minute or so spellbound after the Democratic Demosthenes wound up his peroration with, "Then to your tents, O Israel!"

"Gee," pipes up the office boy, "I thought this was a Irish party."

Where do the little fairies go
When summer's song is done?
Do they fly right back to heaven

IF IT WERE not for our aversion to personal puns we would suggest the Democratic keynote speech was delivered by its best bowers. However, comma, no one with a radio was euchred out of hearing it.

THIS CAMPAIGN promises to elevate the brown derby to a place of honor, or at least significance. Among the element with whom we normally fraternize, and this includes collegiate circles as well, the "brown derby" has been synonym for booby prize. We do not imply that it will be winner in 1928, but we rather expect it in miniature, or to become a campaign symbol indicating party allegiance of its wearer.

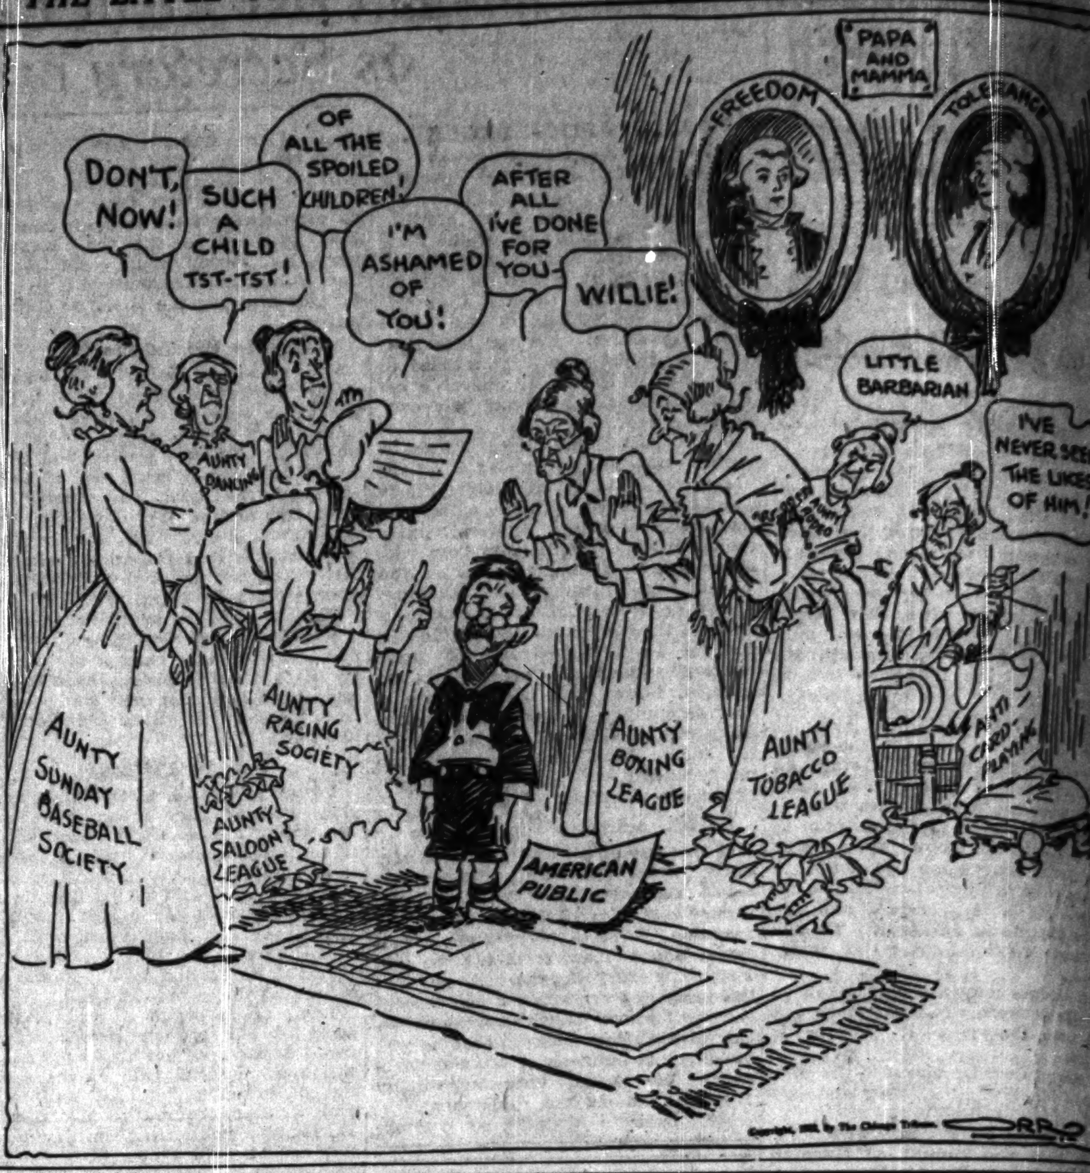
THE LITTLE ORPHAN WHO IS BEING REARED BY HIS AUNTIES



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 28, 1863.

HARRISBURG.—The rebel columns under Gen. Early which were at Gettysburg yesterday reached the North Central railroad today, at a point between York and Hanover Junction. They cut the wires and no further news of their movements is known. A York dispatch states the rebels are in force at Abbotstown, fourteen miles from there.

McCONNELLSBURG.—The rebels under Gen. Stuart evacuated this place. Their retreat is supposed to be due to fear of a flank movement by Gen. Milroy. They numbered about 5,000 and went in the direction of Chambersburg.

HARRISBURG.—Carlisle was occupied by the rebels at 10 o'clock this morning. By noon they were three miles this side of the town and still advancing. Our cavalry force which has been watching their movements is gradually retiring. The enemy has a line of pickets extending from Carlisle to Gettysburg. They are moving in this direction in three columns.

PORTLAND, Me.—Two rebel steamers came into the harbor and chased out the revenue cutter Caleb Cushing. The rebels were followed by other federal vessels and captured. The Cushing was blown up.

NEW YORK.—The World says: By the arrival of the Creole we have news from New Orleans to the 19th. The attack upon Port Hudson was principally by Weitzel's and Grover's divisions. Our troops were repulsed with an admitted loss of 700 men.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 28, 1898.

WITH THE FIGHTING LINE IN SIGHT OF SANTIAGO DE CUBA [via Kingston, Jamaica].—The guns of the American army now look down upon Santiago de Cuba. If the siege guns were here they could easily shoot into the city itself. But the siege guns are not here yet, and Gen. Shafter will not let the army go into the big fight without them. He has not an easy task to keep his men back.

PORT SAID.—The Egyptian government has refused Admiral Camara's request to be permitted to buy coal here for the Spanish fleet of twelve vessels which arrived here June 26, apparently to pass through the Suez canal and proceed to the Philippine islands.

MANILA.—The only disturbing feature in the situation is the presence of five German warships, which looks like an unfavorable demonstration. Germany's Asiatic fleet consists of eight vessels, and five are sent here for the protection of German interests ostensibly, when the total German population is approximately 40,000.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 28, 1918.

CHICAGO. — Pauline Plotka, dress designer, was acquitted by a jury in Judge Sabath's court of the murder of Dr. Anton Jindra, an interne in the Cook county hospital, whom she killed in his room in the hospital on Feb. 15 last. Her acquittal made her the twenty-fifth woman freed of the charge of murder in recent years.

WASHINGTON.—Howard W. Fenton, a Chicago banker, has been appointed manager of the central division of the Red Cross with headquarters in Chicago.

PETROGRAD.—The victualling of Petrograd has reached a more critical stage. Often there has been no bread distributed for two or three days, and in lieu thereof only half a pound of potatoes and the same quantity of dried pot herbs per head were furnished. It was announced today that only on three more days will the potato rations be issued and then there will be nothing but desiccated vegetables.

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE MARNE.—Henry P. Lenert, the oddest hero Chicago ever produced, told today how he captured eighty-three Germans in the midst of Tuesday night's fierce battle in Belleau wood. He had just arrived with his prisoners, breathless with pride.

GENEVA.—The Ukraine bureau at Lausanne announced it has received confirmation of the report that the bolshevik authorities at Ekaterinburg condemned Nicholas Romanoff, the former czar, to death after a short trial and shot him.

LONDON.—Rumors are current that Alexis Romanoff, son of the former czar, died a few days ago, a Copenhagen dispatch says.

AN INSIDE VIEW OF RACKETEERING.

Chicago, June 25.—I have read your interesting article on Italy and Mussolini and am surprised that you don't suggest a remedy for us, who are in a worse state than the Italians, with their Mafia. You say you don't think that we Americans would care to pay the price for the same kind of a cure. Do you realize that there really is no price to pay, but the cure is, fight fire with fire.

It is to laugh. A hoodlum comes into a little grocery store and tells a certain grocer that he must not buy smoked white fish from another driver, as he belongs to the present one, although his commodity is bad. The grocer pays no heed and gets a punch in the eye. The new fish man gets a beating which forces him to bed for 2 weeks, and you call this America!

A certain man wishes to open a shoe repair shop, puts expensive machinery in a store, has windows lettered. Bang, a bomb. Half the machinery ruined, no insurance; the poor sucker must again go back to work for some one else to get another start. He was stopped from going into business for himself by hoodlums, and this is the great U. S. A.!

How long are the big men of Chicago going to stand for this? I could go on forever and relate this same story going from one industry to another, meats, fish, cleaning and dyeing stores etc. The bums and hoodlums are stronger than the authorities.

The minute a certain business is bombed, all the officials of the racket in that business should be put in jail at once, every one of them. Drag them from one station to another so that they can't sleep. When they get a writ of habeas corpus, put them in again. It may seem unlawful, but they also are unlawful. Give them the bums' rush, as the cops say, into the can every day. Their finances will soon disappear and also their racket. When they see you mean business, this, I am sure, will break them up. Try it and see.
BUSINESS MAN.

WHY!

Chicago, June 26.—Thanks for your editorial "Why" in today's issue. I frequently disagree with your editorials, but I am back of you and your paper in your fight against crime in high places. Keep it up. MORGAN WILLIAMS.

SPEEDY RESULTS.

Chicago, June 25.—My letter written June 18 about the condition of the tees of the nine hole course at Jackson park was given space in your column on Saturday, June 23, under the caption of "Golfer's Complaint." On that same Saturday afternoon I noticed a workman brushing off the tees, and on Sunday workmen were busy putting them in playing condition. I overheard several golfers, as well as the starter, commenting on the immediate response given to my "complaint."

I did not intend my letter as a "complaint." I felt that, since the balance of the course was in such excellent condition, the tees were without doubt overlooked, and if the proper person were notified the tees would receive the same careful attention.

I just want to use this means to thank the person responsible for the immediate attention given my letter. Thank you, also, Mr. Editor, for your kindness.
J. LOUIS LINDER.

HOOVER.

Chicago, June 24.—Like Louis Rich, a contributor to this column on yesterday, I, too, am a Democrat and one who also believes our party should indorse Herbert Hoover. Not, however, for the reason Mr. Rich assigns, but because Mr. Hoover is the one outstanding man in the country for the place. He is made to order for the job. All the rest are mere hand-me-downs in comparison.

However, the assertion by Mr. Rich that Mr. Hoover deserted us when we needed him and took away our sugar borders on an insult. On the contrary, he came home when we needed him and on the country's call became food administrator, giving us in that position the finest example of executive ability the world has ever known.

True, he cut down on our sugar here at home, but it was done so that our sons at the front might have some, too. He not only helped win the war, but he made it possible for us to win it. This fact sticks in the craws of some of those in this country who at heart wanted Germany to win. Probably 90 per cent of the present Republican opposition to Hoover comes from that source, and it would be well to catalogue it for future reference.

The writer considers it not only a rare privilege, but a great honor as well to be able to support Mr. Hoover this fall. This goes too for all the family. ROBERT HILLARD.

MEANINGLESS BASEBALL SLANG.

Ottumwa, Ia., June 23.—In a recent issue there appeared an editorial favoring the abolition of nautical terminology, where possible. I heartily approve the suggestions. I am writing to suggest that you make the suggestions apply as well, to the baseball news you publish. We all read about the "Pirates," the "Cardinals," the "White Sox," or "Sox," etc. I belong to a club of professional men, bankers and business men, and a few days ago I started on a campaign to ascertain how many out of twelve members understood who were referred to in the baseball items appearing in your paper of the 19th inst. Not one could name all of the clubs referred to in the major leagues and there were but two or three who could name the Chicago clubs, and they did not know whether the "Cubs" were in the National or the American league.

I dare say there is not more than 10 per cent of the readers of your paper west of the state of Illinois that can intelligently read that portion of the news and that because of the use of these nicknames. You try it some time. Of course it satisfies the vanity of the writers to have their familiarity with the clubs appear so vividly in such a paper as yours, but it destroys the value of the items for many readers. Carry out the editorial suggestions on the sport pages and note the result.
F. M. HUNTER.

HARRY HILL RENEWS HIS EFFORT TO ESCAPE SECOND MURDER TRIAL

Ottawa, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]—Harry Hill went before Judge Joe A. Davis in Circuit court today and for the second time made a plea to withdraw his plea of "not guilty" to the charge of having slain his mother, Mrs. Eliza A. Hill. He seeks to withdraw the plea so that he can make a motion to quash the indictment. Judge Davis set the hearing on the motion for July 6.

Hill claims that the grand jury that returned the indictment was not properly selected and that the members were not properly summoned or sworn in. He also attacks the records of the Circuit court, claiming they do not show that the indictment returned against him was a "true bill."

Hill, in court today, displayed two badly blistered hands as a result of his daily labors at a bottle plant in Streator. For his labor he receives 35 cents an hour. His father appeared in court with him.

SCHOOL BUDGET ADOPTED; TOTAL IS $84,000,000

On the recommendation of Mayor Thompson's advisory committee which has been investigating school finances, the board of education yesterday adopted the 1928 budget of $84,000,000.

In a recommendation to the board the committee advised an extended investigation to determine ways and means of curtailing present expenditures and reducing the deficit. The budget passed yesterday shows a deficit of $2,000,000.

The budget comprises the following items: Educational fund, $48,250,459; free textbooks, $1,005,311; playground, $799,186; building fund, $33,432,664; teachers' pension, $559,000. It represents an increase of $7,000,000 over the budget for 1927.

The deficit is attributed to the increase in the salaries of janitors, janitresses, firemen, engineers, window washers and school clerks.

Sixth Corps Area Chief Now Officially a Major General

Promotion of Brig. Gen. Paul B. Malone, until then mere acting commander of the Sixth corps area, with headquarters in Chicago, to the rank of major general became effective yesterday. Gen. Malone, who came to Chicago last March, is a West Point graduate of 1894 and served in the Spanish-American and world wars. In the latter he led the Tenth infantry brigade of the Fifth division in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. On his return to the United States he was on duty in Washington with the war plans division of the general staff. His success as commander at Fort Sheridan is Brig. Gen. Lytle Brown, until yesterday a colonel, assigned to the Army War college.

Watchman Saves Life of Would-Be Suicide Victim

Leon Robinson, a Pinkerton watchman, saved the life of Louis Hamdan, 40 years old, a commission merchant with offices at 904 West Randolph street, when he detected the odor of escaping gas as he was making his rounds in the rear of the building. He summoned the Desplaines street police who found Hamdan stretched on the floor in a front room, inhaling gas from a rubber hose. He was revived and taken to the county hospital.

SPECIAL JURY INDICTS 13 FOR BALLOT TERROR

New Policeman, "Prince" Arthur Quinn Named.

Marching on in their war on crime, vote frauds and crooked politicians, Frank J. Loesch and the special grand jury broke through more of the enemy's lines yesterday. Nine indictments against thirteen defendants were presented to Chief Justice William V. Brothers of the Criminal court.

Another bit of war strategy, a new and lasting line of attack, was set agoing by Mr. Loesch at a meeting at the Hotel La Salle. Mr. Loesch, who is president of the Chicago crime commission, as well as chief prosecutor before the special grand jury, had brought together 150 prominent citizens, all of them presidents or officers of civic and improvement associations in Chicago.

After he told them the truth about crime, as he sees it, Mr. Loesch condemned officials, deemed by him lagging and corrupt. He then pointed out the way to a better order of things, bidding his hearers go out among the people of their communities and see that the better order of things really was brought about.

Another Policeman Indicted.

Of deepest interest among the new batch of indictments was the one naming Peter Pacelli on a charge of kidnaping a lawyer who attempted to serve as a watcher in the last primary.

Pacelli, a brother of State Representative William V. Pacelli, is a city policeman attached to the office of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe. Of late he has been assigned to work in the forces of James Devereaux, chief of the county highway police. Pacelli is known as a leader in the organization of Morris Eller, boss of the Bloody 20th ward. Octavius C. Granady, colored lawyer, who was assassinated by gunmen on primary day, was opposing Eller for Republican ward committeeman.

Harry Hochstein, another of Eller's closest henchmen, and now a fugitive from justice on a previous indictment, was named in three more bills turned in yesterday by the special grand jury. Sammy Kaplan, rated by the special prosecutors as the ace of the Eller forces of gunmen, who also is at large, after having been indicted many times, was given three more charges of crime to answer for in the new grist of indictments.

Those Indicted by Jury.

The complete list of indictments presented yesterday is summarized as follows:

1. Peter Pacelli, for the kidnaping of Louis H. Dembo, former assistant state's attorney.
2. Sammy Kaplan, for the kidnaping of Henry Watts.
3. Sammy Kaplan, for the kidnaping of Willie Brown.
4. Harry Hochstein, for the kidnaping of Willie Strumba.
5. Harry Hochstein, for assault to murder William Strumba.
6. Abe Braverman, long known as a racketeer, for the kidnaping of Earl B. Kribbin.
7. Joe Breclav, school janitor, for the kidnaping of Tom Cook.
8. Sammy Kaplan, Ben Jacobson, Benny Zion, Harry Hochstein, and Sam Pellar, for the kidnaping of Joe L. Robinson.
9. "Prince" Arthur Quinn, Harold Wall, alias Ball, Edward Hellar, and Ernest Moeller, election judges; Martin Nelson, election clerk, all for conspiracy to make a false and fraudulent polling list, and for writing fake ballots, in the 23d precinct of the 42d ward in the primary of April 5, 1927.

It is charged Quinn and Wall held revolvers to Frank Schadeck and Joe G. Kell, other election clerks, and compelled them to enter the fictitious names in the poll lists, and then marked ballots for the names so entered.

Accused by Wounded Man.

Pacelli also was identified by George W. Dowthard, colored Deneen-Granady worker, as the man who wounded him with a shotgun on the morning of primary day. Dowthard picked out Pacelli from a crowd of men yesterday, and named him as his assailant, it was learned.

Evidence of this assault is to be given the special grand jury under the direction of Special Attorneys General Charles O. Rundall and Fred L. Fake, it was stated, and an indictment will be asked.

Just after dawn, on primary morning, Dowthard was preparing to go to the polls to work for the Deneen-Granady interests when two men appeared at his door. One showed a star, and declared they had come from the election commissioner's office to take him to the polls. Dowthard made ready to go with him, and was on the sidewalk when suddenly the manner of the men changed, and they began to threaten him.

He sought to return to his home, and then the man with the star lifted a shotgun and shot him in the arm. This man, Dowthard said yesterday, is Policeman Pacelli. The other man is already under indictment for an assault on Dowthard. He is Johnny Armondo, who is also held without bail as one of the murderers of Granady.

Fight to Quash True Bills.

An attempt to invalidate the indictments returned by the special grand jury was made yesterday before Judge Frank Comerford in the Criminal court. There Attorneys Benedict J. Short and George Guenther, counsel for some of those indicted as terrorists, argued a motion to quash an indictment charging kidnaping and assault to murder against Martin Klass. The defendant is a cousin of Judge Emanuel Eller, son of Boss Eller, and acts as the judge's secretary.

The lawyers argued that since the regular grand jury was sitting, the indictments should be voted by that body, and that any true bills returned by the special grand jury were therefore void. Judge Comerford, after hearing protests against the motion by Special Attorneys General David D. Stansbury and William Haynes, set July 7 for further argument.

At the close of yesterday's session of the special grand jury, Mr. Loesch announced its work would be cleared up by Friday night. Then a final report will be submitted to Chief Justice Brothers.

Bomb Inquiry Next.

The prosecutor said he believed the presentation of evidence in the murder of Granady would be completed by then. The work of investigating the murder of Diamond Joe Esposito and the bombings of the homes of Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson will be left for the new grand jury to be impanelled July 2.

John Stege, deputy chief of detectives during the administration of Mayor Dever, was asked to return at once to Chicago in a telegram sent him at Cedar Rapids, Ia., last night by Prosecutor Stansbury. Capt. Stege will be asked to take charge of the investigators for the special grand jury, Mr. Stansbury said. The prosecutor praised Stege for his thorough knowledge of crime conditions, and his familiarity with the haunts of criminals, and he declared that Stege was known as a fearless, incorruptible police officer.

Mr. Loesch, whose friends have been wondering how at 76 he has stood the strain of the last fortnight's tumultuous events, said he planned to take advantage of the holiday lull next week by taking a little vacation.

In his message to the association presidents at the La Salle hotel, Prosecutor Loesch bade them take to arms to make Chicago a crimeless as well as a beautiful city for the 1933 world's fair.

The point he urged strongest was the need for a change in the antiquated laws under which the prosecutors of criminals now struggle.

Expects Judicial Rebuke.

Mr. Loesch at the luncheon discussed the special court of six judges, drawn three from the Circuit and three from the Superior court, delegated to hear the Crime commission charges that Judges Emmanuel Eller, Otto Kerner and Stanley Klarkowski should be withdrawn from the Criminal court, because of "paltering with criminals." The inquiry into the charges was conducted before three of the six judges, who by agreement sat as the court of inquiry. They are preparing the finding which will be studied by the others and then the report on the inquiry will be made.

"They are considering—" and Mr. Loesch hesitated a moment—" what reproof they may give to me."

There was laughter from his listeners, but a second later Mr. Loesch quieted that with this declaration:

"But the public has been awakened! They are come to realize—and criminals have come to realize, that crime will be punished according to law; that the criminals no longer can barter with courts for light sentences."

Would Spread Information.

Mr. Loesch's reasons for calling the presidents of the city's leading associations together—and among those present were noted Julius Rosenwald, Joseph T. Ryerson, Joseph R. Noel, Thomas Donnelley, George A. Paddock and Robert Hunter—were so that the facts about crime in Chicago might become widely known.

"The crime commission was formed as a fact finding body, and we cannot do much more than gather the facts about crime, and spread them to the public. We need a body which can send the facts broadcast through the community, and I look to you men to accomplish this."

Going into a discussion of his work as prosecutor before the special grand jury, Mr. Loesch said:

"I have been interfered with so much that I decided the chief of police should come before that jury, and he did. What he said I am not permitted to say. But the chief said—after he got through in the jury room—that he was going along 100 per cent. I hope he is.

"I sent him a letter this morning to have two men arrested whom we planned to indict. He's got one already, and that's 50 per cent cooperation anyway.

"We're going to see if we can't get to the lair of crime conditions in Chicago. It is a colossal task, and I am frank to say I never would have undertaken it, if I could have looked ahead. But I'm in it now, and I'll stay until the last coffin nail has been driven into gang terrorism and fraudulent electioneering in this city."

Three outstanding needs of correction in the criminal laws of the state were cited by Mr. Loesch. One is that prosecutors should be permitted to comment to juries on the failure of defendants to take the stand in their own defense. Now the prosecutor may not even mention it, he said.

Would Restrict Juries.

A second correction should make the judge and not the jury the judge of the law in a criminal case, he declared.

The third change in the law, he said, should permit judges to allow jurors whose business does not permit them to serve when they are called to set a time of the year when they could serve, and then grant them a "continuance," as it were.

"It is the organizations you men represent to which we look for help in obtaining this greatly needed legislation," Mr. Loesch concluded

Northwestern Student Is Missing; Police Aid Asked

G. Hopkins, 20, sophomore at Northwestern university is missing, Evanston police were informed last night. The youth, whose home is in New York, had appeared to be despondent during the last several days, said H. Abbott, with whom he roomed at Washington street.

TWO ARRAIGNED AS LEADERS OF MOB IN CICERO

Charles Prerelec, 42, of 1604 South 50th court, and J. Johnson, 42, of 1313 South 48th court, both of Cicero, were arraigned in Cicero police court yesterday as the leaders of the mob of 300 that staged a near riot in the suburb on Tuesday night. Prerelec was charged with assault and Johnson with disorderly conduct.

The case was continued until July 7, and Judge Henry Sandusky then turned his attention to the rioters, many of whom were in court. He advised them to take to a higher court their protests against the construction of a double track by the B. & O. railroad at 48th avenue and 16th street. Laying of this track started the trouble. In the disturbance Mrs. Maggie Kuchenik, 110 South 48th court, and Louis Bender, 1612 16th street, were slightly wounded, and Policeman Leo Cicchi was struck with a brick. Police dispersed the mob.

SHOT IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE.

Walter Griecko, 24, of 2951 South Keeley avenue, is near death in the Bridewell hospital of wounds he received when he attempted to escape from Policeman Tim Fahy of the Deering street station yesterday morning. Fahy caught Griecko as the latter was holding up Joseph Kavillia, 3227 Auburn avenue.

WOULD EXTEND SEARCH WARRANT TO DYNAMITE

Municipal Judge John H. Lyle announced yesterday he is submitting a much needed amendment to the search warrant section of the criminal code for passage at the next session of the legislature. State Senator Thomas Courtney has agreed to sponsor this amendment.

Under the present statute a search warrant can be issued giving the police power to search for only certain kinds of evidence in specified cases. The authority given under the law does not extend to a search for such recent additions to the underworld as the bomb, sawedoff shotgun and other infernal machines. The present law has been unchanged since 1873.

The section the judge aims to add to the statute would give authority to the courts to issue search warrants authorizing the police to search for and seize "bombs, dynamite, nitroglycerin, powder, and other explosives, etc."

ALLEGED BANDIT SHOT IN FLIGHT.

Albert Allen, colored, 5938 Wabash avenue, was shot twice in the back yesterday as he fled from Patrolman William Davis of the Warren avenue station. Davis responded to calls for help from Frank Lied, a cab driver, who was being held up at 50th street and Forrestville avenue.

POISON VICTIM FOUND WIFE OF WEALTHY BROKER

Marital Trouble Cause of Suicide Attempt.

The young woman who swallowed poison last Monday disclosed last night, after forty-eight hours of silence in the American hospital, that she is Mrs. John Everett O'Connell of the Belden-Stratford hotel. Her husband is a partner in Brunswick, O'Connell & Co., brokers, 110 South Dearborn street. He is part owner of the Chicago Beach hotel and of the Lomax company, and is a director of the Lott Hotels, Inc.

Mrs. O'Connell is recovering from the potion she took at the foot of Gen. Sheridan's statue at the foot of Belmont avenue, where she was found unconscious. She said she had attempted to end her life because her husband was infatuated with Mrs. Ruth Gries, 446 Diversey parkway, mother of two children and a former wife of Joseph C. Gries, a radio announcer. She instructed her attorney, Benjamin H. Ehrlich, to file suit for separate maintenance this morning.

Rejects $250,000 Offer.

The O'Connells, married in 1919, have been separated since June 10. The husband has consulted Attorney John J. McMahon and, it is reported, offered Mrs. O'Connell $250,000 alimony settlement if she would take a divorce on a formal cruelty charge. The offer was rejected, it was said, because the attorneys failed to agree on the manner of paying the financial settlement.

O'Connell, a member of the Lake Shore Athletic and the Bob o' Link Golf clubs, according to his wife, has been accompanying Mrs. Gries to places of amusement and giving her presents.

Can't Stand Humiliation.

"I couldn't stand the humiliation any longer," Mrs. O'Connell said last night. "Friends told me of seeing them together at the Kentucky Derby, gambling in French Lick Springs and dining in the Blackstone and the Davis hotels.

"At first, I was determined to settle my troubles in the courts. Then I began dreading the disgrace. Walking along the lake front at night alone, I decided poison was the only solution for my troubles. It didn't work, so I'm going to change my mind again and go into the courts."

BROAD TRANSFER PLAN FOR BUSSES BEGINS ON JULY 4

Extension of transfer privileges on routes of the Chicago Motor Coach company will become effective midnight, July 3, it was announced late yesterday at the Illinois commerce commission. Under the schedule now in effect free transfers were only permitted between lines of the coach company on the same side of the city.

The new schedule is arranged so that transfers will be honored on all connecting lines of the company and good for a continuous ride in one general direction. Julius Johnson, secretary of the commerce commission, signed th new transfer order.

JUDGE TO DECIDE FATE OF SLAYERS OF BOY ON JULY 5

CRIMINAL COURT.

Joseph Adamski and Edward Klatt, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Kenneth Cope and Michael Scanlan, automobile larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in Pontiac reformatory; Clinton Carter, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary, by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Fred Klesch, assault to rape, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Frank Comerford.

John Taylor, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kerner.

The fate of three young burglars who shot and killed 7 year old Arthur C. Nelson Jr., 7347 Vernon avenue, and wounded and crippled his father for life, will be decided on July 5, it was announced yesterday by Judge Emanuel Eller.

Assistant State's Attorneys Harold Levy and Emmet Byrne in their closing arguments yesterday demanded the electric chair at least for Roger Bonny, 18, of 3535 South Hamilton avenue, who fired the fatal shots. Paul Gressman, 22, of 3337 South Hoyne avenue and Henry Rasczynski, 20, are the other defendants.

The defense attorneys asked for a minimum sentence on the ground that the murder was not premeditated.

WOMAN AND BOY AUTO VICTIMS; TOLL NEARS 450

A woman and a school boy were yesterday's automobile victims. Their deaths raised the motor toll in Cook county since Jan. 1 to 448. The dead:

Mrs. Mollie Atkinson, 55 years old, 7 South Kilpatrick avenue. Struck on May 20 in front of 4714 West Madison street by an automobile driven by Dondal Corby, 506 Wisconsin avenue, Oak Park.

Clarence Marlacher, 7 years old, 1703 Catalpa avenue, killed while at play near his home by an American Express company truck.

B. J. Fallon, vice president of the Chicago Rapid Transit lines, was arrested yesterday in Evanston on a charge of driving thirty-five miles an hour. He was released on his own recognizance pending trial.

SEEKS TO ENJOIN ALLEGED RIVAL FOR MATE'S LOVE

Wife Calls on Court to Break Up Triangle.

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—Application in Supreme court for an injunction of a type almost unknown in New York court records was made today by Mrs. Lalla Fairfield Barr, wife of James Cummings Barr, millionaire steel manufacturer living at the Ritz-Carlton hotel.

Mrs. Barr seeks to enjoin Mrs. Margaret C. Dana of the New Weston hotel from having anything to do with Mr. Barr.

Claims Credit Is Injured.

The papers filed by Mrs. Barr state that Mrs. Dana was unduly friendly with Mr. Barr when she knew him to be married and that the plaintiff suffered from this situation, inasmuch as her financial stability and credit were menaced.

The petition for the injunction alleges that Mr. Barr is a millionaire with an income in excess of $100,000 a year, and that he holds important contracts for furnishing supplies to railroads.

Mr. Barr was graduated from Harvard in 1890 and is a member of the University club in New York and of the Union club in Boston. He and his wife maintain residences at Sands Point, L. I., and in New Hampshire.

Says Life Was Threatened.

Several months ago, Mrs. Barr created a sensation in social circles when she announced that her life had been threatened by a person who had telephoned to her on several occasions, threatening vengeance if she did not conceal facts known to her about Mrs. Dana. Mrs. Dana subsequently denied that Mrs. Barr could know any injurious facts about her.

Mrs. Barr formerly was the wife of Walter B. Fairfield, from whom she was divorced in Blue Field, W. Va., several years ago.

FALLS DEAD IN DRUG STORE.

Howell McNeill, 46, of 54 East 77th street, died last night of a heart attack as he was drinking soda water in the O'Neil drug store, 6859 South State street.

FIND LEVIATHAN MAIL ROBBERS USED FAKE SEALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 27.—The original seals placed on the Leviathan's mail bags by the New York postoffice were removed by thieves and replaced with counterfeits, it was discovered today.

One of the mail bags consigned to the Southampton postoffice showed the seal intact, appearing to be the same as officially affixed at New York, but when detectives submitted it to careful examination, they definitely stated that the seal was faked. It is suggested the robbery was carried out during the loading of the mail aboard the Leviathan at New York.

JOBLESS; DIES OF GAS.

Face Peeler is Best Complexion Beautifier

One reason Mercolized Wax is so strongly recommended is that it really takes the place of several different cosmetics, saving time and expense. It is better than any cleansing or massage cream for accomplishing the results for which such articles are sold. As the Wax gently absorbs the old, faded or discolored cuticle, a little each day, the underlying skin which gradually appears is clearer, softer, healthier-hued and more youthful than any cosmetic-made complexion. There's nothing better to remove liver spots, sallowness, pimples or blackheads. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and age signs, use as face lotion 1 ounce powdered Saxolite and 1 half pint witch hazel. At all drug stores.

Announcement—

Wieland Dairy Company

THE WIELAND DAIRY COMPANY, with its associated companies, the Wieland Ice Cream Company and the A. J. Olson Company, have concluded negotiations for the merger of their interests with those of The Borden Company, which is the largest dairy products company in the country. The Wieland Dairy Company, serving the Chicago district for the past forty years, has obtained and enjoys the confidence and good will of thousands of patrons, and this move has been made only after mature consideration and with the best interests of our patrons and employees foremost in our minds.

Our company was a pioneer in Chicago in the transportation of milk from the farms to its bottling plant in glass-lined refrigerated tank cars. This method of transportation guarantees the consumer perfect cleanliness and an even temperature during transit, which is impossible under the old method of shipping milk in cans. The company is completing certain additions and improvements to its bottling plant which will make this operation one of the largest, most sanitary and efficient milk bottling plants in the country.

The Wieland Dairy Company will continue under the direction of the Wieland Brothers, who have been responsible for the efficiency and success of the company in the past. The high quality of our product will continue and our source of supply will remain unchanged.

The Wieland Ice Cream Company will be operated under the same management and continue to supply its customers with the same high quality ice cream manufactured, as in the past, from pure, rich cream supplied by the Wieland Dairy Company. The A. J. Olson Company will continue in charge of Mr. F. A. Biggs.

THE joys of your vacation commence almost as soon as you board this crack train which the Burlington Route and Northern Pacific Railway operate solely to provide extra and very special service during the Yellowstone season.

Three hours out of Chicago you reach the Mississippi and hour after hour revel in the charming panorama of river scenery as the train wheels smoothly alongside America's greatest waterway, revealing quaint villages, towering bluffs, clam diggers, pearl hunters, paddle-wheel steamboats and wooded islands. It is the country of Pere Marquette, Julian Dubuque, Louis Joliet and the Black Hawk War — and all seen by daylight.

Tomorrow is another interesting day spent traveling through the vast grain-producing regions of North Dakota where Theodore Roosevelt was an easy-riding young cowboy on the unfenced range of only a few years ago. Then, there's the Bad Lands of North Dakota and the old Indian country of Eastern Montana. There's Mandan, Medora, Glendive and Miles City, historic "cow towns", still headquarters for cowboys, and Sioux and Crow Indians who always greet trains at the depots.

It is a pity one has to sleep at all with so many interesting places and things to see.

The "YELLOWSTONE COMET" carries through Pullmans between Chicago and the Gardiner, Cody and Bozeman (Gallatin Canyon) Gateways of Yellowstone. In less than 48 hours it lands you at the Park gateway of your choice where the big yellow motors are waiting to begin the tour through the Magic Geyserland. Same way coming back. Your Pullmans are ready when the motors out of Yellowstone arrive in Cody, Gardiner or Bozeman.

To get the most out of your Yellowstone trip, be sure to go in one park gateway, out another. Extra sightseeing, no extra cost.

FOR SKIN IRRITATIONS

Do Your Eyes "Go Shut?"

When you're sitting with your favorite magazine, deep in an engrossing page, do your eyes ever suddenly snap shut? Tired muscles, drawn too taut, take this way of warning you. Try the simple Iris massage.

When you're ready for bed, rinse the eyes with Iris, using the handy eye cup that comes with every package. Then bathe the eyes, moistening bits of absorbent cotton in the lotion and massaging the eyelids with gentle strokes, following the line of the muscles, downward and out to the corners of the eyes. Continue, with regular strokes, until the muscles are relaxed and at rest.

Follow the next morning with an Iris eye-bath and a dash of cold water, to put your eyes in shape for another day.

MANTELL, MOUS ACTOR, IES, AGED 74

nee Idol Back in the Early '80s.

renowned tragedian breathed today at Brucewood, his coun at Atlantic Highlands, N. J. For six weeks, he had fought a battle for life against old age handicap of a general break. He was 74.

him when he died were his Genevieve Hamper Man and their son, Bruce. A daugh reported to be hastening the continent from California.

FIFTY YEARS AN ACTOR.

Bruce Mantell, born in the village of Irvine in 1854, gave of his seventy-four years to theater, and fifty of them were the stage in the United States. at least in the fifty years he prominence, and seemed to step into actual eminence; the upward step was not taken. active and industrious through season, and had planned to fare again in September; but the decade of his career was spent entirely in the smaller cities, an occasional week in places of than 100,000 population. His career teemed with in episodes, incidents, adven and happenings that could be assembled into a tale that pale most of the romantic fic having to do with actor-heroes: a with less of the cautious Scot in world, with Mantell's life as have been ere this a of romantic legend. Instead, will be remembered and written as an actor who regarded his as an occupation and a rather than as an art, or even a years were given by Mantell to minor rôles, and leading- work in the English provinces in this country (with the cele Hélène Modjeska) before he the fancy of New-York in the character in "The World," and popular London melo of the early 'Eighties. Then he into another piece of the sort, Romany Rye." When, in 1883, Davenport obtained the Amer rights in Sardou's sensational she engaged the rising Scot the rôle of Loris Ipanoff—a rôle as important in the scheme of play as that of the title; and his of the theater in that day tell his success was not second to and that the "big scene" the lovers, as acted by Miss Dav and Mr. Mantell, drove the night audience into a frenzy of and praise.

Mantell did for the rôle, certain that the rôle did a lot for for he found himself, as a conse of his engagement with the star, in demand by the Palm and Frohmans, the Stetsons and and all the foremost play of the period. He was, in of matinée-idols, the matinée- the successful competitor for audiences of such famed of the theater as Barrymore, Herbert Kelcey, Osmond Kyrle Bellew, and Harry La When Hugh Conway's best-seller "Called Back" was dramatized, was the logical actor for the rôle of Gilbert Vaughan. That he should become a pro-forma star was inevitable. He took this distinction first in 1886 with a play named "Tangled Lives." One named "Monbars" was next, and then a revival of "The Corsican Brothers." His vogue held in these ventures: he was, at the box-office, among the valid stars of the American stage down to 1892.

Legal troubles about that time barred him from the State of New-York; and for the next ten or twelve years Mantell suffered from the law of diminishing returns owing to his inability to obtain the Broadway stamp of approval or of advertising on his new plays. When he acted in the larger cities, his theaters would be those operated at low prices. As a star in romantic melodrama on tour, his competition was great: Walker Whiteside, Frederick Warde, Louis James, and a host of lesser actors were proffering like fare over the same trails, leading into the neighborhoods of small towns and long railway "jumps."

Then, in the late Autumn of 1904, in a desolate one-nighter, his morning mail consisted of a circular-letter from the Messrs. Shubert offering to rent for the first three weeks in December their Princess Theater in Broadway, New-York. The fee was small; but the three weeks were the weakest in the stage-year. Still, insisted the letter, here was a chance at a New-York hearing. Mantell counted his resources, found he had the sum of the three weeks' rent-money plus the fares to New-York, wired the Shuberts that he would be their tenant, and hurried his little company and his road-worn paraphernalia to the theatrical Mecca. He opened in "King Richard III" with all the first-string critics present: there was no other opening that night, so that the penmen had nothing else to do. Most of them liked him as Richard; and those who didn't used up so much space in saying so that he was made to seem of vast importance in all the Tuesday newspapers. The public took interest in reaction to the "notices," and helped him to pull through the three weeks without too much loss.

That was the beginning of a second period of great prominence and popularity for Mantell. William A. Brady took over his management, put him into another New-York theater for a stretch of nine weeks, and revived for him "Macbeth" and "King Lear" as additions to a répertoire of Shakspere made up of "Hamlet," "Othello," and "King Richard III." "The Merchant of Venice," "Julius Cæsar," and—here in Chicago—"King John" were added by the Autumn of 1907. He went onward and upward in popular favor—but not far enough to get a secure footing. He wanted management, but resented being managed. He had five years of recaptured glory, and then began the descent in vogue. He hadn't been in Chicago since the holiday-weeks of 1923-'24, when he filled a sad fortnight in the Illinois. The trade-weeklies last Winter told that he was "doing well" in the smaller cities at a dollar for the best seats. F. D.

New Yeast and Iron Turns "Skinniness" to Admired Curves

"Skinny" Girls Never Get Friends

Gain pounds of weight and increase your strength in 3 weeks—or pay nothing

"Gained 20 Pounds!"

"When I started taking Ironized Yeast a month ago I weighed only 90 pounds and I could hardly drag myself around. Today I weigh 110 pounds and I feel fine. Best of luck to Ironized Yeast, say I."—Mrs. C. S., Hattiesburg, Miss.

Folks are amazed at Ironized Yeast. They see 5 to 15 pounds gained in 3 weeks! Skinny limbs covered with rounded, graceful flesh! Ugly hollows in shoulders filled up! Eyes sparkling with health. They ask—how does Ironized Yeast work so quickly?

How Ironized Yeast Builds Quick Flesh and Health

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the most in flesh-producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron, the same as in spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

If you are underweight, nervous or tired, you need Ironized Yeast. Start it today. It does not cause gas or bloating. Safe for everybody—containing no harmful drugs. Pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle.

U. S. TAKES OVER DRY AGENT SUIT; JUDGE PROTESTS

Action in Damage Case Is Criticized by Pam.

Superior Judge Hugo Pam yesterday surrendered to the federal court his jurisdiction in a $10,000 damage suit against three prohibition agents charged with unlawfully raiding a home and destroying 4,000 gallons of wine.

The state jurist bowed to an order from Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, but not without a few informal words of protest against the government tribunals taking over of civil and criminal trials against dry agents.

Judge Opposes Procedure.

"The United States Supreme court has held that the federal judiciary has this authority but, personally, I respectfully dissent," said Judge Pam after being served with a writ by a deputy United States marshal. "I don't think a citizen should be deprived of seeking redress in a forum of his own selection.

"Before the eighteenth amendment there was no doubt of a citizen's right to sue in the state courts. I think he should retain this right. But prohibition has brought strange laws. I, personally, also disagree with the United States Supreme court in its ruling permitting liquor sleuths to obtain evidence by tapping private telephone wires."

Trial Delayed Six Years.

Orazio De Stefano, 924 South Marshfield avenue, plaintiff in the suit, has sought for six years to obtain a trial of his claim for damages. The case was pending before Judge Pam for almost a year before the court, irked by the delays of the government attorney, set the trial for yesterday for the announced purpose of forcing the federal lawyers to act. They acted by taking the case into the United States District court.

The defendants are Lawrence Kilcourse, Gustav A. Johnson, and Frank D. Richardson. On Dec. 10, 1920, it is alleged, they forced entry into De Stefano's home without a warrant and destroyed the wine. The plaintiff avers his possession of the wine violated no federal law.

Portuguese Bull Fighter Gored to Death in Ring

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, June 27.—One of Portugal's most famous bull fighters, Joao Agnacio, was gored to death by a bull in the ring at Port Alegre, southern Portugal, during celebration of the festival of St. Jean. Two other toreadors were injured and are not expected to live.

THOUSANDS WEEP AT SERVICE FOR ISADORA DUNCAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 27.—Hundreds of men and women wept in the immense Trocadero auditorium as the Isadora Duncan memorial week came to an impressive climax with the Colonne orchestra, under Gabriel Piefne, playing pieces to which the late cult leader danced her way to fame.

An audience of 5,000, including her entire contingent of Latin quarter followers, and many famous figures of the Parisian artistic and political world, gazed in silence at the empty stage, hung with Isadora's blue curtains and containing only an altar draped with purple gauze and laurel wreath, while the musicians, several of whom also were weeping, went through Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," to which Isadora danced in New York the first time in 1921.

In the audience was Vitea Seroff, composer, now suing the German publishers for adding an alleged false account of his relations with Miss Duncan to the translation of her autobiography.

MARINE INHERITS MILLION.

SHANGHAI, June 27.—(AP)—Corporal Lloyd E. Nelson, U. S. marines, of Seattle, who has inherited $1,000,000 from the estate of his father, will sail for Seattle Friday to take charge of his inheritance. Nelson's enlistment expires in November and he will finish out his service with the marines at Bremerton, Wash., and then enter business.

PIANO MUSIC IS PART OF LIFE

PIANO study—the foundation of musical training—gives the student a clearer understanding of all music. It creates a broader range of interest in the many phases of life in which music has an intimate share.

At school exercises there is music. At a picnic. At a dedication festival, or other public gathering. There is music at nearly every party, reception or banquet, at every church service. Most of our epic and romantic literature has its operatic or lyric version.

Life has gained a far richer and fuller meaning for many thousands of children whose interest in music has been developed and broadened through piano training on the

3 SHIPS START ARCTIC SEARCH FOR AMUNDSEN

U. S. Woman Sends Fourth Vessel on Hunt.

OSLO, Norway, June 27.—(AP)—Search for Roald Amundsen and his five companions, missing since June 18, got under full swing today as three vessels sailed from Tromso for northern waters and other expeditions were rapidly preparing to leave.

The Norwegian cruiser Tordenskjold, the French auxiliary vessel Quentin Roosevelt, and the sealer Heimland, which the French government has chartered, will search the neighborhood of Bear island, midway between the coast of Norway and Spitzbergen. It lies along the route which the French plane carrying the noted explorer was expected to take.

U. S. Woman Provides Ship.

Miss Louise Boyd, an American woman, who had hired the sealing ship Hobby for a hunting expedition off Greenland, has placed the ship at the disposal of the Norwegian government, free of cost, to search for Amundsen. The sealer will leave Tromso on Sunday for Kings Bay. It took an active part in the search for Gen. Nobile during the last few weeks, but returned to Norway in order to fill the engagement with Miss Boyd, whose home is in San Rafael, Cal.

The newspapers have printed an appeal to the public to subscribe to a fund to equip an expedition to search for Amundsen, and today thousands of kroner were pouring in for the fund.

Report Malmgren Party Found.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, June 27.—Unconfirmed rumors state Dr. Finn Malmgren and Capts. Mariano and Zappi, who left the Nobile party after the dirigible Italia had crashed in an attempt to reach land afoot, have been found. It is reported the party had a fierce fight with polar bears.

Pigeon May be From Italia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, June 27.—A carrier pigeon believed to have been released by the dirigible Italia and lost on its way to Rome was picked up at a village near Agrinium, north of Missolonghi, yesterday. The bird bears a rubber ring and silver plate inscribed "Italia," with numbers which are not clear.

Ice Floes Add New Peril.

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 27.—(AP)—Dangerous ice floes added one more obstacle today to efforts to rescue parties who are struggling against overwhelming odds to save the remaining members of the Italia's crew.

A wireless message from the Quest, base ship of the Swedish rescue expedition, said that the vessel had encountered a movement of ice from the east across Hinlopen strait. The crew had been compelled to leave Wahlenberg bay and seek refuge on the north coast of Great Stone island.

Of sixteen men who left aboard the dirigible for the north pole on May 23 only six were known to be alive today. One man was killed. Three have been missing since they started afoot for land.

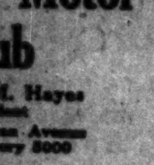
Gen. Umberto Nobile said today that soon after the dirigible crashed on May 25 the balloon part drifted to the east and a small column of smoke was seen rising from it after it had gone about six miles. The balloon then crashed. Nothing has been heard of the six men aboard.

Tells How One Man Died.

Vincenzo Pomella, motor attendant, was in the stern gondola when the Italia crashed. It was ripped off in striking the ice, crushing Pomella. During the ensuing commotion he died.

The cabin and part of the upper bracing were also torn away. All those in the cabin were hurled to the ice. Among the débris on the ice they found all the instruments in the cabin. Later the body of Pomella was found and buried in the ice.

In the meantime the balloon part of the Italia was drifting to the east, having been freed of the weight of the gondolas and part of the bracing. When it had gone about six miles a small column of smoke was seen rising from it. Nobile thought that either a gasoline or an oil tank had caught fire. The balloon crashed on the ice with its six occupants.



How 70,000 Motorists Cut Motoring Expense

Do You Know Why You No Longer Pay a Tax on Tires?

In an interesting booklet just published by the Chicago Motor Club, Mr. Ernest N. Smith, General Manager of the American Automobile Association, tells how motorists have been saved this expense, and explains what national representation means to motorists.

This booklet, "How 70,000 Motorists Cut Motoring Expense," also contains other valuable suggestions and information that every motorist should have.

Since this booklet was prepared at considerable expense, it is not given broadcast distribution, but if you will promise to read it, we will gladly send you a copy with our compliments.

LADY LINDY AND ATLANTIC FLYING PALS SAIL TODAY

Attend Farewell Fete at Southampton.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 27.—Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz, and Louis Gordon were banqueted by Southampton tonight. They will sail for home tomorrow on the President Roosevelt, which was picking up the flyers' mid-Atlantic message a week ago. Before leaving London, Miss Earhart visited Wimbledon to see Helen Wills in the tennis matches.

Courtney Forced to Turn Back.

LISBON, Portugal, June 27.—(AP)—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, who hopped off this morning for the Azores, en route to the United States, returned to Lisbon this afternoon.

Capt. Courtney said a slight leak in the water tube of his seaplane developed when he was about 150 miles out of Lisbon. He might possibly have reached Saint Michael, the nearest island of the Azores, using only one engine, but he felt this was inadvisable since the repairs could be made at Lisbon more quickly.

He intends to leave Lisbon again tomorrow morning with the expectation of reaching Horta by nightfall. There he will refuel and take off in the dark for Halifax or Cape Race. Capt. Courtney, who made an unsuccessful attempt to fly the Atlantic last year, arrived here on June 3 after a 1,325 mile flight from Pisa, Italy.

Waits on Mrs. Stillman.

GRAND MERE, Que., June 27.—(AP)—Plans for the projected trans-Atlantic flight of Thea Rasche await the arrival of her backer, Mrs. James A. Stillman.

"I cannot talk of any possible date for the hop-off until I see Mrs. Stillman," the German girl flyer, said. "She has been too good to me, so generous, and I have already brought enough trouble upon her that I will not run the risk of any more complications."

Miss Rasche, her co-pilot for the flight, Ulrich Koenemann, and B. Zebora, Bellanca mechanic, spent some time at the Cap de la Madeline flying field inspecting her plane, the North Star.

DIES IN BATHROOM.

Wife Is Found Shot to Death; Husband Sought

Mrs. Charles Doyle, 39 years old, 678 North Dearborn street, was found shot to death in bed last night by Chicago avenue police. Her husband, who, according to neighbors, had been drinking, quarreled with her last Sunday, it was said. She is believed to have been dead about three days. A phone call from the husband led to the discovery of the body with a bullet wound in the head. The police found a note from the husband confessing that he killed his wife and announcing that he was going to commit suicide. He is being sought.

Spray for the Flying Ones— Blow for the Crawling Ones

THE most effective method to kill flies, mosquitoes, and other flying pests—is to spray Black Flag Liquid. Shut the doors. Close the windows. As you spray, the fine mist penetrates every corner. Not an insect can escape. They die—every one of them!

And remember, not only is Black Flag the deadliest liquid insect-killer, but it is also the most economical one. Black Flag costs only 25 cents for a full half-pint. Other liquids cost 50 cents for the same quantity.

In dealing with roaches, bed bugs, fleas and other crawling pests, use Black Flag Powder, instead of liquid. For you can't stand around and spray these pests. They hide in cracks when you're near. Just blow Black Flag Powder with a gun into cracks. Then go away. When the pests come out—they crawl through the powder. And its secret ingredient strangles them. They die!—and they die quickly! Powder also kills fleas on dogs.

Both Liquid and Powder are absolutely deadly to all household insect pests. (Money back if it doesn't prove so.) Powder, packed in glass to prevent spoiling—15 cents and up.

To rid their homes of all insect pests, some people prefer Black Flag Liquid to kill the flying ones—Black Flag Powder to kill the crawling ones, including ants.

Another social leader chooses

Old Gold . . . when Mrs. Sidney Borg makes the Blindfold test

MRS. SIDNEY BORG . . . nationally known for her social and charitable activities . . . chairman of the woman's division, Federated Jewish Charities . . . chairman of the Jewish Big Sisters.

Mrs. Borg was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing her taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "which one do you like best?"

"The charitable activities in which I am engaged make it necessary for me to meet with women at all kinds of functions. I am often invited to smoke, but I smoke so little that my throat protests immediately unless the cigarette is very mild. So it was with particular delight that I discovered OLD GOLD in the blindfold test. I chose it at once . . . and from now on it will be my exclusive favorite."

JENNINGS WILL CASE IS ENDED; LAWYERS CLASH

Court Ruling Today in $6,000,000 Suit.

Heated charges were exchanged by opposing attorneys yesterday before Judge H. Sterling Pomeroy at the close of a trial of suits brought by Edward C. Koester, an ex-convict, claiming the $6,000,000 estate of the late Edwin B. Jennings, an eccentric recluse who died eight years ago.

Yesterday's hearing closed two years of court drama. Judge Pomeroy announced he will hand down his decision this morning. Eight cousins of the deceased are opposing Koester's claims.

The final clash took place while Attorney Frank Swett of counsel for the cousins was making his closing arguments.

Calls Him Imposter.

"This petitioner," the lawyer referred to Koester, "a known felon in at least two states, is foisting himself upon this court for the sole purpose of holding up distribution of the estate and harassing the legitimate heirs.

"The record of this case should be investigated for possible criminal action after your honor has entered his decision. Any attorney who would defend him, knowing his record, and certainty knowing his motives, is guilty with him."

Attorney Hector A. Brouillet, Koester's counsel, asked if he were referred to.

"I'll stand on my statement," Attorney Swett replied.

Counter Charges Made.

"Mr. Swett himself is the only one who has been guilty of any improper action in this case," Attorney Brouillet replied. "He has attempted to destroy evidence, and to intimidate witnesses and attorneys in this hearing, just as he has done for the last two years in the case."

Koester originally attempted to probate a will which named him the sole heir. Before Probate Judge Henry Horner this was proved to be a forgery. The ex-convict, who has served two terms for forgery, then charged that the forged will had been substituted in the files of the court for the genuine so as to discredit his claims.

Koester also contends that he is a son of Jennings by a secret marriage.

John D. Jr. Orders $75,000 Worth of Church Windows

Philadelphia, Pa., June 27.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Jr. visited Philadelphia on Monday to place an order for cathedral glass for the new Riverside Baptist church in New York and was described today as a "shrewd buyer." He ordered $75,000 worth of glass windows from Nicola d'Ascenzo, who said it would require 20 men more than a year to produce the order.

RECONDITIONED CADILLACS

Forget the summer heat

Relieve the strain of sultry summer days. Serve refreshing well-iced drinks, crisply chilled salads and tempting frozen desserts. Have all these hot weather comforts in the quantities you want... as often as you want them.

Frigidaire

... the automatic refrigerator that gives unfailing results

WHEN you buy an automatic refrigerator you want a freezing compartment that will freeze desserts and salads quickly. You want a compartment that will make you entirely independent of outside ice supply ::: a compartment that is capable of freezing ice cubes several times a day. And above all things you want a compartment that can be kept at low temperatures regardless of outside heat.

Frigidaire freezes ice ::: quickly and always ::: even in the hottest weather.

An ice-making compartment that is always below freezing

To maintain uniform temperatures, week in, week out, without regard to weather fluctuation, demands a wide margin of reserve power. And Frigidaire has that surplus power. And in addition, the mechanical ingenuity of Frigidaire engineers has made it possible to conceal this powerful mechanism completely. There is nothing to mar its practical beauty. Nothing to catch dust or dirt. Frigidaire adds beauty to the modern kitchen. And Frigidaire can be kept clean as a china plate, inside and out.

Frigidaire has a powerful "V" type drive and a fan to lower operating cost. Frigidaire mechanism can be placed wherever you wish it ::: out of sight and out of the way. With Frigidaire there is no stooping to reach low food compartment shelves. Frigidaire is quiet and stays quiet. Frigidaire can be serviced on the spot. Frigidaire requires only one electrical connection. Frigidaire is easy to install and simple to use. And remember that Frigidaire is made and guaranteed by General Motors, the World's largest manufacturer of mechanical products.

Your present ice-box can be a Frigidaire. Simply place a freezing coil in the ice compartment and a compressor in the basement. The cost is low.

Small down payment

Point by point compare Frigidaire value. Then compare Frigidaire's low prices. Place your order now and have Frigidaire in your home at once. Any model can be bought for a small down payment and the balance on easy terms.

Dance with Whitie and his Drake Orchestra in the gay Summer Garden

As popular as it is different this cheerful ITALIAN ROOM at the DRAKE

This sparkling dining room with its bold black and whites, is on the street level overlooking the lake, and is entered direct from Oak Street.

The delicious food and prompt service have made it a much favored meeting place for business men and women. Club breakfast 60c and up—table d'hote luncheon 85c—dinner $1.50; also a la carte service. Nightly except Sundays, during the summer months, Henry Selinger and the famous Drake Ensemble Orchestra play here from 6:30 to 8:30.

Another exceedingly popular DRAKE feature is the charming Summer Garden in the great main dining room, where Whitie and his DRAKE Orchestra, direction Mel Snyder, have proved one of the season's outstanding dance sensations.

Here week nights from 6:30 to 8:30, a delicious table d'hote dinner is served—$2.50—which includes the evening's dancing. A la carte cover charge 50c. After 8:30 the usual charge per person $1.25, Saturday nights $2.50. Informal—to make reservation call Superior 2200.

Spend a delightful summer at THE DRAKE

Furnished or unfurnished rooms or suites will be arranged to meet your individual needs. Surprisingly attractive discounts now available on long term leases. For transient guests, rates as low as $5.00 a day, single room—$6.00 double—with bath. For information, call Superior 2200, and ask for the manager's office.

Face all broken out—clear in a few days

Wolcott, Ind.—"I have always been more or less troubled with pimples on my face. Last spring they were worse than usual. I had seen Resinol Soap and Ointment advertised, so sent for a sample of each. I used them regularly, and in a few days my skin was clear and as soft and velvety as a school girl's."—(Signed) Miss Dorothy Marlowe.

Are You One of Those Women?

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Certain women are sufficiently interesting in appearance to cause people to look twice. The secret is an outstanding smartness.

Always such a person appears perfectly groomed but the methods of acquiring this stamp are quiet and unobtrusive.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today.

Here is one of the important ways: Use a powder that blends with your skin so smoothly that it looks a part of you. I have found this powder in France. Formerly it was made for my personal use only. Now you can buy it at your own toilet counter. The price is $1. It comes in a square box. Ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Heavy Face Powder.

For certain skins which do not require as clinging a type I have what I call my Light Face Powder, which comes in a round box at a lower price.

Both types in Flesh, Brunette, White.

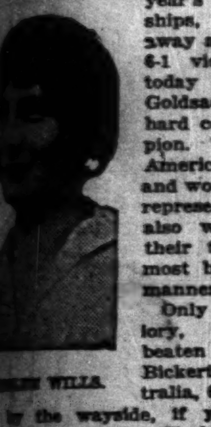
ELEN WILLS IN RST VICTORY T WIMBLEDON

eorge Lott to Meet Lacoste Today.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, June 27.—Helen in her initial appearance in this year's championships, tucked away an easy 6-2, 6-1 victory here today over Elsie Goldsack, English hard court champion. The other American men and women tennis representatives also went about their tasks in a most businesslike manner.



HELEN WILLS.

Only Molla Mallory, who was beaten by Miss Bickerton of Australia, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, by the wayside, if you except C. Brunie of New York, who was feated by his own countryman, Sydney Wood of Philadelphia. The scores 1-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

ohn Hennessey, capitulating before blic indignation, discarded his much scussed striped trousers for pure ite ones, and thereupon waded ough N. H. Latchford, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Lott and Hennessey Win.

ater, with George Lott, he defeated Danet and Gentien, 7-5, 7-5, 6-3. e French pair, who, in the doubles, st after the famous four horsemen, re swept off their feet by the brilliant volleying of the American pair, d tonight Lott and Hennessey are nceded to have a fair chance of aking off with the title now shared y Tilden and Hunter, though they st defeat Henri Cochet and Jacques rugnon before reaching the finals.

unter and Tilden had little trouble uncing Avory and Higgins, a couple of school boys, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

elen Jacobs, who for some reason d not been conceded a chance of ating either Eileen Bennett or Senorita Lili de Alvarez for a chance to eet Miss Wills in the finals, showed at she possibly was underrated hen she defeated Joan Ridley, Lonn champion and one of the hardest oman hitters in the game, 6-0, 6-2. nelope Anderson also came through, ating Miss Hardie, semi-finalist in e French championships last month, 4, 6-4. Elizabeth Ryan won from rs. Bridge, 6-1, 6-4.

he German champion, Fraulein ssem, who is a protégé of Howard inney, showed possibilities in defeating Chamberlain, 6-2, 6-4.

Hunter's Conqueror Loses.

E. D. Andrews, Cambridge youth ho put Francis Hunter out in the st round, fell today before the 18 ar old French youth, Christian Boussus, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

Two young American Davis cuppers e faced with tough battles in the xt round, which will be played tomorrow. George Lott meets Lacoste, ho is a vastly improved player over e Lacoste who lost to Cochet in e finals of the French championships in Paris last month. At that me he had not recovered completely om his recent illness.

Junior Coen, who today beat E. V. ob of the Indian Davis cup team, 6-4, 6-3, meets Austin, who today at Wheatley, 6-3, 6-8, 6-8, 6-2, 6-1. ustin is the youth who downed both ott and Hennessey at Eastbourne st week, and is a favorite against e Kansas City boy.

C.A.A. WATER POLO TEAM IS AWARDED NATIONAL TITLE

Sheldon Clark, chairman of the athletic committee of the C. A. A., yesterday received official notification that the Cherry Circle club has been awarded the National A. A. U. water polo championship for 1928. The award came from Joseph Reilly, president of the Metropolitan association of the A. A. U. and a member of the American Olympic team selections committee.

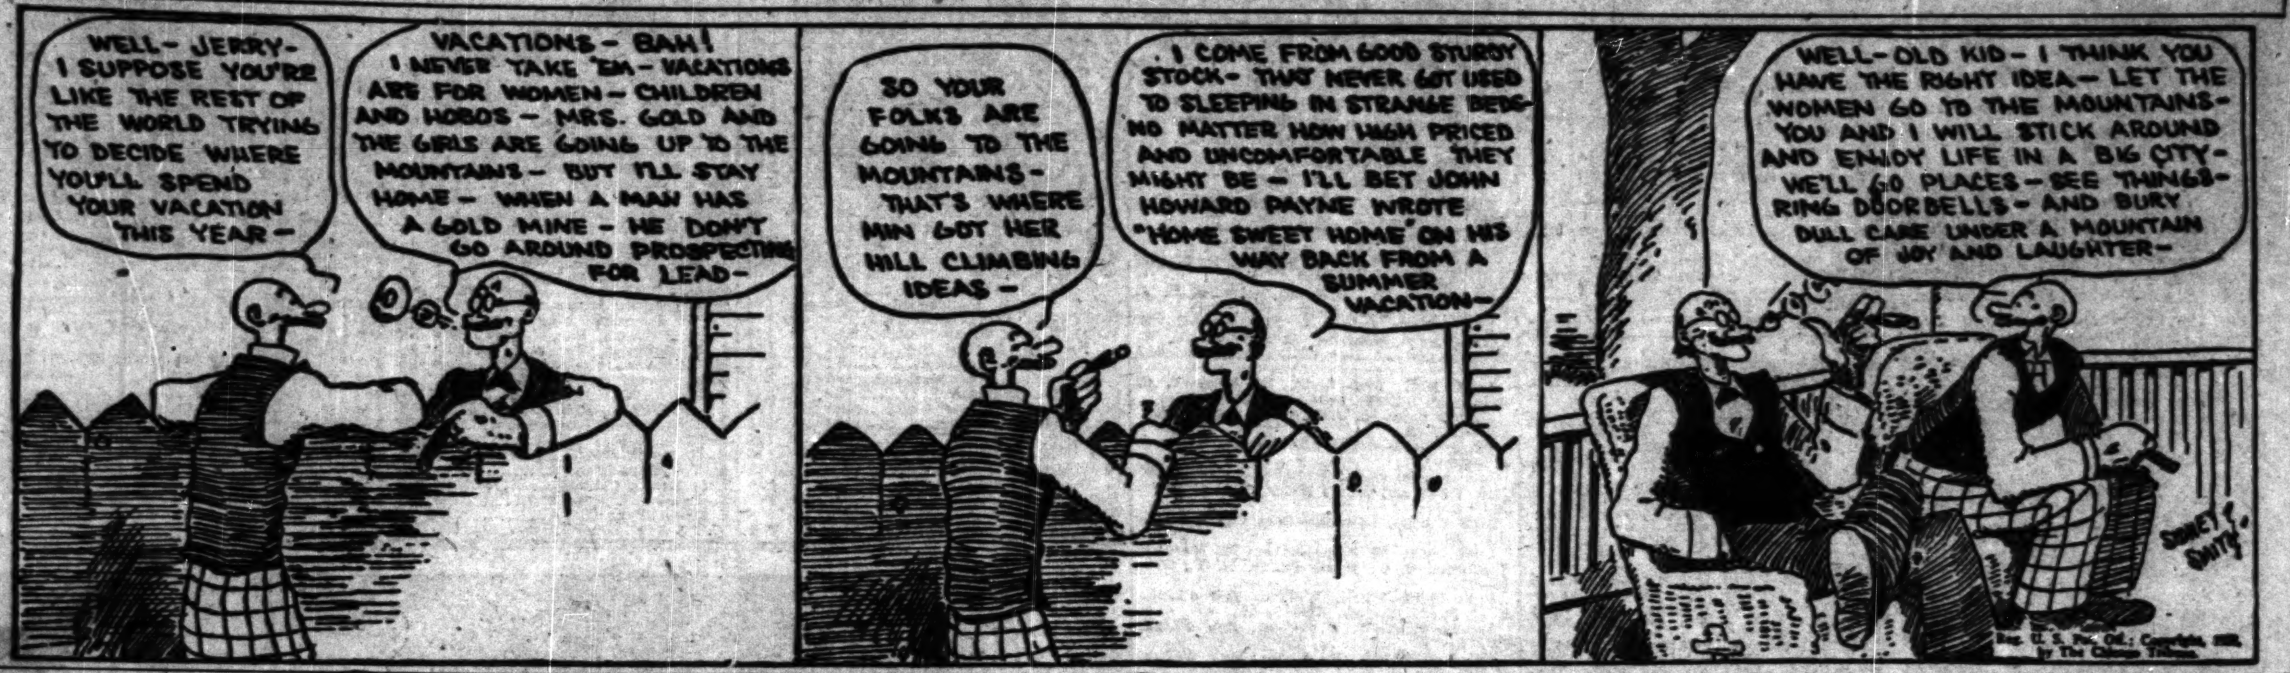
This action came following a vote of the board of governors of the A. A. U., who claimed the I. A. C. forfeited to the C. A. A. when it refused to abide by the referee's decision in one of the semi-final games. The board ordered the C. A. A. and Olympic club of San Francisco to meet for the title in Detroit last week. The coast team was unable to make the trip, and consequently forfeited to the Cherry Circle team, which in turn was given the championship.

Instead, however, of the C. A. A. representing America in the water polo competition of the Olympic games, an all star aggregation has been chosen. This team will be composed of Topp, Daniels, Greenberg and Koppel of the C. A. A.; Weissmuller, Kojac and Lauer of the I. A. C.; Mitchell and Schroth of the Olympic club; Harrison of Stanford, and Vollmer of the New York A. C.

Johnny Meyers Gives Up Middleweight Mat Title

Johnny Meyers, recognized as the world's middleweight champion for years, has voluntarily given up the title because he can no longer make the weight, Manager Ed White announced last night.

THE GUMPS—HOME GUARDS



WELL- JERRY- I SUPPOSE YOU'RE LIKE THE REST OF THE WORLD TRYING TO DECIDE WHERE YOU'LL SPEND YOUR VACATION THIS YEAR-
VACATIONS - BAH! I NEVER TAKE 'EM - VACATIONS ARE FOR WOMEN - CHILDREN AND HOBOS - MRS. GOLD AND THE GIRLS ARE GOING UP TO THE MOUNTAINS - BUT I'LL STAY HOME - WHEN A MAN HAS A GOLD MINE - HE DON'T GO AROUND PROSPECTING FOR LEAD-
SO YOUR FOLKS ARE GOING TO THE MOUNTAINS - THAT'S WHERE MIN GOT HER HILL CLIMBING IDEAS -
I COME FROM GOOD STURDY STOCK - THAT NEVER GOT USED TO SLEEPING IN STRANGE BEDS - NO MATTER HOW HIGH PRICED AND UNCOMFORTABLE THEY MIGHT BE - I'LL BET JOHN HOWARD PAYNE WROTE "HOME SWEET HOME" ON HIS WAY BACK FROM A SUMMER VACATION-
WELL - OLD KID - I THINK YOU HAVE THE RIGHT IDEA - LET THE WOMEN GO TO THE MOUNTAINS - YOU AND I WILL STICK AROUND AND ENJOY LIFE IN A BIG CITY - WE'LL GO PLACES - SEE THINGS - RING DOORBELLS - AND BURY DULL CARE UNDER A MOUNTAIN OF JOY AND LAUGHTER-

SETS PACE BY STROKE IN RACE FOR THIRD TITLE

Mrs. Pardue Second; Mrs. Jones Third.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

[News of Bob o' Link's famous tournament will be found on following page.]

Driving for her third Women's Western medal play championship as she shoots for course records, Mrs. Lee Mida of Butterfield slammed her ball around the Hinsdale course yesterday in an exact duplicate of her first round and took the lead by one shot. Mrs. Mida was out in 41 and back in 46, exactly as she had been on the first day, despite seven putts on two greens in the last nine. Her total for the 36 holes was 174.

MRS. H. AUSTIN PARDUE.

Going into the final 18 hole round today two others were on her heels. One shot back was Mrs. H. Austin Pardue of Hibbing, Minn., and four shots back was Mrs. Melvin Jones, three times winner of the championship, who would have been at least three shots closer if she again had not had difficulties with her putter.

Traps Hinder Mrs. Pardue.

Mrs. Pardue played beautiful golf except for a couple of bad holes where iron shots let her into trouble. A 6 on the 335 yard fifth and a 7 on the 515 yard seventeenth, both due to traps, didn't help her score much, but her 87 was only four over par and combined with her 88 of yesterday gave her 175. On the ninth, tenth, and eleventh holes she scored three consecutive birdies.

Mrs. Jones duplicated her 89 of the first day for 178, and while she wasn't more than a single shot over par on any hole, she missed the birdies that cut down the total. She had ten pars and only one birdie.

Florence Beebe Gains.

Mrs. Mida's worst shots were at the start, where traps cost her a couple of strokes on the first two holes and on the eleventh and twelfth. On the first of those she topped her drive and finished with three putts for a seven, and on the twelfth took four putts on the treacherous green for another seven. One of the most beautiful shots of the day was her drive on the 248 yard sixteenth, all uphill. It stoppd barely two yards short of the green.

Florence Beebe, Northwestern's youthful star, clipped six shots off her opening round, adding a 93 to a 99 for 192 and a tie for third place with Mrs. John Arendt of Wilmette, 100—92—192, but both were too far back to be a threat in the final today. So close are the three leaders that the possibilities of a tie are good, in which case the championship will be decided in an eighteen hole playoff. Scores:

Eddie Shea Defeats Stoy in 10 Rounds at Lancaster, Pa.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 27.—(AP)—Harry Blitman, Philadelphia featherweight, won the decision over Tony Canzoneri of New York, champion of that division, in a 10 round bout at the Phillies' baseball park tonight. Blitman weighed 127 pounds, Canzoneri 128. The title was not at stake.

Eddie Shea, Chicago, 126, won the decision in 10 rounds over Rosey Stoy, Lancaster, 125½. Stoy dropped Shea with a right to the jaw in the first round for no count, but for most of the time thereafter the Chicago slugger was the aggressor. He dropped Stoy for a count of eight in the second round and for a count of seven in the seventh.

CHICAGO'S HOPES IN OLYMPICS OFF TODAY FOR TESTS

Race in Sectional Trials Tomorrow.

[Discussion of United States hopes in Olympics will be found on page 21.]

Track and field athletes of the Illinois Athletic club and Chicago Athletic association leave today for Detroit to take part in the Olympic trials tomorrow and Saturday. Winners of first and second places automatically will qualify for the final tests to be held in the Harvard stadium on July 6 and 7.

The I. A. C. will be represented by twenty performers and the C. A. A. by fourteen. Tri-color club athletes who qualify for the Olympic finals will go direct to Boston from Detroit, while the Cherry Circle qualifiers will return to Chicago and leave for Boston next Wednesday.

Among the features of the Detroit meet will be the meeting of Dan Kinsey and Reay of the C. A. A. and Morgan Taylor of the I. A. C. in the 400 meter hurdles. Kinsey won the 110 meter high hurdles in the 1924 Olympics and Taylor took the 400 meter three foot hurdles in the same set of games. The 400 meter hurdle qualifiers later will go to Philadelphia, where the final trials will be staged on July 3 and 4.

Anton Burg of the C. A. A., a former University of Chicago athlete, and Harold Osborne of the I. A. C. will renew their old feud in the running high jump, and Fitch of the C. A. A. will try to outspeed Phillips and Osterich of the I. A. C. in the 400 meter run.

Spencer of the C. A. A. is expected to be a factor in the 3,000 meters steeplechase, and Martin of the same club in the running hop, step, and jump. Charles "Chuck" McGinnis, former Wisconsin captain, now wearing the C. A. A. colors, will compete in the high jump and pole vault.

CHICAGO LAGS IN RAISING ITS OLYMPIC QUOTA

Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board, who is chairman of the Chicago Olympic committee, announced yesterday that only $15,882.35 of Chicago's quota of $50,000 had been raised to help defray expenses of the American team to the world's games.

The committee expects to complete its quota before the team sails on July 11. President William Veeck has granted permission to tag spectators at one of the home games of the Cubs, while athletic clubs and golf clubs also have promised to donate to the fund. Donations may be sent to Melvin A. Traylor, treasurer, 910 South Michigan avenue.

TRAPSHOOTERS FROM 12 STATES COMPETE TODAY

Central states trapshooting championships will be decided in a four day meet that opens at the Lincoln Park traps today. More than 100 marksmen, from all parts of the twelve states and two Canadian provinces that form the central division of the Amateur Trapshooting association, are expected to compete.

Topping the inaugural program will be the singles target championship, which will be decided by the best out of 200 targets at the sixteen yard distance. The state team race, based on the five high scores from each state; the women's single championship and a special doubles event complete today's program.

Wilson Sails Tomorrow for World Games at Amsterdam

Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director of Northwestern university, left last night for Montreal, where tomorrow he will board the S. S. Letitia en route to the Olympic games at Amsterdam. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson. Track Coach Frank Hill and others of the Purple staff who will attend the games will leave this week-end.

Indians Open Series at Sox Park Today

Before venturing down east for another joust with the heavy end of the league Schalk's White Sox have a few duties to perform on their own lot. These include four games with the Cleveland Indians, the first of which happens this afternoon, and four with the St. Louis Browns, who just now are so close to second place that the highly touted Athletics have reason to worry.

Having scored six triumphs in nine starts during the visits to Cleveland and Detroit, Boss Schalk has restored himself to the status of a man able to smile occasionally. Good pitching and improved hitting made these successes possible, and the south side pilot believes the pleasing conditions will continue. If so, the team will not be long in putting itself far from eighth place, with which they have been rather intimate for the last few weeks.

Alex Metzler, the most consistent of Schalk's hitters, has reached the point where he is not bothered by the leg injury suffered a couple of weeks back, so may be inserted in the lineup immediately.

The pitching this afternoon probably will be handled by Ted Blankenship, who always is a tough fellow for the Tribe hitters.

CUBS TIE COLONELS

Louisville, Ky., June 27.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs and the Louisville club of the American association struggled to a 4 to 4 tie here today and their exhibition game was called at the end of the twelfth to allow the visitors to catch a train.

The National leaguers got to a trio of Louisville hurlers for 18 safeties, but contributed five errors to balance the count. Each team gathered two runs in the tenth. Score:

Chicago [N] ....001 001 000 200—4 8 5
Louisville [AA].001 001 000 200—4 7 0
Batteries — Carlson, Holley, Weinert and Hartnett. Gonzales; Moss, Grason, Austin and Meyer Thompson.

PIRATES BEAT DECATUR.

Decatur, Ill., June 27.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of the National league, stopped off here today en route from Chicago to St. Louis and defeated the Decatur Three Eye league club, 3 to 2. Lloyd Waner, with four hits, featured for the Pirates while the locals could do little with Leo Hase, a California recruit. Gill's triple, scoring Hickey, who had walked, and Pickering's home run past L. Waner, accounted for the two Decatur runs. The visitors used their regular lineup. Score:

Pittsburgh ....110 100 000—3 11 1
Decatur ....000 001 100—2 5 0
Batteries—Hase and Hemsley; Tesar and Linton.

FANS HONOR ROETTGER.

Bloomington, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]—The St. Louis Cardinals demonstrated fittingly here today the reason they are leading the National league by trimming the Bloomington Three Eyes team 8 to 4 in honor of "Roettger day."

"Wally" Roettger, Illinois graduate, who coached Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington last year, laid out a single and double for five times at bat. Chick Hafey hit a homer in the first inning with two men on base to give the Cards a good start.

A gold watch, knife and chain, and a bill fold containing a $100 Liberty bond were presented to Roettger by admirers before his first appearance at the plate.

BOY SCOUTS TENT IN OLD HAUNTS OF MOUND BUILDERS

Conclave Is Held in Their Honor at Dixon.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dixon, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]—With tents pitched in Assembly park, just above the city of Dixon, the Chicago Boy Scouts, who are making THE TRIBUNE canoe cruise to Rock Island, are spending another night in a setting which goes back several hundreds of years to the old days when the mound builders, the Sauks, Foxes, and Winnebagoes roamed Rock River valley. All through the camp site may be seen the conical and linear mounds erected by the redskins many decades ago.

Occupation of this tenting ground overlooking the Rock river marks the end of another day's paddle for the husky scouts who, fortified by an afternoon attack on two big watermelons, swung into the home port in fine style. With pup tents erected beneath the tall elms, oaks, and maples the boys are digging into their duffel bags for dress uniforms. Tonight is party night, so everybody is dressing up for the dinner which is being given the canoe cruisers by representatives of chamber of commerce, Gyro club, Kiwanis club, Boy Scouts, and other local organizations.

Visit Lowden Farm.

Putting the canoes in the river about one mile and a half below the Oregon dam this morning the expedition swung across the river to give a greeting to Sinissippi farm, the home of ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden. After a "Yea, Lowden!" with seven "rahs," the expedition moved down stream, winding in and out of densely wooded islands until Castle rock was reached. This high, rocky, limestone bluff, which rises some 80 or 90 feet above the river bank, was a magnet for all the boy photographers, so the expedition did thirty minutes of mountain climbing and photographing before resuming the paddle to Grand Detour, where lunch and watermelons were waiting for the hungry "navy."

So hospitable are residents of this river valley that the canoe cruisers have every minute ashore crowded with food and entertainment. Last night, before the tents were erected, three sunburned lads from Oregon rowed a scow to camp to invite their fellow scouts from Chicago to the scout meeting scheduled that evening. Before supper was over, residents of Oregon arrived with four cars to take the boys to the Black Hawk statue for a close-up view of this famous work of art and view the lovely Rock river valley at twilight. A visit also was made to the artists' colony above the statue.

Welcomed at Castle Rock.

Not content with writing welcome on the doormats, some of the residents along the route have installed welcome signs on the river. This morning near Castle rock the boys were given a laugh and a thrill when a red scow, topped by a large sign, was seen anchored in the middle of the stream. The legend on the sign read: "Welcome Tribune Canoeists" and firecrackers popped and guns roared as the scouts paddled by. As soon as the fireworks had ended the boys sent a "Yea, Castle Rock" yell back to the shore, and then headed for Grand Detour.

With all the scouts handling their canoes ably, with all the appetites batting 1000 per cent, and with blue sky and a warm sun overhead, the canoe cruisers could thoroughly enjoy the beautiful scenery between Oregon and Dixon. The Rock makes wide, sweeping curves past limestone bluffs, flows the next minute through rolling, deeply wooded hills, and then presents an inviting view of shady ravines and inviting camp spots.

Quebec Hockey Franchise Sold to Newark Sportsmen

QUEBEC, June 27.—(AP)—The Quebec franchise in the Canadian-American Hockey league has been sold to a group of Newark, N. J., sportsmen, it was announced today. Ten players and Manager Newsy Lalonde go with the franchise.

DOWNSTREAM WITH TRIBUNE CANOEISTS

Paddling a canoe down Rock river throughout the day is an effective way of developing a healthy appetite, as the Boy Scouts on The Tribune canoe cruise will testify. James McDonald, cook, and Robert Ellison, his assistant, serve heaping plates of food to the hungry paddlers in their overnight camp at Oregon, Ill. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Godfrey Bows to Risko in Primal Tilt

BY JACK FARRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 27.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland baker, Tom Heeney's alternate for the big shot with Gene Tunney this summer, was awarded the decision over George Godfrey, the Leiperville, Pa., Negro, at the end of a thrilling ten round session of mauling witnessed by 20,000 at Ebbets field, tonight. The Ohioan weighed 190½, Godfrey 235.

JOHNNY RISKO.

Most sharps at ringside agreed Godfrey had the better of five rounds, while the third was even and Risko had the second, eighth, ninth and final stanzas. Risko's strong finish, particularly his showing in the tenth, when he had the giant Negro holding often, undoubtedly led to the white man's getting the verdict.

It might be termed a spectacle of man's elemental battle with nature. Risko, strong, courageous, none too intelligent, was the man. Godfrey, outweighing his opponent 44½ pounds, was the massive, fearsome, sometimes almost inert personification of nature. As always, when he is brave and willing, the man overcame nature, mountainous, dark, and threatening, but always vulnerable.

Risko jabbed, hooked, grunted, threw all of his weight and all of his energy into every onslaught. Godfrey pawed, clutched, and lashed until the crowd whispered in a weak pity for the white terrier. But when he could not awe the comparative pygmy Godfrey inclined to fold up and surrender.

And so, officially at least, the myth of another black menace to white domination of pugilism was shattered.

Whatever the point score, Godfrey, as a heavyweight of first rank, faded out of the picture after putting on an offensive in the early rounds that threatened to give Gene Tunney an opportunity to restore himself to popularity and the promoters a real card to fight over.

Risko goes on to another meeting with that curious mixture of savagery and caution—Jack Sharkey—or, just possibly, that highly polished survival of man's age old struggle with nature—Tunney.

Risko prefers Tunney. On the radio after the fight, he said:

"Hello, mother, father, and folks; I just won the big fight, and I hope to meet Tunney in the next one."

PARE DEFEATS SEEDED STAR IN COLLEGE TENNIS

Haverford, Pa., June 27.—[Special.]—The process of inducting the eight designated favorites into their allotted brackets in the National Intercollegiate tennis championship was attended by two untoward developments today as the field was brought down to the quarter final round at the Merion Cricket club.

Ralph McElvenny of Stanford, and Gabriel Lavine of Pennsylvania, were the victims of the uprising. McElvenny fell before Emmett Pare of Georgetown, second ranking player in Chicago last year, at 6-3, 6-3, and Lavine yielded to Kenneth Appel of Princeton, at 6-3, 6-2.

The four other singles matches for the day saw the favorite come through each time without the loss of a set. There was not a deuce set during the entire afternoon's play in singles.

Julius Seligson of Lehigh took nine games in a row from the start of his match with Eugene McAuliff of Fordham to win at 6-0, 6-3.

Arlington $15,000 Purse Saturday Has 20 Starters

SIR HARRY K. O.'S BANK ROLLS AT ARLINGTON PARK

Runs Out of Money as Coast Horse Wins.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Alexander Pantages, a 3 year old, dropped from out of the skies or out of California and raced to an easy victory in the feature event at Arlington Park yesterday. In the mutuels, he was a long shot, paying $38.26, and he beat the Chicago filly Aleader, by four lengths. Former Senator Camdens' Flattery was third.

Struggling along, far out of it all the way, came Sir Harry, the even money choice in the betting, to finish fourth. When he finished fourth, the figure players let go a pitiful groan.

For, in addition to the fact that he figured much the best in this band and was getting all the better of it in the weights, the tip went out that Sir Harry would have to fall down to lose. Sir Harry didn't fall down, yet he lost. He was outrun all the way and so was Flattery, another that had been backed almost as stoutly.

Aleader Weakens in Stretch.

Aleader, a 20 to 1 shot, owned by J. H. Manheimer, outstepped the small field of 6 to the first turn and held to the lead until they hit the lower bend. Here she began to shorten her strides and the big crowd, enjoying a perfect racing day for the first time in almost a week, began to plead and shout for Sir Harry and Flattery to come on. But neither answered these calls.

And when they faltered, Jockey R. Jones came on with Alexander Pantages so strong that he whipped Aleader in mid stretch and went on to win by four lengths. Sir Harry had a rough journey. He was shuffled around on the first turn. He was pushed and shoved, going into the back stretch and when he started to run, he showed a great burst of speed, but ran himself out and had nothing left when he hit the stretch.

Despite the fair weather, the running strip was still deep in mud and only a fairly tough track performer was able to get to the front at any time. There were about 8,000 on hand to see the card run off.

Sandy Man Jolts Players.

Just before Sir Harry caused the figure players to lose everything but their shirts, Sandy Man also gave them a jolt. This weak hearted son of Uncle ran last in his small field of 5, never showing any liking for the going.

The winner was Luxembourg, and he paid $8.10 in the mutuels, a fine price when it is taken into consideration that this son of Luke McLuke never won a race except on just such a muddy track.

Jockey R. Doggett sent him to the front right at the beginning and held him there all the way, although Participate was right with him at the end and got second money. Golden Mac, showing a startling form reversal, was also right up there and claimed third money. Golden Mac's suddenly improved form was so noticeable that the stewards called Jockey Leyland into the stand and questioned him about it. They waved Leyland out and let the official placing stand.

Doggett's Nap Is Costly.

Jockey Doggett was in the limelight all afternoon. His mount, Climax, fell with him in the third race, and it looked like the lad had taken a bad spill, but he came right back and rode Luxembourg to victory. A little later in the afternoon, after he had the sixth race won on the long shot John J. S., he went sound asleep and let Oddfellow II. come up right at the finish line.

The Arlington racegoers will probably have much more confidence in the races after Starter Tex Dean is relieved from his duties. There have been three and four bad starts almost daily for the last week.

Fairmount Track Suspends Trainer of Slow Horse

Collinsville, Ill., June 27.—(AP)—Stewards of the Fairmount Jockey club, who have been investigating suspicious racing performances, today announced the suspension of Trainer J. Miller, owner of Scotland Forever, a horse which has been quitting. They recommended his license be revoked by the Illinois turf commission.

The stewards announced Miller had been suspended for "unbecoming conduct" and had been denied all privileges, including admission to the grounds.

ALDEN SWIFT'S 155 BEST SCORE AT BOB O' LINK

Leading a field of 260, many of them crack amateurs, Alden B. Swift, Glen View, romped in with a card of 76—79—155 to win the seventh annual "Hullabaloo" tournament of the Bob o' Link Golf club yesterday.

In winning the Hullabaloo event, one of the most popular invitational tournaments of the year, Swift negotiated Bob o' Link's lengthened course in excellent fashion. The course, normally 6,810 yards, yesterday was made about 7,000 yards in length by moving back the tees and numerous scratch and low handicaps predicted fast competition for entrants in the western amateur championships.

The prize winners follow:

LOW GROSS, 36 holes—A. B. Swift, Glen View, 76—79—155.

SECOND LOW GROSS, 36 holes—F. B. Blossom, Indian Hill, 82—77—159.

FIRST LOW NET, 36 holes—J. P. McGee, Bob o'Link, 189—32—147.

SECOND LOW NET, 36 holes — E. J. Whitte, Beverly, 185—36—149.

LOW NET, foursome, 36 holes—H. R. Curran, A. B. Schuttler, E. A. Maginnis, W. F. Chiniquy, all Bob o'Link members, 643 net.

LOW NET, first flight, 36 holes—T. C. Butz, Bob o'Link, 169—14—155.

Second flight—C. A. Greiner, Bob o'Link, 189—38—151.

Third flight—Orville Thompson, Exmoor, 211—54—157.

Low net partner, 36 holes—A. B. Swift, Glen View, and M. C. Meigs, Bob o' Link, 309.

LOW GROSS, 18 holes—Doug Casey, Riverside, 78.

LOW NET, 18 holes—George F. Murphy, Knollwood C. C., White Plains, N. Y., 97—26—71.

First flight—W. H. Whildes, Bob o'Link; S. E. Purdy, Illinois, 87—11—26.

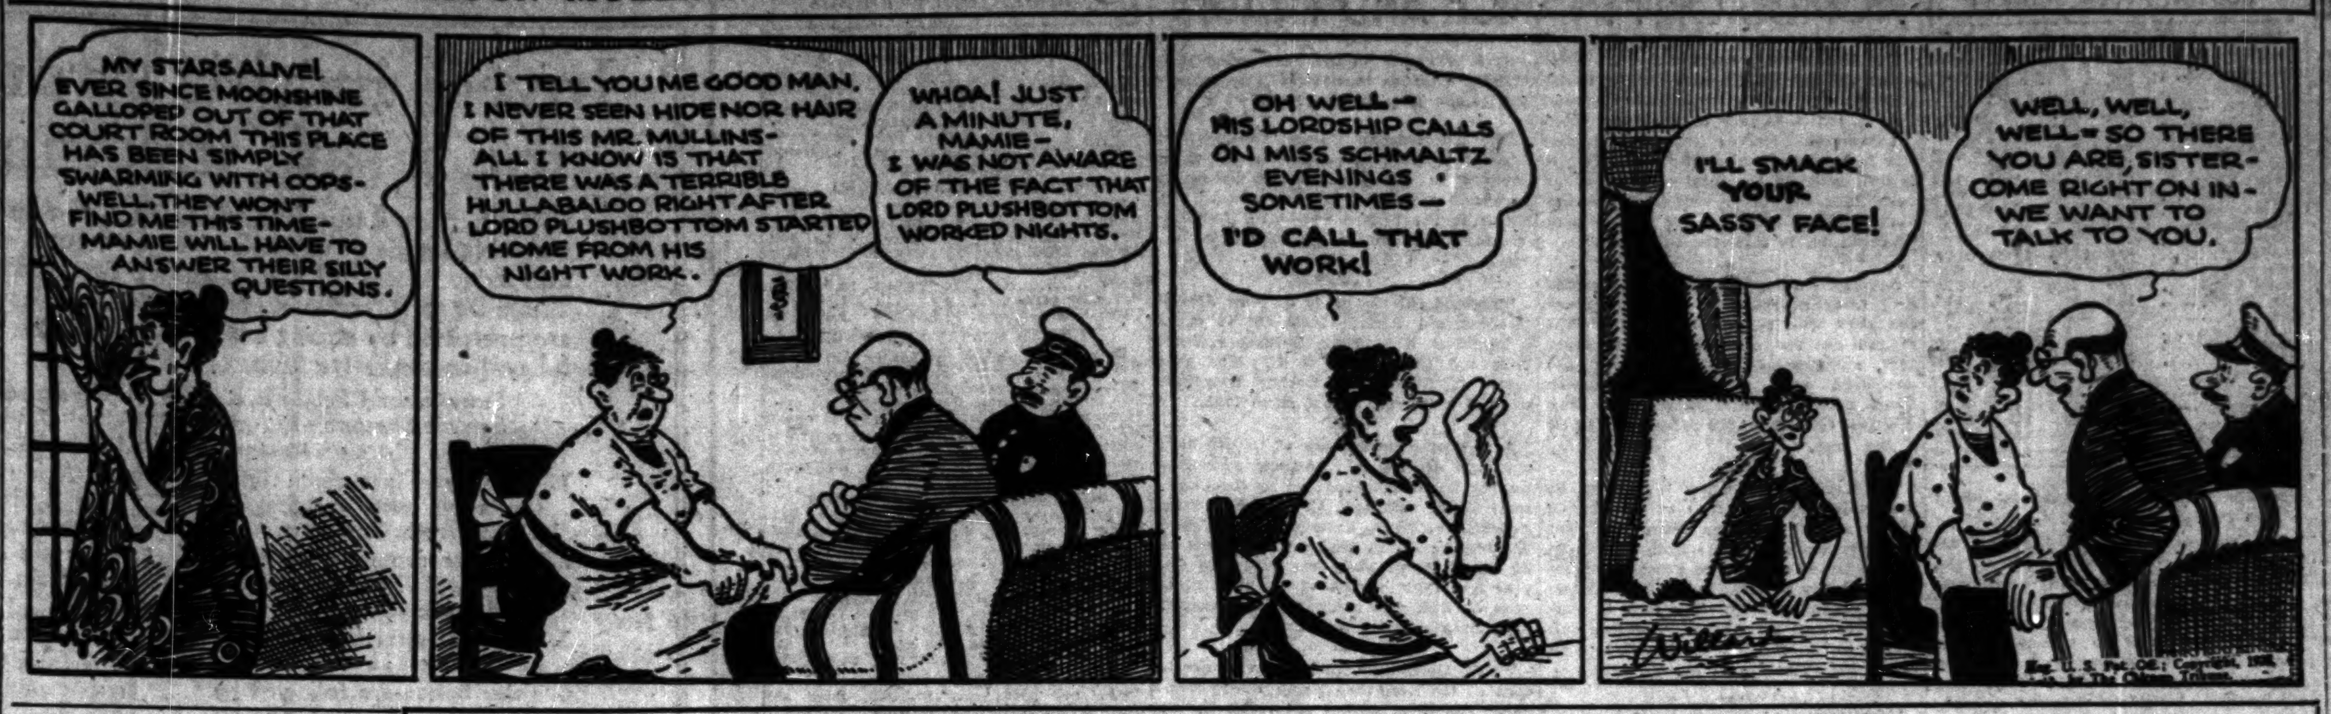
MOON MULLINS—THE POLICEMEN WILL PROTECT THE WORKING GIRL



MY STARS ALIVE! EVER SINCE MOONSHINE GALLOPED OUT OF THAT COURT ROOM THIS PLACE HAS BEEN SIMPLY SWARMING WITH COPS—WELL, THEY WON'T FIND ME THIS TIME—MAMIE WILL HAVE TO ANSWER THEIR SILLY QUESTIONS.
I TELL YOU ME GOOD MAN, I NEVER SEEN HIDE NOR HAIR OF THIS MR. MULLINS—ALL I KNOW IS THAT THERE WAS A TERRIBLE HULLABALOO RIGHT AFTER LORD PLUSHBOTTOM STARTED HOME FROM HIS NIGHT WORK.
WHOA! JUST A MINUTE, MAMIE—I WAS NOT AWARE OF THE FACT THAT LORD PLUSHBOTTOM WORKED NIGHTS.
OH WELL—HIS LORDSHIP CALLS ON MISS SCHMALTZ EVENINGS SOMETIMES—I'D CALL THAT WORK!
I'LL SMACK YOUR SASSY FACE!
WELL, WELL, WELL—SO THERE YOU ARE, SISTER—COME RIGHT ON IN—WE WANT TO TALK TO YOU.

RED SOX WIN PAIR

Boston, Mass., June 27.—(AP)—The Red Sox celebrated their return home today by taking both games of a double header from Washington, 4 to 1, and 11 to 4. In the first game the Senators made only four hits off Ruffing, and in the second Ed Morris held them to seven. Boston bombarded Burke and Lisenbee freely in the first contest and fell upon Zachary and Lisenbee with abandon in the second. Taitt made five hits in five times at bat in the second contest.

Manager Stanley Harris of Washington protested the first game on the ground that Boston failed to follow the batting order which had been given to the umpire before the game. Harris complained to Umpire George Hildebrand in the third inning, after Taitt, coming to bat for the second time, had knocked in the run which tied the score, 1 to 1. The Washington manager claimed that had the proper batting order been followed [illegible] would have been at bat instead of Taitt.

Phillies Lose 4th Straight to Giants, 11-8

New York, June 27.—(AP)—The Giants won their fourth straight game from the Phillies as the scene shifted to the Polo grounds today. The score was 11 to 8. Four Philadelphia pitchers were touched for twelve hits, including home runs by Andy Cohen and Mel Ott. Schulte and Lerian hit for the circuit for the Phils.

Lerian's homer came with two on in the eighth and tied the score. The Phils later in the same inning took a one run lead on singles by Southern and Hurst, but the Giants won out in their own half with a smashing rally for four runs. Score:

U. S. Hopes in Olympics Best Since 1912

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

For the first time since 1912, the United States will be represented by runners who should come close to winning the 400 and 800 meters run in the Olympic games in Amsterdam, Holland, next month. Just who these runners will be is to be decided in the U. S. Olympic tryouts at Harvard Memorial stadium, Cambridge, Mass., July 6 and 7.

In the 1912 world's games held at Stockholm, Sweden, C. D. Reidpath of the United States won the 400 meters run and J. E. "Ted" Meredith of this country was the victor in the 800 meter event. In winning his specialty, Meredith hung up an Olympic record of 1:51 9-10.

On only one occasion has the same runner won the two events at the same Olympiad. Back in 1906, Paul Pilgrim, the present coach of the New York A. C. team, won both races at Athens, Greece.

Another American, however, is eager to win two events. This athlete is none other than Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A. and just about America's best representative in the 800 and 1,500 meter runs. Just the other day Hahn stated his ambition is to win the two races so that he can hang up the spiked shoes and devote the remainder of his life to business interests.

Conger, Gist May Make Team.

Ray Conger of the I. A. C., who defeated Pelzer in a four cornered race in Chicago last winter, is another runner expected to be a member of the American Olympic team. Ray won the 800 meter event in the trials at Iowa City, Ia., recently in 1:58 3-10. This is slow time compared with that of Hahn, but the I. A. C. athlete did not extend himself.

Sam Martin of the Boston A. A., who finished six yards behind Hahn when the latter smashed the American record, is another possibility for the event. Virgil Gist of Chicago, who won the 880 yard run in the National Collegiate A. A. in 1:54 4-10, also may be among the first four in the final race at the Harvard stadium.

Among others who have chances of making the American team in this event are Martin of Purdue, Hal White of Illinois, Thelan of Missouri, Edwards of New York university, Bell McGeah, the California schoolboy, Earl Fuller and Jimmy Charteris of Washington, Sam Martin of Dartmouth, Gerald Chapman and Maxwell Wakely of Bates, Hopper of Southern Methodist, Bagwell of Texas Teachers, Joe Tierney and George Leness of the New York A. C., Jack Burton of the Rocky mountain district, Johnny Sittig of the C. A. A., and Orlovich of Illinois.

Spencer Should Win.

If he shows the same speed as he did at the national collegiate meet in Chicago, Emerson Spencer of Stanford should be the victor in the 400 meter event at Harvard. The Cardinal athlete won the event in Chicago in :47 7-10 after running clear around the field to challenge Russell Walter of Northwestern in the last 100 yards on the back stretch.

Walter is expected to give the Stanford athlete another great race. The Purple star has performed consistently all year. He is working every day at Northwestern under the coaching of Frank Hill, who says Russell is in splendid shape. Baird of Iowa did :47 9-10 for 400 meters in the trials at Iowa City recently. The Hawkeye will make a strong bid for one of the eight places in this event.

Barbuti of Syracuse, who took the quarter mile in the eastern intercollegiate in :48 8-10, is a strong possibility. Victor Williams of Los Angeles, with a mark of :48 4-5 for 400 meters, should be among the first eight to be chosen. Snider of Alabama Poly, who was third in the quarter mile at the national meet in Chicago, must be figured.

Among the other possibilities are Barbuti of Syracuse, Victor Williams of Los Angeles, Snider of Alabama Poly, Oestreich of Gustavus Adolphus, Herman Phillips of the I. A. C., Frank Burns of Holy Cross, R. F. Atkins of New Hampshire, Fitch of the C. A. A., Greer of Rice institute, Kontz of Georgia Tech, and Joe Tierney of the New York A. C.

CHAMPION LOSES IN 2D ROUND OF DES MOINES GOLF

Des Moines, Ia., June 27.—(AP)—The trans-Mississippi golf champion, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, was dethroned in his second round match today by Arthur Bartlett of Ottumwa. Bartlett's margin was 3 and 1 after the Omaha lad had squared affairs by shooting an eagle 3 on the 523 yard 13th.

Jimmie Manion, the only former titleholder left among the eight men still in the running, had no difficulty in reaching the third round.

U. S. Offers Cause Breakup of Famous Soccer Team

VIENNA, June 27.—[Jewish Telegraph Agency.]—The Jewish soccer team, Hakoah, has given up its membership in the Austrian Football league and has dissolved as a professional team. The club will continue as an amateur organization.

The great aggregation, which won several championships, was split up after its American tour, and efforts to reëngage the stars who stayed in the United States failed because none of the local Austrian teams could compete with the American offers.

Dave Shade Matched to Box Bert Colima Here July 9

Promoter Mique Malloy yesterday matched Dave Shade and Bert Colima for the windup of his boxing show at the Midway Gardens on July 9. Shade is being groomed for a title match with Mickey Walker for the world's middleweight championship. The local promoter also announced that the card of fights scheduled for the Midway Gardens last Monday night will be put on at the same place on Monday night.

Cooley Leads Qualifiers in State Tourney

Tom Cooley of Kankakee, who seems to like the Columbus Park golf course since he set a course record of 63 over it last year, was medalist in the qualifying round of the Illinois State amateur championship which began at Columbus park yesterday. Cooley took 38 shots in his first tour of the nine hole course but cut that five shots, even par, over the 2,602 yards on the second round, for 71.

Gibson Dunlap of Maywood, champion of the University of Southern California, and Herman Fell of Evanston Community, were next in line with 72's each having two rounds of 36. H. J. Foley Jr. of Edgebrook and Charles Schrader of Jackson park, had 73's and from there the scores ran up to 99.

The course was in unusually poor condition, the fairways high in grass and dandelions so it was hard to get under the ball and the greens were bumpy. One chap even putted with a spoon and several tried midirons.

George Thomas Jr. of Flossmoor, who won the championship the last two years, was exempt from qualifying but will not defend his championship. Bill Wallace, runnerup last year, took 45 blows on the first nine and 39 on the second, and failed to qualify for the first time in four years. His 84 was half a dozen shots too many to put him in the championship bracket.

Thirty-two of the 178 who teed off qualified for match play which will begin this morning, with eighteen hole rounds today and tomorrow and the 36 final Saturday. The championship flight, with qualifying scores:

CHAMPIONSHIP.

Women's Park Golf Leaders Maintain Pace

Most of the favorites in the women's city public parks championship came through in the second round at Marquette park yesterday, chiefly to easy victories, although a few of the matches were close struggles.

Mrs. Lillian Zech of Edgebrook won from Mrs. F. McDyer of the same club, 3 and 2, after Mrs. Zech three times had taken the lead and Mrs. McDyer three times had squared it. Mrs. Zech won the first, lost the second, won the third and lost the fourth. She turned two up by winning the eighth and ninth, the last with a two, but lost the eleventh and twelfth, so the match again was square. Then she braced and won the next three holes and the match.

Mrs. M. King of Marquette and Miss Grace Saunders of Marquette played nearly as close a match. They were square at the turn, but Mrs. King won the next three holes and ended the match by winning the sixteenth.

CHAMPIONSHIP.

Mrs. F. S. Fitz-Gibbon, Jackson, defeated Mrs. R. Gibson, Jackson, 3 and 1; Mrs. Loring Aldrich, Marquette, defeated Mrs. Dorothy Marshall, Marquette, 3 and 2; Mrs. Mary A. King, Marquette, defeated Miss Grace Saunders, Marquette, 4 and 3; Mrs. Rose Marshall, Marquette, defeated Mrs. Grace Leiferman, Marquette, 4 and 3; Mrs. O. C. Horn, Marquette, defeated Mrs. R. M. Stowers, Edgebrook, 4 and 2; Mrs. J. Schick, Marquette, defeated Mrs. Flo Jacobs, Jackson, 4 and 3; Mrs. Lillian M. Zech, Edgebrook, defeated Mrs. F. McDyer, Edgebrook, 3 and 2; Mrs. F. Feistkorn, Jackson, defeated Mrs. Thomas C. Duer, Edgebrook, 3 and 1.

Tigers Again Win College Golf Crown

Rye, N. Y., June 27.—(AP)—Princeton's golfers drove, pitched and putted their way to their second successive intercollegiate golf team championship at the Apawamis club today, but a fighting Georgetown aggregation which placed second produced the individual hero of the day.

Young Maurice McCarthy Jr., of Brooklyn, a sophomore at Georgetown, won medalist honors with a margin of three strokes over his nearest rival by getting a par 72 which with his 75 of yesterday made a total of 147 for the 36 holes of medal play.

McCarthy equaled the course record for the second time in the two days of the tournament. William P. Youngs, slim Princeton senior, who made it in 72 yesterday, needed eight strokes more for today's round, but even at that was runnerup to McCarthy for the best two day showing with a total of 150.

This was the lowest score turned in by any of Princeton's winning combination but the Tiger team was well balanced and the next three came home in a blanket finish with a 151 by C. B. Grace, 152 by John B. Stevens, and a 155 by John D. Ames. The total of these was 608 and it was enough to beat Georgetown by the impressive margin of 19 strokes, with Yale a comparatively close third.

Here is the way the teams finished in back of Princeton: Georgetown, 627; Yale, 633; Ohio State, 647; Union, 648; Harvard and Pennsylvania [tie], 652; Dartmouth, 655; Penn State, 681; University of Washington, 686; and Colgate, 690.

TWIRLS NO HIT GAME.

The American Giants split even in a double bill with the Birmingham Black Barons, winning the first game, 3 to 2 in ten innings, and losing the second, 6 to 0, when Poindexter held them to no hits and no runs in seven innings.

STOCK EXCHANGE HEAD SEES PERIL IN TRADING CURB

BY O. A. MATHER.

Excessive speculation in securities will correct itself without governmental interference, and any attempt to restrict stock market credit by artificial means may prove a blow at business and industry. These warnings were sounded yesterday by E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock exchange, in an address before the annual convention of the Wisconsin Bankers' association in Milwaukee.

"The stock exchange makes every effort to establish and maintain free and open markets for its listed securities—markets in which the power of public buying and selling is readily and immediately felt," Mr. Simmons said. "But it is not the province of the stock exchange to concern itself with movements in security prices as such.

Public Opinion Best Guide.

"Public opinion must in the long run be depended on to regulate the levels at which security prices stand at any particular time. The New York stock exchange is firmly of the belief that unusual price movements or waves of speculation have a way of adjusting themselves without the intervention either of the stock exchange or other artificial regulation.

"One of the most controversial aspects in recent months has consisted in the so-called brokers' loans. These loans have increased largely during the last year and the fear has frequently been expressed that they were becoming entirely too large. But the size of brokers' loans is bound to be a relative question and there is no dependable yardstick by which to measure them.

Increased Loans Inevitable.

"We have seen an unparalleled volume of new security issues created and offered to our investing public in recent years and likewise unparalleled amounts of American capital constantly invading our security markets seeking investment. Brokers' loans have thus risen along with turnover and new security offerings made in every financial center of the country.

"We talk of American industrial prosperity being based on mass production. We also realise that mass production demands tremendous initial outlays of capital and large corporate units. But we sometimes fail to remember that financing all this makes large loans on security collateral inevitable. To wipe out brokers' loans, or violently and arbitrarily to reduce them, would inevitably slow up American industry itself, if not fatally halt its continued progress.

Steel Export Association Grows.

The newly organized Steel Export association of America will include nearly, if not all producing companies interested in exporting, the Iron Age says in its weekly review. Its purpose is to secure export price stabilization, to combat foreign coöperative buying and indirectly to develop favorable areas for exports and at the same time to strengthen world price levels.

It was reported yesterday that James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, has acted on behalf of the American steel industry in formulating an agreement with European steel interests looking to international regulation of steel distribution.

"Steel consumption is holding up better than had been expected," the Iron Age also says. "Both specifications and new orders call for quick delivery, indicating that steel is being placed for actual requirements. The volume of mill bookings and the rate of production leave little to be desired, considering the season."

TOPICS OF FINANCE AND TRADE

The banks are preparing for the flood of dividends and interest checks to be distributed by corporations around July 1, which is now expected to break all records. Earlier estimates placed the figure at about $600,000,000, but it is now believed the total will be nearer one billion dollars. A call from the controller of the currency for a statement of condition is expected this week.

Aggregate net operating income of the first forty railroads to report earnings for May was $48,614,000, against $46,872,000 for the same number in May, 1927, an increase of 3.7 per cent and compared with $39,633,000 in April. Gross revenues for these roads in May declined to $282,754,000 from $284,966,000 a year ago.

The Texas Corporation is said to be inquiring for 55,000 tons of pipe for a major trunk pipe line from the west Texas producing area to Houston, where it will connect with the present system and probably be extended to Port Arthur to its main refinery. The cost is estimated around $12,000,000. The line will be 470 miles long and is expected to be ready for operation in March, 1929.

Negotiations of new terms for transferring to the Chesapeake and Ohio railway the 174,900 shares of common stock of the Pere Marquette, now owned by the New York, Chicago, and St. Louis (Nickel Plate), will be undertaken soon if the present plans of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen are carried out.

Total corporate maturities for July, though greater than for the preceding month, are considerably less than for July a year ago. Railroad, public utility, and industrial bonds and notes maturing in July, 1928, aggregate $75,055,150, compared with $63,140,790 in June and $120,370,800 in July, 1927. In addition to corporate issues only one small foreign government loan will mature in July, making the total corporate and government issues $75,955,150, against $92,793,190 in June and $129,095,800 in July, 1927.

Holders of common and preferred stock of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey may subscribe to a new issue of 285,887 shares of $5 cumulative preferred at $98 a share, one share for each twenty of common or preferred held, on July 6. Surplus for the year ended May 31 after charges was $16,867,195, against $12,609,868 a year ago.

The Photomaton Parent Corporation, Ltd. of London, has bought a one-third interest in the Photomaton Operating corporation, New York, owners of the rights in the United States of the Photomaton Automatic Photographic device.

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has reduced Bunker Fuel Oil 10 cents a barrel at New York, Baltimore, Norfolk and Charleston, S. C. The new price at New York harbor terminals is $1.15 a barrel, lowest since 1922.

A minimum production of 100,000 cars a month during July, August and September has been scheduled by the Chevrolet Motor company, Charles F. Barth, general manager, announced. He said the buying slump that ordinarly comes at this time of year has failed to appear and that in view of the good business outlook the company has decided to maintain heavy production.

W. H. Gerhauser, formerly vice president of the American Shipbuilding company, has been elected president, G. W. Potterell was elected vice president to succeed Mr. Gerhauser, and R. B. Ackerman was made acting secretary.

La Salle street heard yesterday that Pines Winterfront is entering the radio field. It is understood that the company has adopted the shutter principle used on automobile radiators to control volume of radio loud speakers automatically and will market the new device in the near future.

Atlas Powder company has acquired all outstanding stock of the Duratex Corporation of Newark, N. J., manufacturers of pyroxlin and rubber coated fabrics, through its subsidiary, Richards & Co., Inc.

City Ice and Fuel company has acquired substantially all of the class "B" common stock and the majority of class "A" common stock of the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel company of St. Louis.

Bituminous coal production in the week ended June 23 increased to 8,360,000 net tons from 8,335,000 the week before, the National Coal association reports.

The following information is summarized by Mr. T. O. Moloney, President of the Company:

Business: The business of the Moloney Electric Company comprises the manufacture of transformers for electric light and power purposes. It numbers among its customers most of the large holding public utility corporations of the United States as well as numerous smaller users. The Company is situated in a large, new, modern plant located on Kingshighway Northwest near Union Avenue in St. Louis.

This plant will enable the Company to make larger transformers for central station service, a field of the business heretofore not entered into due to lack of facilities. The products of the Company are marketed all over the United States and are also shipped to a great many foreign countries. Sales offices are maintained in 14 principal cities throughout the United States.

Earnings: Net earnings for the 5 years ended December 31, 1927 (including earnings of the subsidiary company for the years 1926 and 1927), after allowing for interest on $1,500,000 5½% Debentures presently to be outstanding, and after Federal Income Tax at the rate of 12% per annum, averaged $503,550 per annum, equal to $12.58 per share of this Class "A" Stock presently to be outstanding. For the year ended December 31, 1927, such earnings amounted to $339,435, or $8.48 per share, this drop from the average being due, in great measure, to the fact that the Company moved to the new plant during the year. The Company has never had an unprofitable year since it was founded in 1897.

Assets: Pro Forma Balance Sheet, based upon the accounts of the Company and its subsidiary, as audited by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, as at December 31, 1927, adjusted to give effect to the recapitalization, liquidation of the subsidiary and acquisition of its assets, issuance of $1,500,000 5½% Sinking Fund Gold Debentures, retirement of $380,000 First Mortgage 6% Serial Gold Bonds of the subsidiary, and retirement of $1,000,000 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock of Moloney Electric Company, shows current assets of $2,211,213 against current liabilities of $500,912, or a ratio of more than 4.41 to 1.

Management: The Company will be managed by Messrs. T. O. Moloney and J. J. Muller, who have been responsible for its success in the past.

Dividends: The Directors of the Company have signified their intention of paying dividends at the rate of $4.00 per annum on the Class "A" Stock.

The bankers may, if they deem it expedient, deliver stock of a new company organized under the laws of the State of Missouri or of any other state, such company to acquire all the assets of the Moloney Electric Company, the capitalization, name and other features of such company to be as stated in this advertisement.

This stock is offered strictly subject to allotment when, as and if issued and received by us. * * Interim Receipts of the Bankers covering such allotment, if any be issued, exchangeable for Class "A" Stock certificates of the Company when, as and if issued and received by us. * * All legal details in connection with this issue will be subject to the approval of Messrs. Business, Territory Served and Property: Western Utilities Corporation, incorporated in Delaware in 1928, will furnish, through operating properties all in the State of California, public utility service in 23 cities or towns within the immediate vicinity of Los Angeles and San Diego and surrounding territories, having a combined area of over 3,000 square miles and an estimated population in excess of 115,000.

Water service will be furnished in the territory adjacent to San Diego including the cities of Coronado, National City and Chula Vista and a portion of the city of San Diego. Water is impounded in the Sweetwater reservoir formed by a dam 700 feet long and 90 feet high across the Sweetwater River. This reservoir has a capacity of over 10,000,000,000 gallons and water is supplied to over 7,000 customers. Telephone service is furnished to an area of 2,392 square miles in the suburban district of Los Angeles, including the cities of Redlands, Monrovia, Sierra Madre and San Fernando. The sources of net revenue of the properties of the Corporation are reported as follows: water service, 60.5%; telephone service, 39.5%. The Corporation has a compact operating system because of the adjacent location of the properties. The territory served by the Corporation is one of the most rapidly growing areas in the United States, as readily shown by an increase in water customers of over 74% and in telephone customers of over 70% during a period of the last six years.

Security: These Bonds will constitute, in the opinion of counsel, a first lien, through deposit and pledge with the Trustee, of the capital stocks of the constituent operating companies, and at the time of the issuance of these bonds all the securities of such operating companies shall have been either deposited or pledged hereunder, or cash deposited with the Trustee for the retirement by redemption or the purchase of securities not so deposited, except one million dollars of divisional bonds. No securities may be issued upon any of the operating properties unless pledged under the trust indenture. The operating properties to be owned upon completion of this financing have been appraised by The Loveland Engineers, Inc., at a net depreciated value in excess of $6,250,000, or over twice the principal amount of bonds to be outstanding.

Earnings: Consolidated earnings of the properties to be owned upon completion of this financing for the twelve months ended April 30, 1928, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., were as follows:

Gross Earnings	$706,899.78
Operating Expenses, including maintenance and taxes other than income taxes but excluding depreciation	367,129.48
Net Earnings	$339,770.30
Annual Bond Interest	159,500.00
Balance	$180,270.30

The net earnings as shown above equal over 2.13 times the annual interest requirements on all bonds to be outstanding.

Sinking Fund: A sinking fund is provided (to be applied semi-annually commencing June 1, 1929) equal to one per cent per annum of the highest principal amount of bonds of the 5½% Series of 1928 theretofore issued, to be applied to the purchase of such bonds at not exceeding the call price at the time in effect, or to the redemption thereof, and to the extent not so applied, in respect of betterments or additions to operating properties not theretofore used, or thereafter usable, as a basis for issue of bonds. All bonds purchased or redeemed shall be cancelled and not reissued.

Price 98.50 and accrued interest, to yield about 5.62%

Western Utilities Corporation

3-Year 5½% Gold Notes

Dated June 1, 1928 Due June 1, 1931

Mr. Charles deY. Elkus, President of Western Utilities Corporation, summarizes his letter as follows:

Indenture Restrictions: These Notes will be, in the opinion of counsel, the direct obligation of the Corporation and will be subject only to the first lien collateral trust sinking fund gold bonds and divisional bonds outstanding. The Indenture will provide that no additional secured or unsecured funded debt (other than first lien collateral trust gold bonds) may be issued unless consolidated net earnings (as defined in the Indenture) for twelve consecutive months out of the preceding fifteen months, shall equal one and one-half times the annual interest charges on all funded debt outstanding and to be issued.

Security: The operating properties have been appraised by The Loveland Engineers, Inc., at a net depreciated value substantially in excess of the total funded debt presently to be outstanding, including this issue.

Earnings: Consolidated earnings of the properties to be owned upon completion of this financing for the twelve months ended April 30, 1928, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., were as follows:

Gross Earnings	$706,899.78
Operating Expenses, including maintenance and taxes other than income taxes but excluding depreciation	367,129.48
Net Earnings	$339,770.30
Annual Bond Interest	159,500.00
Balance	$180,270.30
Annual Interest on this issue	57,750.00

The net earnings as shown above, after deducting annual bond interest charges, equal over 3.12 times the annual interest charges on this issue.

Price 99 and accrued interest, to yield about 5.87%

Purpose of Financing

The proceeds derived from the sale of these Bonds and Notes will be used for the acquisition of securities, the retirement of certain securities now outstanding and for other corporate purposes.

THESE BONDS AND NOTES ARE LISTED ON THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE

These Bonds and Notes are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of our counsel. All legal proceedings will be passed upon by Messrs. The history of the dark coöperatives is perfect illustra- of this. Occasional successes at- by these organizations were by the ruthless application of labor union tactics—the old an stuff.

ould not be surprised if the future of agrarian coöperatives would see a good deal of that.

A Kansas observer writes this column. "The anomaly of farm economics is that the prices of farm products are higher than they were 15 years ago, while land prices are low. This is because the labor content of farm products is a much higher share of the whole price than formerly. The rise in labor prices is due to immigration restriction and the tariff. If the tariff is lowered the labor content of farm prices would be lowered and farm land values increased. But this would be at the expense of labor. The farmer who performs labor himself, and most of them do, must decide whether to take lower valuation for the labor portion of his farm products as the cost of having his farm land prices increased, or whether to leave things as they now are."

In other words the farmer is being made more of a laborer, less of a capitalist—and will acquire the labor psychology. That is why the real conservative is anxious to give the farmer some equivalent of tariff protection—but the short sighted industrialist and financier are unable to see that—nor to envision the peril of proletarianizing the farmer.

On the other hand the low tariff advocate, now as always, is jealous of modern large scale industry—and a reactionary from the technical and engineering standpoint.

$30,000,000 Central Life Suit to Be Started Today

Des Moines, Ia., June 27.—(AP)—Validity of the transaction whereby the Central Life Assurance society, a stock company, became a mutual company in 1919, is questioned and control of $30,000,000 in assets is involved in a suit to be tried in Polk county District court here tomorrow.

Clyde R. Parks, a policy holder, seeks return to the company of $1,782,929.41, which he says was received by stockholders of the old company in return for surrender of their stock under a contract made at the time the company was converted into a mutual society. He seeks also an injunction restraining the society from paying $1,000,000 additional under the contract. The payments, the plaintiff says, are being made from earnings of non-participating policies. As a basis of the suit Parks asserts that the officers of the old and new societies are identical and had no right to enter into a contract with themselves to share in non-participating business earnings.

International Paper Co. Reorganization Approved

New York, June 27.—(AP)—A plan of reorganization of the International Paper company, approved by the directors, which will make the concern one of the most important factors in the public utility field in New England and Canada, was mailed to stockholders today. The plan provides for the exchange of the company's stock for shares in a new corporation, to be called the International Paper and Power company. The new concern will be constituted as a Massachusetts trust, and will acquire for cash from the New England Hydro-Electric company all the latter's holding of New England Power association common stock, amounting to 48 per cent. The paper company already holds 45 per cent.

Barnet L. Rosset Heads Devon Trust and Savings

Barnet L. Rosset, chairman of the board of the Ogden National bank, who, with his associates, recently obtained control of the Devon Trust and Savings bank, yesterday was elected president of the Devon bank as well as a director. Rollin M. Coleman was elected vice president and director and Max Woldenberg and R. L. Schutier were elected directors. Charles V. Wellner, former president, was made chairman of the board.

Increases of $200,000 each in the capitalization and the surplus account of the Hyde Park State bank were approved by stockholders yesterday. The new stock will be offered to stockholders on the basis of two-thirds of a share for each share now held.

Associated Gas and Electric System

To the Holders of Associated Electric Company Convertible Gold Bonds 5½% Series, due 1946:

The unretired portion of the original issue of $65,000,000 of these Bonds has now been called. Final notice of the call has been widely published and sent to all holders.

$10,000,000 of these Bonds were called for payment on May 1st. Though nearly two months have elapsed $650,000 have not yet been presented for payment.

The holders are suffering a daily loss of interest arising from their failure to present them for the redemption price. We suggest you immediately check the numbers of your Bonds with your investment security dealer or with us and ascertain whether any of the Bonds which you still hold are among the called Bonds on which interest has ceased. Or, better still, immediately send in your Bonds for exchange or payment.

Your attention is called to the exchanges that may not have come to your attention and which are open to all bondholders. You may, if you choose, receive Associated Gas and Electric 4½% Convertible Gold Debentures due in 1948 with Detachable Stock Purchase Warrants at the market (based on the preceding day) in exchange for your Bonds at the redemption price, 105, or $1,050 Convertible 6% Debenture Obligations for each $1,000 bond with adjustment for accrued interest to July 1.

For further particulars and descriptive circulars consult your regular investment security dealer or Associated Gas and Electric Securities Company, Inc., 61 Broadway, New York City.

Bonds may now be deposited for exchange with full interest adjustment to date of deposit or redemption in cash at the call price with interest to date of deposit or date of call, whichever is the earlier, at the Chase National Bank of the City of New York, 57 Broadway, or the National Bank of Commerce in New York, 31 Nassau Street. On or after July 1, bonds may be deposited with either bank for exchange, but bonds to be redeemed for cash should be presented only at the latter bank.

Chicago Apparatus Company

An Illinois Corporation

7% Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock

Carrying Full Voting Privileges
Dividends Free From Present Federal Normal Income Tax
Exempt from Personal Property Taxes in Illinois

CUMULATIVE AND PARTICIPATING PROVISIONS

After the holders of the 7% Cumulative Participating Preferred stock have received their regular dividends, they shall be entitled to share equally with the common stockholders the available surplus or net profits after the common stockholders have received a dividend of $3.00 per share in any calendar year. All dividends are payable quarterly.

The following has been summarized by Mr. M. C. Stoelting, President of Chicago Apparatus Company, from his letter to us:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: The business was founded in the year 1908 and later, on March 10, 1909, was incorporated as an Illinois Corporation under the name of "Chicago Apparatus Company" with a capital stock of $10,000. Since that date, the Company has enjoyed a consistent growth until it now occupies the position of one of the largest manufacturers, importers, jobbers, and distributors of Scientific Instruments, Laboratory Supplies and Chemicals for use in Physical, Chemical, Research, Biological, Agricultural, Manufacturing and other Laboratories. Its products are known throughout the world under their trade name "Milvay." Over 90% of the representative Universities, Colleges, High Schools and other Institutions engaged in Scientific Laboratory Work are among the users of Milvay Products. The Universities supplied include Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Illinois, Chicago, Northwestern and many others; also Educational Institutions in the Philippines, Hawaii, China, Russia, Cuba and Canada. Among the representative Commercial Customers are Swift & Co., Western Electric Co., National Oxygen Co., and Proctor and Gamble.

PLANT: The Company's Plant and Laboratory is located at 1735-43 N. Ashland Avenue, Chicago, occupying a five-story building comprising approximately 40,000 square feet of floor space.

EARNINGS: The average earnings for the past four years before Federal taxes, as certified to by George V. Rountree & Co., Certified Public Accountants, are 21.2% on the average invested capital. For the year 1927 the earnings amounted to 29% on the capital invested.

The favorable liquid position of the Company is indicated by the ratio of Current Assets to Current Liabilities being more than 4 to 1, which condition has prevailed over a period of years. The Company's ability to continue to pay dividends is evidenced by the fact that dividends of 10% annually have been paid to preferred stockholders for the past sixteen years.

MANAGEMENT: Mr. M. C. Stoelting and Mr. C. A. Bengston, who have been in active charge of the Company's business together with the same personnel which has been responsible for the successful development and growth of the Company, will continue to direct and manage its affairs.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of this Issue will be used for the expansion of the business and the adoption and distribution of kindred lines of merchandise pertinent to our business.

All legal matters in connection with the issuance of these securities have been passed upon by Loucks, Eckert & Peterson of Chicago as counsel for the Company and by Bussian & Debolt as counsel for the Bankers.

Audits by George V. Rountree & Co., Certified Public Accountants.

He brings you health and comfort. His broad shoulders bear to you one of the most necessary and one of the most carefully prepared of all the commodities which enter your home. The business he represents stands ninth among the nation's industries. Yet, for all of its benefits, you pay but a few cents a day.

Have you thought that, because of your own dependence on refrigeration, "everybody" uses ice? Consider, then, that there are even today 17,000,000 American families which have no home refrigeration at all. What a field for expansion this offers the ice companies, entirely aside from the normal growth due to increased population! As an investor you should give careful consideration to Manufactured Ice Company bonds. Many are doing so, and investing in them to their complete satisfaction.

WHEAT IS HEAVY, CLOSING LOWER ON FREE SELLING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat market showed a heavy undertone yesterday, and despite further rains in Kansas and Oklahoma selling orders appeared on all the hard spots with the finish about the bottom with net losses of ⅝@1c, weakness in July at Winnipeg having considerable influence toward the last. Corn was unsettled with July ½c higher, September unchanged, and December ⅝c lower. Oats finished ¼@⅜c lower, and rye unchanged to 1⅛c lower.

Outside interest in the wheat market was small, and while there was a slightly higher range early on the unfavorable weather reports from the southwest, the market gradually weakened under pressure from the northwest, and many of the local operators went out of their lines on the way down, the heaviness in Winnipeg undermining confidence. Winnipeg closed ⅝@1½c lower, with July leading, and the latter was ⅞c under Chicago at the last.

Await New Influences.

Wheat traders, as a rule, are inclined to await the development of new influences before taking a decided stand on either side of the market, and the favorable crop comments and bearish old crop situation in the Canadian northwest for the time being offsets the wet harvest in the southwest. However, some wheat is being cut in Kansas and Nebraska, and Enid, Oklahoma, Wichita, and Hutchinson, Kas., received over 200 cars of new wheat during the day. Export demand was slow, although Liverpool reported a better continental demand and closed ⅛@⅜d higher.

Corn market held within a range of 1@1⅛c, with the old crop months showing a firm undertone, due to scattered buying, while the December was easier on excellent weather conditions for the new crop, and the forecast indicated normal summer temperatures were to prevail with further showers. Spot basis was steady to 1c lower, with No. 3 mixed about on a delivery basis, and 100,000 bu were sold to go to store.

Oat Reports Better.

Crop reports on oats were somewhat more favorable, and the outlook in Iowa is much better than anticipated earlier in the season, while in southern Indiana the crop is almost ready for harvest. Trade in futures was featureless. Evening up was under way in July rye, and prices held within narrow limits, while the September was easier in sympathy with wheat. Export demand slow.

FAIR TRADE IN LARD

Lard prices averaged higher with a fair trade, a good part of which was in changing contracts from July to September and October, the July also being sold freely outright and closing unchanged. Other futures were well supported and closed 2½@5c higher. Liverpool lard was 6@9d higher and export clearances 183,840 lbs.

Trade in bellies was fair and they closed 10@12½c higher, while ribs received little attention and closed unchanged. Cash trade was fair in pickled and green meats, but dry salted was slow. Exports were 117,500 lbs of bacon.

Hog slaughtering in the west for the season to date aggregates 11,395,100 against 11,037,700 last year, as given by the Grain World. Prices follow:

FOREIGN CROPS

"Rains in southeastern Europe during the week ending June 23 have relieved the situation and improved the outlook for barley and corn crops," cabled H. B. Smith, special representative to the United States department of commerce. "Seasonably warm weather in southern Europe was favorable for crop maturity, but temperatures in northern and eastern areas remain subnormal and crops continue backward. European trade regards the Hungarian official estimate on wheat crop of 2,170,000 tons, and rye crop of 722,000 tons, as high in view of frost damage and thin fields. Trade in all grains is generally quiet on declines."

·WORLD'S·GRAIN·MARKET·NEWS·

From the way the wheat market ran into selling both local and from the northwest, with some from the southwest, it suggested that with favorable crop prospects in the northwest and a possible turn in the weather in the southwest hedging sales would have more influence on values from now on. It was said that the short interest had been reduced, and offers were the favorites among traders in privileges.

It was said that inasmuch as a wet harvest in the southwest had thus far had but a limited effect on the wheat markets here and the southwest that unless there are more drastic conditions than have prevailed it may be hard to hold bulges. The fact that Enid, Okla., had 104 cars of wheat Wednesday, Wichita, Kas., 140 cars, mostly new, and Hutchison, Kas., 11 cars, there must have been a fair quantity of wheat cut before the heavy rains and a fair quantity since, showing there were some spots where rains were not delaying harvesting to any extent.

Some selling of wheat was based on a report that the crop was about ripe to the Nebraska line and that cutting had started in the southern part of Gage county, south of Lincoln.

A Chicago Board of Trade membership sold at $12,250, net to the buyer, a decline from $17,500, the recent peak.

Pressure on July wheat in Winnipeg due to claims of an absence of export demand widened the discount from 1c to 1⅛c under October with the close at $1.35⅜. Some of the Winnipeg messages were especially bearish on the July.

WORK UNDER WAY AT 917 DAKIN ON APARTMENT INN

BY AL CHASE.

Work is under way on a four story apartment hotel at 917-27 Dakin street, on a 60x122 lot, just east of Sheridan road, from plans by Architect E. J. Meles. According to E. J. Perlberg, who negotiated the financing, the project will represent an investment of $250,000. The building will contain forty-seven suites of one, two and three rooms. Harry Yavitch is the owner. Completion is set for Oct. 1st.

The eighteen apartments at the northwest corner of Paulina and 81st, lot 59x124, were sold by Joseph Morman to Sigurd R. Anderson and David G. Olson.

Loop Chain Store Lease.

The Berland Shoe Stores, Inc., now operating thirty-three women's footwear shops in the middle west, have leased from the Browning Building corporation the 22x182 store at 12 West Washington street for fifteen years. The lease was made on a percentage basis, with a minimum guarantee of $530,000 for the term. John F. Smith and E. F. Butterworth were brokers for the lessor and S. Katanik of the Kay Realty company, was broker for the lessee.

Albert Berglund has sold the three apartment building at 7428 Chappel avenue to Edwin Weisl for a reported $35,500, subject to a first mortgage of $20,000. Glatt & Price represented both parties.

Division-Spaulding Corner Sold.

The five stores and twenty-one flats at the southeast corner of Division and Spaulding have been sold by Gertrude Hyman to Baila Randell for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $115,850. The 100 car garage at 5503 South Wabash avenue was given in part payment at a reported $85,000. Goldstein & Greenspan were brokers. Philip A. Weinstein and Krinsky, Levitan & Glassner were attorneys.

Mrs. Melvena Wilson has sold the three apartments at 1217 Hood avenue to the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustee, for a reported $35,000, taking as part payment a coöperative apartment in the Addison building, 615 Addison street. John P. Cracraft & Co. were brokers.

Purchase of Wieland Co. by Borden Is Announced

Formal announcement of the purchase of the Wieland Dairy company and its subsidiaries, the Wieland Ice Cream company and the A. J. Olson company, by the Borden company, was made yesterday by Charles J. Wieland, secretary of the Wieland company. The announcement also was made in a letter to stockholders of the Borden company, the price paid, however, not being mentioned. The Wieland statement adds that the Wieland brothers will continue to operate the company.

Throngs Attend Opening of Straus National Bank

Friends and depositors poured into the new Straus National Bank & Trust company, Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard, to attend its formal opening yesterday. Many floral gifts and congratulatory messages were received. S. J. T. Straus, executive vice president of the new institution, and other officers received several thousand visitors during the day.

COTTON AT NEW HIGH

Cotton prices advanced to new high levels yesterday on bullish weather and crop reports with weevil said to be spreading, and many fields grassy because of too much rain of late. The weekly weather crop report was favorable in spots, and made a poor showing in others. Higher Liverpool cables gave the market a good start with an advance to a new high on the deferred futures, which called out profit taking by recent buyers and brought a setback which was followed by a rally and closed at intermediate prices.

Trade sentiment is in the main bullish, with an increased disposition to buy on breaks. At the finish futures in Chicago were at net gains of 5 to 10 points, while other markets were up 5 to 16 points. Spots in New York were 15 points higher at 22.65c, with New Orleans 10 points higher at 22.40c. Houston was 22.20c and Galveston, 22.25c. Liverpool closed 27 to 30 points net higher. Prices follow:

Elliott-Fisher Co. Buys Underwood Computing

New York, June 27.—(AP)—The Underwood Computing Machine company, which has been operated separately by the Underwood Typewriter interests, came into the Underwood-Elliott Fisher combination today, when it was acquired by the Elliott Fisher company, a subsidiary of the Underwood-Elliott Fisher company. The Elliott Fisher company will exchange 30,630 shares of Underwood-Elliott Fisher common for the 27,774 shares of Underwood Computing common, 500 shares of preferred outstanding.

H. H. Franklin Co. Resumes Common Stock Dividend

The H. H. Franklin Manufacturing company yesterday resumed common stock dividends by declaring a payment of 50 cents a share. This is the first dividend since July, 1921. The Noma Electric corporation declared an initial quarterly dividend of 40 cents. The Spiegel-May-Stern company declared an initial quarterly dividend of 75 cents on its common stock and $1.62½ on its 6½ per cent preferred stock. The Horn & Hardart company declared an extra of 25 cents and the Lakey Foundry and Machine company declared 30 cents extra.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—Cotton goods were firmer today due to the rise in raw material and a moderate amount of buying was reported. Warmer weather has stimulated sales of summer dresses and fabrics. Burlaps tend to show more strength in primary markets. Buying here was quiet and the chief interest of the trade was in the attempt to establish a burlap exchange in New York. A conference between the promoters of the exchange and representatives of the trade is scheduled for tomorrow. More business was reported in silk fabrics and hosiery. Wool goods ruled quiet.

Abitibi Power & Paper Company, Limited, with its recently acquired subsidiaries, now controls and operates six distinct units engaged in the manufacture of newsprint paper and associated products, these units being as follows: Abitibi, Spanish River, Fort William, Manitoba, Ste. Anne and Murray Bay. This group of properties constitutes one of the largest producers of newsprint paper in the world, with an annual capacity of 650,000 tons and capable of expansion to 1,000,000 tons a year from present timber and water power resources. Total wood reserves are in excess of 50,000,000 cords; developed water powers aggregate approximately 200,000 horsepower; and undeveloped water power resources aggregate approximately 500,000 horsepower in reserve.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The proceeds of this issue will be applied in substantial entirety to the retirement of funded debt of the constituent companies with a resultant saving in annual interest charges.

SECURITY

These Bonds will be direct obligations of the Company and will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, (1) by a direct first mortgage on all fixed property of the Abitibi Company (including the Spanish River and Fort William properties which have been or are being acquired by the Abitibi Company), subject only to purchase money mortgages or existing liens upon fixed property acquired subsequently to the date of the Mortgage and not exceeding 66⅔% of the cost or fair value thereof, (2) by assignment of all timber licenses, timber leases, water power rights and water power concessions now owned or hereafter acquired by the Abitibi Company, and (3) by pledge of the entire issues of first mortgage bonds and the entire issues of capital stock of the Manitoba, Ste. Anne and Murray Bay Companies. The Bonds will be further secured by a floating charge on the entire undertaking of the Abitibi Company.

SINKING FUND

The Mortgage will provide for a Sinking Fund to operate annually, commencing June 1, 1931, and sufficient to retire over 70% in principal amount of Series A Bonds by maturity.

EARNINGS

The combined net earnings of the Abitibi and Spanish River Companies, as defined in their annual audited and certified published statements, adjusted by addition of interest on funded debt of subsidiary companies of the Abitibi Company charged as operating expenses of the Abitibi Company, after depreciation and depletion, available for interest, income tax and dividends, on the basis of fiscal years ended December 31 in the case of Abitibi and June 30 in the case of Spanish River, have been as follows: 1923, $6,903,102; 1924, $8,067,601; 1925, $6,842,863; 1926, $6,995,067.

On the same basis, the combined net earnings of the Abitibi, Spanish River and Fort William Companies for their respective 1927 fiscal years (Fort William fiscal year ends December 31) amounted to $7,372,853, equivalent to nearly three times annual interest requirements of this issue.

The foregoing statement reflects the operations of three of the constituent companies with combined annual capacity of 450,000 tons of newsprint; the six units of the present company have an aggregate annual capacity of 650,000 tons of newsprint. The Manitoba and Ste. Anne units have recently been completed and the Murray Bay unit is now ready for operation.

During the first four months of 1928, the consolidated net earnings of the entire enterprise, after depreciation as charged, were equivalent to nearly three times interest requirements of this issue of Bonds for a four months' period.

ASSETS

Based on a pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Abitibi Power & Paper Company, Limited, and subsidiary companies, as of December 31, 1927, with certain adjustments to give effect to this financing and other transactions in connection with the acquisition of the subsidiary companies, the net assets, after deducting all liabilities except funded debt, amount to more than $140,000,000, as compared with the $50,000,000, principal amount, of this issue of Bonds.

Applications will be made to list these Bonds on the New York, Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges

We offer these Bonds if, as and when issued to and received by us, subject to the approval of all legal proceedings by Mr. Victor E. Mitchell, K. C., D. C. L., Messrs. McGibbon, Mitchell & Stairs, and Messrs. Meredith, Holden, Heward & Holden, of Montreal, and by Messrs. Shearman & Sterling, of New York. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about July 16, 1928, in the form of Interim Receipts.

Other Features

—They are issued in multiples of $50, $100, $500, $1000 and $5000, and arrangements may be made for the issuance of Certificates in other denominations.

—They may be registered in one or more names. For instance, a Certificate may be issued in the name of husband and wife, giving either privilege of withdrawal without the signature of the other.

—They may be registered in one or more names, making it necessary for all parties in whose names the Certificates are registered to sign in the event of a withdrawal.

—These Certificates may be purchased on the installment plan. You may accumulate, through a savings pass book, the funds to purchase a certificate of any denomination. It is the practice of many of our depositors to give an order to automatically transfer from savings pass books into Certificates of Deposit, all multiples of $50 as they are accumulated.

—These Certificates of Deposit may be issued in the name of individuals, corporations, lodges, trust estates and other groups.

We know of no better form of bank deposit for savings or reserve funds attractive to both large and small depositors, where safety is assured—where the rate of interest is liberal—and where you may withdraw your money when you want it.

A Tribune Want-Ad Sells Farm Land After Other Mediums Failed Consistently Over a Period of Years

"I owned 2,000 acres of farm land that had been in our estate since 1872, and every one on the family tree had tried to sell it. Agricultural magazines, grange papers and other methods had all tried their luck and failed. On the suggestion of a man I met I turned in despair to the Tribune and inserted a Want Ad. In two weeks I had closed a deal and the cash I received was safely banked. A genuine investor bought the property, improving it and benefiting the whole community."

MR. O. M. SECKLER,
2645 Pingree Avenue,
Detroit, Michigan.

WHEN Mr. O. M. Seckler's family of Detroit, Michigan, had tried for years without success to sell 2,000 acres of farm land a real predicament presented itself. Every type of medium had been used and nothing came of it. Finally, at the suggestion of a man he met, he tried a Tribune Want Ad. In two weeks' time a sale had been closed and the cash safely banked.

Had Mr. Seckler come to the Tribune in the beginning he would have saved himself much time, trouble and expense. The economical solution of a selling problem is to go at once to The World's Greatest Market and get in touch with the largest body of real estate buyers that read any single newspaper . . . to deal with them by the hundreds of thousands . . . to utilize the largest circulation of any standard size American newspaper. The right way is to phone—

Crucible Steel of America.

S. H. W.—Crucible Steel Company of America in its consolidated income account reported net profit of $5,617,344 for 1927, as compared with $6,547,730 for 1926.

This was equal to $22.47 a share on the preferred and $7.03 a share on the common stock in 1927, against $26.19 a share on the preferred and $8.73 a share on the common stock in 1926.

After preferred and common dividends there was a surplus for the year of $567,207 in 1927, compared with $1,910,291 in 1926.

Profit and loss surplus stood at $25,267,076 at the end of 1927, against $24,699,863 at the close of 1926.

Current assets were $30,343,163 and current liabilities $4,630,041 at the end of 1927.

This left net working capital of $25,713,121, which compares with $25,794,105 at the end of 1926.

The company is expected to show a decrease in earnings for the first half of this year, Chairman Wilkinson estimating the net profit for the period to be about $2.82 a share on the common stock, which compares with $3.82 a share earned on the common in the first half of 1927.

The annual dividend rate on the common stock has been reduced from $6 to $5 by the declaration of a quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share, payable July 31 to stock of record July 16, 1928.

The common stock deserves a fair rating, but is quite speculative.

The preferred is high grade.

RAILROAD NOTES

E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, announced that he had placed an order with Fairfield Shipbuilding company of Glasgow for construction of a new vessel of the Empress type for the Canadian Pacific ocean services. The new vessel will be 663 feet in length and 83½ feet in breadth with a depth of 56.9 feet and gross tonnage over 25,000 tons. The ship is to have a speed of twenty-one knots.

E. E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley railroad, said all forms of traffic on the road were in less volume than last June, anthracite loadings in particular, so that the month's earnings would not compare as favorably with June, 1927, when gross was $6,499,007 and net operating income $1,149,656.

Capitalization

(to be outstanding upon completion of present financing)

Funded Debt:
Ten-Year Convertible 6% Gold Debentures (this issue), $10,000,000

Capital Stock:
Common Stock, no par value; authorized, 2,750,000 shares; to be reserved for conversion of Debentures, 550,000 shares; to be issued and outstanding, 2,200,000 shares

The following is summarized from official information:

COLON OIL CORPORATION, a Delaware corporation, was organized by the Royal Dutch-Shell Group and Carib Syndicate, Ltd., to take over the entire share capital of The Colon Development Company, Ltd., a British corporation. A majority of the stock of Colon Oil Corporation to be presently outstanding will be owned by the Royal Dutch-Shell Group. The Corporation has arranged to enter into a contract of management with The Batavian Petroleum Company (De Bataafsche Petroleum Maatschappij).

CONCESSION AND ASSETS: The Colon Development Company, Ltd. owns a concession covering approximately 2,100,000 acres in the Maracaibo Basin of Venezuela, one of the richest oil areas in the world. Its properties definitely indicate geological similarity to those properties supporting major operations within this region. Since acquiring the concession, The Colon Development Company, Ltd. has expended approximately $12,000,000 in geological surveys, construction work, and in the drilling of more than 30 exploratory wells from which a daily capped production of approximately 13,000 barrels of high grade oil has been obtained and a large oil territory proven. Over nine hundred men are now engaged in work on the properties. Extensive facilities in housing, equipment and in river, road and rail transportation have been constructed by The Colon Development Company, Ltd. A consolidated statement of Colon Oil Corporation and The Colon Development Company, Ltd. as of June 30, 1928, will show no indebtedness of any character other than that incident to current items.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Proceeds of these $10,000,000 Debentures will be used primarily for the construction of a pipe line with a daily capacity of approximately 20,000 barrels, to cost about $2,500,000, the drilling of additional wells and for further expenditures estimated to be sufficient to develop the property to pipe line capacity. It is estimated that the Corporation's construction program preparatory to marketing oil will be completed within two years.

CONVERTIBILITY: The Debentures will be convertible at the option of the holder, at any time prior to maturity or the redemption date, into common stock of Colon Oil Corporation at the rate of 55 shares of no par value stock for each $1,000 principal amount of Debentures. The Indenture will contain provisions to protect the conversion right against dilution through the issuance of additional common stock at less than $18.20 per share.

INDENTURE: The Indenture will further provide, in substance, among other things: that cash dividends shall not be paid upon the common stock of the Corporation unless an amount equal to the dividend so paid shall be concurrently applied to the retirement of Debentures; that the proceeds of the sale of any concession or any interest therein, or any shares of stock of any subsidiary company, shall likewise be applied to the retirement of Debentures; and that neither the Corporation nor any subsidiary company shall mortgage or pledge any of its assets (other than to the Corporation) without securing these Debentures equally and ratably with the obligations to be so secured.

These Debentures, being the obligation of a company whose properties are in the development stage, depend to a substantial extent, for their security upon the future realization of present favorable indications. We believe they hold attractive possibilities.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—An impressive rally, carrying almost the whole list to higher levels, on the heels of an announcement that call money rates had been boosted to 7½ per cent, was the feature of today's stock market. The new rate is the highest recorded on the exchange since June, 1921.

Except for a brief selling flurry in the early afternoon, the market was on the upgrade nearly all day. The call rate had renewed at 7 per cent, but traders gave little heed to the development. It had been expected. Then came the news that banks had withdrawn some $20,000,000, and the expectation of a higher rate became general. It came about midday.

Trading Briefly Checked.

Trading slowed up for a few minutes but the advance was soon resumed in earnest. It reached its greatest volume around 2 o'clock. The day's turnover was just above the 2,000,000 share mark.

High grade stocks were in constant demand while the rally was at its height. American Can, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Union Carbide, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Consolidated Gas and American Telephone, all scored substantial gains. Accumulation of these issues by important banking interests was taken to mean that a plentiful supply of call funds at a lower rate is in prospect within the next few weeks.

General Motors Heavily Bought.

Buying of General Motors was particularly noticeable during the afternoon trading and as a result the stock at one time touched 180. Commercial Solvents made one of the biggest gains of the day, jumping 8¾ points. Case Threshing Machine was up 7 points, closing at 308.

Coppers continued to meet with good demand, Greene Cananea leading the advance of this group with a net gain of six points. American Smelting and Refining, Calumet and Arizona and Nevada Consolidated were other strong members of the division. Pressure was in evidence against U. S. Rubber, which dropped to 27¼, a new low for the year.

Railway shares generally were steady. Both Baltimore and Ohio and Atchison improved. Most other carrier stocks were also on the upside at the close, an exception being Delaware and Hudson, which showed a loss of 4¼ points net.

PRICES ADVANCE AS TRADE PICKS UP IN CHICAGO STOCKS

Activity in Chicago stocks picked up a bit yesterday and prices moved upward despite the highest call money rate in about seven years.

Great Lakes Dredge was the principal feature of the day, jumping 35 points to 235, within 10 points of the highest record of all time, before it closed at 219, a net gain of 19 points on the day. The movement was attributed to renewed reports that a split-up of the common stock is about to take place. The story in one brokerage house, close to one of the company's directors, was that the stock will be split six new shares for each one now held.

Auburn Automobile recovered 6½ to 116 and Pines Winterfront and Bendix "B" each advanced 5 points. Grigsby-Grunow sold up 3½ and Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry and Super-Maid each gained 3¼. Borg-Warner finished 1½ higher and Lion Oil was up a major fraction.

On small sales, gains of from 1 to 3¾ were established by Unit corporation preferred, North American Car, Chicago City and Connecting prefered, Monsanto Chemical, Stewart-Warner, Bendix "A," Zenith Radio and Wayne Pump. A. M. Castle was down 1½.

The governing committee of the exchange listed the following new issues: Loudon Packing company, 60,000 shares of no par common stock; Atlas Store corporation, 100,000 shares of no par common stock; American Community Power company, 30,000 shares of $6 series no par first preferred stock; Sutherland Paper company, 175,000 shares of no par common stock; Quincy Memorial Bridge company, $800,000 first mortgage sinking fund 6½ per cent bonds and Guardian Title and Mortgage Guaranty Company of New Jersey, $1,000,000 first mortgage collateral 5½s per cent bonds.

OATS RULE CHANGED.

Board of Trade members have voted to make No. 3 white oats deliverable on future contracts at 1½c discount instead of 3c discount as heretofore. The vote was almost unanimous.

Subscriptions having been received from investors in excess of the amount of this issue, this advertisement appears as a matter of record only.

The following information is furnished by Mr. L. W. Sutherland, President of the Sutherland Paper Company:

History and Business

THE SUTHERLAND PAPER COMPANY, located at Kalamazoo, Michigan, was incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan in April, 1917, with an initial capital of $10,000. The Company is the largest manufacturer of paraffined cartons in the United States, producing over 40 per cent of the entire output of this type of carton. The Company has approximately 1,800 active customers, among whom are many of the large producers of food products.

Purpose of Issue

The proceeds from this issue are to be used for plant expansion: either through the purchase of existing plants or the erection of new plant facilities.

Sales and Earnings

For the four fiscal years ended December 31, 1927, the net sales and net earnings available for dividends, after all charges (except certain non-recurrent expenses), including depreciation and Federal taxes adjusted to the present rate, as certified by Haskins & Sells, were as follows:

Year	Net Sales	Net Earnings Available for Dividends
1924	$1,750,877.10	$210,110.48
1925	2,123,653.21	186,045.10
1926	2,310,289.00	199,390.17
1927	2,460,531.75	232,878.84
Four Months Ended April 28, 1928	785,840.71	100,954.64

The earnings for the four months ended April 28, 1928, as shown by the books of the Company after allowing for Federal taxes at the present rate, amounted to $100,954.64, compared with $55,723.09 for the corresponding period of 1927, an increase of 81 per cent.

Assets

The Balance Sheet as of June 2, 1928, adjusted to give effect to the proceeds of this financing, shows current assets to be in excess of 6.7 times current liabilities, with net current assets of $1,029,421.80. After giving consideration to the appraisal of plant and equipment as of May 30, 1928, by The Lloyd-Thomas Co., and with no value placed on Good Will and Patents, the book value of each share of stock is $13.22.

Dividends

It is the intention of the Board of Directors to place this stock on an annual dividend basis of $1.20 per year, payable quarterly.

Management

The management of the Company remains unchanged.

The expected bulge in the cattle market came yesterday and sent top steers above the $15.00 line for the first time since early in April. Prime 1,522 lb steers reached $15.15, and yearling averaging 1,024 lbs at $15.00. Most sales of cattle of beef merit were at $13.85@14.90, against $13.00@14.50 middle of last week. Reports of $15.50 cattle at river markets led some traders to predict a $16.00 top for Chicago in the near future. Receipts dropped below normal, with finished stock extremely scarce. Arrivals at 6,500 were smallest of the year for Wednesday.

Hogs declined again, top falling 15c at $10.90, and general average 10c at $10.15, with late sales lowest of the day. An advance estimate of 31,000 for today, against 29,020 the previous Thursday, enabled larger houses to force cheaper grades down 20@25c in some instances at the extreme close. Outsiders bought only 3,000, and with local houses indifferent all day about 13,000 were left at the close.

Lambs Decline Sharply.

A break of 25@50c resulted from yesterday's increase in lamb supplies, which exceeded expectations by 5,000. Natives were subjected to severe sorting, with culls sorted again at 50@75c cut in quotations. Some of the best Washington lambs of the season went to Swift at $16.85@16.90, with most westerns around $16.50 and natives at $15.75@16.25. Yearling ewes went to breeders at $13.00@14.00, with 2 year olds to solid mouth ewes at $7.00@9.50.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 31,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep, against 8,331 cattle, 29,020 hogs, and 10,125 sheep the previous Thursday and 5,717 cattle, 35,355 hogs, and 13,944 sheep a year ago.

Court Names Receiver for National Theaters

The National Theaters corporation, which operates several movie houses on the south side, yesterday was placed in the hands of the Chicago Title and Trust company as receiver by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter. The Guaranty Trust company of New York instituted the action, which involves the foreclosure of a mortgage on which interest payments had not been made. The receiver announced that the theaters will remain open.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter declined ¼c for top scores, while fresh eggs were easy and ¼c lower. Live spring chickens 1c higher. Receipts 4 cars and 790 coops. Potatoes easier with a disappointing demand. Receipts, 93 cars. Veal carcasses steady at 17@18c for 90@110 lb averages.

New Issue

Municipality of Medellin
(Department of Antioquia, Republic of Colombia)
External 6½% Gold Bonds of 1928

Dated June 1, 1928
Due December 1, 1954

Cumulative Sinking Fund calculated to retire all of the Bonds at or before maturity

Total authorized issue, $11,000,000. To be presently issued, $9,000,000. Interest payable semi-annually June 1 and December 1. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500, registerable as to principal only. Principal and interest payable in New York City, at the office of either of the Fiscal Agents, Hallgarten & Co. and Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness, free of all present or future Colombian taxes.

A cumulative Sinking Fund is provided for, to operate semi-annually through purchase of bonds at or below face amount, or if not so obtainable then by drawing of bonds by lot at face amount on 30 days' published notice. The Municipality reserves the right to increase the amount of any sinking fund payment.

HALLGARTEN & CO. and KISSEL, KINNICUTT & CO., Fiscal Agents,
NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE IN NEW YORK, Registrar.

The following is based upon information furnished by the Municipality of Medellin:

MUNICIPALITY OF MEDELLIN: Medellin is the capital of Antioquia, the largest Department of the Republic of Colombia. It has a population of about 120,000, and is one of the chief manufacturing cities of Colombia as well as the commercial center of a large territory. Colombia is the world's second largest producer of coffee, and Medellin is the chief market and shipping center for most of this. The City is located at an altitude of 5,000 feet, with an even, temperate climate throughout the year. The Municipality has never defaulted in the payment of principal or interest on any of its obligations.

OBLIGATION: These Bonds will constitute the direct obligation of the Municipality of Medellin, secured by its full faith and credit. The Municipality has agreed, among other things, that if while any of the Bonds of the present loan are outstanding, it shall mortgage any properties or pledge any revenues to secure any future loan, the present loan shall have a lien or mortgage on the same properties and revenues prior to the lien or mortgage of such future loan.

PURPOSE: The proceeds of this loan are to be used for the retirement on October 1, 1928 of the $2,726,000 outstanding amount of the Municipality's 25-year External 8% Secured Gold Bonds, for the payment of the entire outstanding funded internal indebtedness of the Municipality (approximately $1,700,000), for additions, improvements and extensions to the municipal hydro-electric and tramway properties, and for sewer and paving purposes. That portion of the proceeds devoted to public works will be largely revenue producing.

REVENUES AND EXPENDITURES: Ordinary revenues of the Municipality have increased from $1,805,423 in 1924 to $2,729,845 in 1927. In the year 1927 the revenues from public works amounted to over 48% of the total revenues, showing an increase during the period from 1923 to 1927 of 133%.

FINANCIAL POSITION: Upon completion of this financing, the present Bonds, together with $2,902,000 outstanding face amount of the 25-year External 7% Loan of 1926, will constitute the entire funded debt of the Municipality. Municipal property is valued at over $9,850,000, this being exclusive of values to be created out of the proceeds of this loan. Taxable property has an assessed valuation of approximately $90,000,000.

All conversions of pesos into dollars have been made at parity of exchange.

The Municipality has agreed to make application to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

These Bonds are offered, when, as and if issued and accepted by us, and subject to approval of counsel, Messrs. Curtis, Mallet-Prevost Colt & Mosle, New York City, and Dr. Pedro M. Carreño, of Bogota, Colombia. We reserve the right to reject subscriptions in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for and to close the subscription books at any time without notice. Temporary bonds or interim receipts deliverable in the first instance at the office of Hallgarten & Co., 44 Pine Street, New York City.

Price: 93¼ and interest, to yield over 7.05% to maturity

The above named External 8% Bonds which the Municipality has agreed to retire on October 1, 1928 at 105% and accrued interest will be accepted in payment for the new Bonds on a 5% discount basis computed on their redemption price provided notice of the amount of such Bonds to be tendered in payment is received by Hallgarten & Co., 44 Pine Street, New York City, not less than five days prior to the date fixed for delivery of and payment for the new Bonds.

Hallgarten & Co. Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co. Halsey, Stuart & Co. Incorporated Cassatt & Co. William R. Compton Co.

The above statements were obtained partly by cable. We regard them as reliable but in no event are they to be construed as representations by us.
The above offering is made by such of the above named dealers as are licensed in Illinois.

Three Generations

By WARWICK DEEPING

SYNOPSIS.

John Pybus, formerly a bookseller in London, is serving as a porter in an inn at Craven when his son Conrad sees him there. He's been estranged from both his since the beginning of the war and they have lost track of him. Conrad hastens to his brother, Probyn, that he has seen his father. Probyn's son, Lance Pybus, had believed his grandfather dead, but he looks him up at the Saracen's Head without telling his parents of the meeting. When Lance finishes at Cambridge he takes a room in London and after gaining his father's reluctant consent and a small allowance he devotes himself to writing. In London Lance meets and is attracted to Olive Gadsden, a mani- when he breaks off his relations with her she burns the completed manuscript of his novel. Lance meets Mary Merris at Castle Craven and falls in love with her. She has devoted her life to taking care of her blind brother.

INSTALLMENT LXV.

THE BEAU GESTE.

Probyn's car turned into the Saracen yard and came to rest with its long bonnet within six feet of the inn's side door. Lance and his father were in the act of putting the fur rug from their knees when the white door opened and showed them the Venerable carrying a little black tray. On it were two plates surmounted by two tin covers—the Venerable's dinner, or his two sil[illegible] of maintenance.

It was a singular occasion. The chauffeur got down to open the near door, and Probyn, being next to that door, was the first to leave the car. And Lance and the chauffeur saw that particular act, Probyn's simple and beau geste. It embodied a ritual. Probyn, in his long coffee colored coat, stood at the bottom of the two steps, and, holding out his hands, asked the privilege of carrying his father's dinner tray.

And the Venerable consented. He recognized and surrendered to an act of grace. Probyn, carrying the tray with something of the air of a knight bearing his lord's sword and spurs on a black cushion, walked down and across the Saracen yard with his father. It was the most silent of ceremonies. Neither of them had uttered a word, and Lance, who had remained in the car, knew that he had witnessed a notable act.

Lance had seen more than an old fellow in a black coat and striped trousers standing in a doorway holding a tray. He had been absent at Winchester less than a week and he had returned to see the Venerable as he had seen him before, as a very old man. Just those few days, an insignificant space of time, and yet the thing had happened. Or he had returned with eyes that could be startled by the change, though the change must have been gradual. The little sturdy figure had appeared to him indefinably old and shrunken. The white head had seemed less massive and vigorous.

He heard voices.

"Your dinner will be getting cold."

"You are going to join me, Probyn."

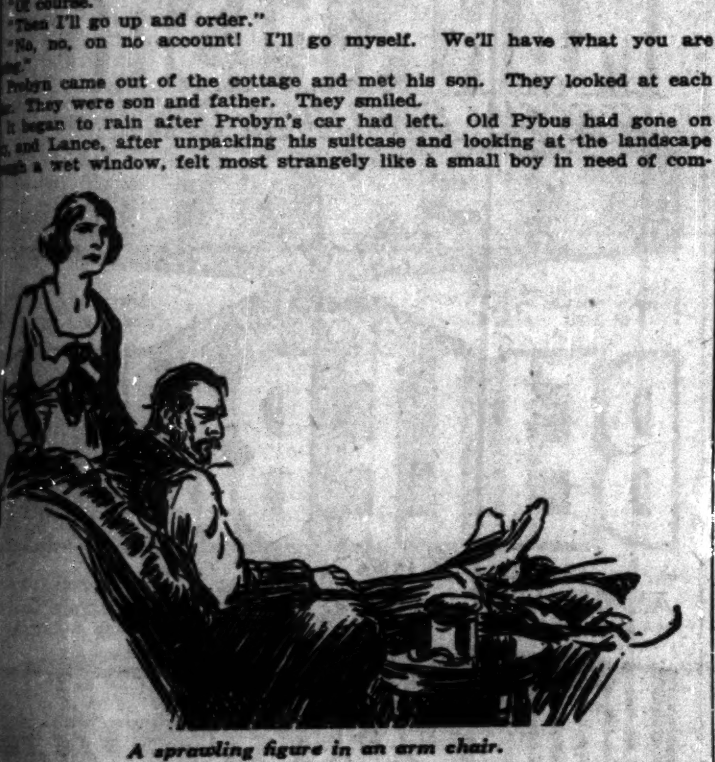
"Of course."

"Then I'll go up and order."

"No, no, on no account! I'll go myself. We'll have what you are having."

Probyn came out of the cottage and met his son. They looked at each other. They were son and father. They smiled.

It began to rain after Probyn's car had left. Old Pybus had gone on duty, and Lance, after unpacking his suitcase and looking at the landscape through a wet window, felt most strangely like a small boy in need of comfort. The little room struck raw, and his mood was penetrated by a like feeling of rawness. He and his father had talked for a while before the fire and Probyn had raised the question of money.



A sprawling figure in an arm chair.

"Do you mind how I use that check, pater?"

"Just as you please, old chap. It's just a bit of paper."

And Lance had said, "Did you notice how old he looks?" I hadn't realized before. It shocked me."

Probyn, leaning forward to warm his hands, had answered very slowly:

"He is a very old man. Of course—both of us—would rather—— But he's the sort that likes to die in harness."

The ardor of youth in arms confronted the shadow of the inevitable. A very old man! And suddenly he realized death and its physical finality as a blotting out of beauty, even as that rain was blotting out sky and hill. He had never seen death.

Lance put on a raincoat and an old cap and went out into the rain. He knew quite well where he was going. He was going to Mary. He was running to her in this moment of almost childish bewilderment and pain as he would run to her through life, to his beloved, the one creature from whom he would unthinkingly exact tenderness, soft touches, understanding. There was that in him which seemed to know without knowing, as a child knows. He wanted this sense of elemental soreness touched and soothed. He wanted to create something. He wanted her and self-expression.

He noticed neither the mud nor the rain. He sought her cottage like a tired small boy making for home. His problem was hers; she had no riddles of her own, or he had forgotten them. He found himself at her door, knocking.

It opened. She was there in the dim, wet, winter light. He saw her eyes and did not translate their expression into any selfless language.

"Mary!"

She looked at him, and somehow her hands went out. She had for him a strange, indefinable something. His tremblings were hers, his angers, his bewilderments. There were things that she set aside.

"O, my dear!"

He put his head down on her shoulder.

"O, what a kid I am! I want to tell you——"

She had taken him into the kitchen and there they had sat side by side on a couple of wooden chairs, with the kitchen range showing its black teeth at them like an idol with a head full of live coals. She had listened. She was sufficiently unpractical to understand him and his moods. She knew that she would love him the better for his sensitive outbursts. With one hand pressing his head against her cheek she suffered him to express his realizations.

"But don't you think that his last few years will have been rather happy ones?"

"But one takes so much for granted. One gets so absorbed."

She smiled over him, one of those half-whimsical, half-tender smiles that are to a woman's face what the genius of the artist is to the portrait. Of course, he took things for granted. He was taking her for granted. He was absorbed at that very moment in intimate and personal emotion. She was the one and complete Mary, a mirror, a voice, his own individual conception of her as Mary. But she could say of him, "You dear, funny, lovable old thing." She could forgive him for failing to feel that she had a particular and [illegible] problem of her own.

"I expect we look at things rather differently."

"But do we?"

"When you are old. I think old people feel the chill of the unknown. They want to feel warm and human and sociable and near to those they love. They ask for kindness. Wouldn't one?"

"I suppose so. But then, the Venerable has done all the giving."

"O, no, my dear! Besides, I'll tell you how I came to understand. Gil had to go to one of the leading oculists, and when the doctor found out that we were rather poor he would not take any fees from me. He was an old man. And I was rather young, and uncomfortable, and I tried to persuade him to let me pay. I remember a look, almost of pain and of appeal, on his face. He said, 'Young lady, I am an old man. May I not be allowed to do something for the love of the thing? What is money to me?'"

"Yes, that's rather fine. It touches one."

"Besides, it's so natural."

But she had Gil in the other room, and her thoughts passed from lover to brother. She was troubled about Gil, without being able to decide what it was that troubled her. Her eyes were fixed upon the black bars of the range and the red glow behind them and she was made to think of faces in the fire, monstrous faces, fantastic masks. Gil puzzled her. He had the air of being much better friends with himself, and she should have been glad, but her gladness was clouded. She had divined a something in the house, as though she was meeting drifts of elusive perfume, or as though a face smiled at her, and then smiled differently when her back was turned. She had caught glimpses of her brother in a mirror.

She made a movement.

"Are you coming to see Gil?"

"Of course. How's the music?"

She rose and stood looking at the black bars and the live fire behind them.

"He seems much more cheerful."

A sprawling figure in an arm chair, that was Lance's first impression of Gil. He was struck by the length of the fellow's legs, and the feet in blue socks cocked on a footstool. Mary was saying, "Here's Lance," and Lance saw a head turned on a cushion and that blind face looking curiously sleek and complacent.

Ravinia's Fine Voices Heard in 'La Boheme'

Mme. Rethberg Makes Her Season Debut.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Elisabeth Rethberg was finally able to bring her beautiful voice with her to the Ravinia stage, and last night she made her first appearance of the season in the tunes and tuberculosis of "La Boheme." She was still a bit cautious in its use; the air of carefree rapture was held back a bit. But it is a great voice, and it sounds its loveliest when engaged with the juicy melodies that Puccini wrote into this score for the use of Mimi.

While speaking of voices, it might be well to consider for a moment the case of Mario Chamlee who appeared as Rodolfo. There is a superb artist, alert, wise in the devices of the stage, and with a voice about twenty-five per cent finer in quality and more resonant in volume than it was last year. He has a sense of comedy and a sense of the serious, and when it is asked, as it sometimes is asked, what is going to become of the young American artists, one answer might be to have as much talent and develop it as well as Mr. Chamlee.

In fact, this was one of the justly famous Ravinia performances, alive and up on its toes at every moment of the time. Mario Basiola, Desiré Defrere and Virgilio Lazzari were the other three Bohemians of art engaged in a continual round of skylarking. Margery Maxwell's Musetta brought in a vivid touch of contrast to the gently pathetic note supplied by Mme. Rethberg's Mimi.

It is desirable to pause here long enough to say that Miss Maxwell not only sings the Musetta music in a most delightful manner, but also is one of the most expert portrayers of this hard boiled soubrette part that these eyes have ever witnessed.

Likewise the chorus assisted with much skill in the romp of the second act, singing like a group of principals the while, and the orchestra, which has been piling up a new record for itself this season, continued to do it under Mr. Papi's direction in this performance. In detail and in their sum, there was reason for every one to have a good time.

Playhouse Offers Jannings Film of His Earlier Days

"POWER."

Foreign film.
Presented at the Playhouse.
Featuring Emil Jannings.

By Mae Tinée.

Here is Emil Jannings, much younger and not nearly so heavy as he appears today in a film that is an interesting though not a great one.

In it the famous star plays a humble miner, who, in his dreams, becomes the possessor of the secret of power, and the ruler of the universe. It is not till he reaches the height of a monstrous dominion over humanity that he learns the lesson that only in labor is there contentment.

"Power" has the tang of the unusual, and though there is nothing extraordinary about any save Mr Jannings' acting, it is creditably produced and its impressionistic settings get over the idea of the story more than the playing does. They capture the imagination.

In case you haven't seen "Berlin, the Symphony of a Big City," it is still running and, they tell me, creating quite a little furor of interest. See you soon.

Mrs. E. J. Fleming Flies Home from West Coast

Mrs. Edward J. Fleming, 4711 Ingleside avenue, four times champion woman golfer of the Beverly Country club and wife of the president of the Fleming Coal company, wanted to get home in a hurry after completing her visit in California, so she boarded an airplane. After three transfers and 24 hours she arrived here yesterday. She brought with her a bouquet of magnolia blossoms, part of the 25 pounds of luggage she was permitted to carry.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Ruth Gossell, 118 North 6th street, Clinton, Ia., was awarded $5.

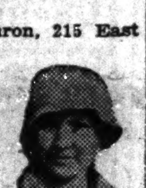
The Question.

Do you think Al Smith, if nominated, will get the woman vote of the Democratic party?

The Answers.

Mrs. Sara Naster, 6410 Glenwood avenue, housewife — I believe he will. Smith is popular with the men and women of both parties. I am a Republican, but Smith is a good and capable man and I believe he has a good chance of being elected. I would vote for him were I a Democrat.

Alvin Peterson, Nanson, Ia., retired farmer—I haven't any doubt about the women of the Democratic party voting for Al Smith. But I have doubts about the wisdom of the Republicans in putting up Hoover to beat him. I think it will be found that a lot of Republicans are going to vote for a Democrat this year.



Miss Mildred McEathron, 215 East Erie street, secretary—I doubt it. I think women as a rule stand for a dry measure to a greater extent than men; I believe women are more inclined to uphold moral principles and in their ballot uphold men who will uphold those measures.

Richard Holz, 217 Ogden avenue, Congress Park, Ill., delicatessen store — Absolutely. They will vote for him because of the crimes resulting from the prohibtion law, for one thing. They know that something must be done to stem the tide of poison liquor. The public sees in Al Smith not perfection but a promise of better things.

Miss Helen Burke, 360 North Michigan avenue, secretary—Probably. It is just possible that Al Smith is more popular with women of all parties than he is with men. I have no idea how the men of the country look upon Hoover and Smith, but it is certain that the outcome of the election will be awaited with extraordinary interest.

Science Is Path to Divine Truth, Rabbis Are Told

Factor in New Theology, Dr. Enelow Says.

That Jewish spiritual leaders cultivate the physical sciences as a means of gaining a more profound revelation of the divine truth, was a recommendation voiced last night by Rabbi H. G. Enelow, Temple Emanu-El, New York City, in the president's message to the thirty-ninth annual convention of the central conference of American rabbis. More than 300 reform rabbis, meeting in the Shoreland hotel where the convention will be in session until Monday, heard the president's address which sounded the main issues of the convention.

"Science is destined to play an important part in the reconstruction of theology," said Rabbi Enelow. "The modern philosophical scientist seems to be reaching certain stages in his investigaton which may assist in the attainment of spiritual truth, and in the upbuilding of a new theology. It is most important, therefore, that the theologian of the future shall grow conversant with the sciences.

"One reason why the Jewish philosophers of the middle ages played so dominant a part in the interpretation of Judaism was that they were familiar with the sciences of those days. If our theologians are to enjoy a similar part, they must gain a corresponding acquaintance with the science of today."

A statement from the social justice commission on the relationship between the employer and employé, presented by Rabbi Edward L. Israel of Baltimore, Md., will be one of the outstanding discussions this morning. No sessions will be held this afternoon, but tonight the labor situation will again be taken up when Rabbi Israel Mufson of Philadelphia, will discuss "The Spiritual Situation Among Jewish Working People in America," and Rabbi Louis Wolsey, also of Philadelphia, "The Historic Attitude of Judaism to Labor."

Engineers See New Model of "Mechanical Man" Work

A new version of the "Mechanical Man" was exhibited to the Association of Iron and Steel Electrical convention delegates at the Stevens hotel last night. The mechanism, more properly called "Televox," responds to sounds transmitted through the telephone. The earlier models all have used an answering signal consisting of a buzzer mounted in front of the transmitter, the buzzer sounding various codes. The televox exhibited last night, as explained by R. J. Wensley, engineer of Westinghouse Electric, has been given a voice with which it responds in spoken words.

South Side Boy Gets Six Medals in Park Contests

John Paige, 12 years old, 5419 Maplewood avenue, received four gold medals, one silver and one bronze medal during the first outdoor moving picture program of the season at Gage park last night. John ranked first in four interpark roller skating championship contests, first in the playground council meet and third as an expert kite flyer. South Park Commissioner John Bain made the presentation.

Delta Sigma Fraternity Opens Convention Today

The thirty-first convention of the Delta Sigma fraternity will open here this morning at the Morrison hotel, and continue until Saturday night. The fraternity, founded in 1897, is the oldest and largest secondary fraternity in the country. Edward D. Lawlor, Edward Morgan, Rodger E. Appleyard and several other charter members will be present. New grand officers will be elected at the business session Saturday.

County Pupils to Receive Achievement Diplomas

One hundred seventy three pupils who have completed eight home projects in Cook county's rural schools will receive emblems of their achievment at a banquet Saturday afternoon in the Morrison hotel. Edward J. Tobin, county superintendent of schools, said this is a record class. The children receive credits in sewing, cooking, gardening, business or similar projects while attending school.

Today Sally Picks Her Guests for Big Party at White City

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Good morning, girls and boys! It's an important morning, for today I decide on the lucky hundred who'll help me start our summer of good times at the wonderful party Mr. Herbert A. Byfield, president of the White City Amusement company, is giving us on Friday, July 6. And what a party it is going to be.

I told you a little about the splendid new feature at White City—the great circus hippodrome, right in the center of everything. But did you know that White City is going to give a special performance for us?

Well, girls and boys, I must see now who the hundred fortunate winners are—so watch next Sunday's paper for their names and news of another splendid party.

Here are some of the letters that will win invitations:

"Dear Sally Joy Brown: White City! What excitement and wonders that name suggests. Breathtaking high rides, funny shows, queer and ghostly houses to enter, with floors that quake beneath you. O, Sally! I have never been to White City, but from what I have heard it seems a veritable fairlyland. In all amusement parks White City ranks highest in sheer gayety, and what child has not dreamed of being admitted inside its massive gates. If dreams came true my imagination in slumber would run riot carrying me away to that Mecca of wonders unfolded.

"Can I wait until Sunday when the lucky winners are announced? Little chills are running up and down my spine as I eagerly wait that fated day. Already I hear the whir of the high riding cars and the sing song of the merry go round. But I must curb my joy and only long for a dream to become a reality.

"Awaiting its fulfillment, I am,

"CLARA L."

Dear Miss Sally: Vacation time is here and with it comes your glorious outings! I have been waiting ever since the beginning of June for the announcement of your first party. And to think it is to be at White City, too, would make any one enthusiastic enough to write a winning letter to you. I can just imagine the many wonderful rides which you have chosen for the lucky hundred who will be with you on that glorious day and it is my sincere desire that I may be one of the hundred. I think I would be the happiest boy in town for nothing would please me more.

"Trusting to see my name in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, I am,

"JOHN M."

Chicago Pastor Calls Baptists to Service

TORONTO, Ont., June 27.—[Special.]—The Rev. Charles W. Gilkey of Chicago roused the Baptist World alliance convention to heights of fervor here today when, in tones which rang throughout the convention hall, he issued a call to Baptists for world mission service and evangelization.

Dr. Gilkey sounded a warning to Christian America that the people of the potentially mighty orient were receiving their greatest impressions of Christian civilization from the cheap American movie rather than from the missionary or the responsible newspaper. India as well as America, he declared, reads of the Chinese war lords, and China and India read about the lynchings in the United States.

The Chinese people, he lamented, attempted to understand the sermon on the mount, but were confronted with Christian evidence of gunboats, grasping western business men, and race prejudice.

The Rev. C. A. Brooks of Chicago gave an address on "Non-Christians in the Homeland," and other prominent speakers were the Rev. James East, colored delegate and South African mission worker, and the Rev. Charles Detwiler, New York, secretary of the Baptist Home Mission society for Latin North America, who extolled the extensive work being carried on among the Indians in Mexico.

Declares Fate of Democracy Lies in Schools

Lovett Tells Teachers the Situation Is Serious.

Prof. Robert M. Lovett last night at a banquet given by the American Teachers' federation at the Congress hotel declared that democracy is confronted today by a crucial situation and must control its schools if it would survive.

The dictatorships of Mussolini in Italy and the Russian soviet, asserted Prof. Lovett, have two immense advantages. The first lies in their ability to employ experts, and second, he said, to conscript the entire population in obedience to their demands.

"Both of these dictatorships control the schools as a necessary condition to their existence," said Prof. Lovett. "If democracy is to survive in competition, it must control its schools. The first essential of its education must be to inculcate the foundation of principles of democracy. These, as laid down by the late President Eliot of Harvard are: 'Belief in freedom of opinion and expression, skepticism in regard to propaganda; confidence in experts and willingness to submit to them, and a lively sense of coöperation and of dependence on others and obligation to them.'"

Herman L. Ekern, former attorney general of Wisconsin, said communities which remove the fear of old age from teachers through retirement systems guarantee themselves better teaching and better schools. He urged the establishment of old age pensions and retirement systems.

Dr. John A. Lapp of Marquette university spoke on what he termed the insidious influence of the power trust. Walter E. Meyer, Washington, D. C., publisher, urged the scientific teaching of current events to assure the future of democracy.

William J. Bogan, newly elected superintendent of Chicago's public schools, was a guest of honor at the banquet. The convention will adjourn tomorrow.

Million Methodists to Pray for World

A crusade to induce one million Methodists to pledge themselves to pray daily for the redemption of the world, to give of their possessions and to lead the unconverted into the Christian church was opened yesterday by the world service commission of the Methodist Episcopal church at the second day of the conference in the Chicago temple.

"The chief enemies of Christianity today are secularism, racial, class and national antagonisms—sin in all its hideous personal and group manifestations," says the report adopted by the commission. "Evils are worldwide. They yield to no exclusion acts and they obey no quarantine laws. Only by international coöperation can Jesus' way of life be made regnant. Therefore we summon all Methodists throughout the world to a rededication of self and to prayer for spiritual power.

"Methodism's greatest need is not for greater millions in money, but a greater spiritual passion. If we are to advance it must be first on our knees."

More than 100 members of the commission, representing 5,000,000 Methodists throughout the country, were in attendance. Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes presided.

ring Chicagoans d Old Home Town Has Its Charms, Too

BY THALIA

may be fascinating and ing and all that, but there are Chicagoans, I notice, who are enough to get back to their town to take the first train from York City westward after their ocks. That is what Mrs. Waller and her two daughters, Ellen Betty, who had all sorts of excitement, court presentations, and what across the waters, did. They ed New York on the Ile de ce, and yesterday they arrived at big gray stone house at 1020 Lake drive that is home for them, h they may roam the world over the greater part of each year. plan to go to Lake Geneva for of the summer, and they may t to Bar Harbor for a while, and Mrs. Holmes Sherfessee also on the Ile de France, after honeymoon to African deserts, all sorts of other interesting and antic places. Mrs. Sherfessee ed her ankle shortly before the sailed and had to be carried in a wheel chair. She and Mr. Sherfessee are going straight to Ring-, the former Mrs. Arthur Ryer-'s lovely summer place on Lake go, near Cooperstown, N. Y.

The Chicago colony aboard the Ile de France included also the John Sid- Burnets of 1438 Dearborn park- who were no less eager to get Chicago than the Bordens. Mrs. et went shortly after her arrival day to see the apartment which son-in-law and daughter, Mr. Mrs. Edward Hersey, have found Elm street, and in which they to move shortly. The young Her- have been in the Burnet residence during their absence the last months.

And still another returning Chicago- aboard the same vessel was Mrs. Bross of 229 Lake Shore drive, has not come directly to Chicago, ever.

The entry booklets for the Lake Horse Show association's 22d annual horse show on the Onwentsia grounds, have been dispatched to potential entrants and others interested. H. Niblack is again in charge of the entries, which close by July 10. McCormick Blair is president of the association; Joseph T. Bowen vice president; Earle H. Reynolds, treasurer, and Mr. Niblack, secretary. Vaughan C. Spalding is receiving applications for boxes, which must be accompanied by $50 checks. There are to be 17 classes, including jumper, hunter, and children's events, and an inter-hunt competition for a trophy presented jointly by the Milwaukee and Lake Forest horse shows. This is a repetition of an event introduced at the last show. Teams of members each from the Milwaukee and Onwentsia Hunt clubs compete at the Milwaukee and Lake Forest shows, the trophy going to the club having the lowest number of faults at both shows. Net proceeds of the show are to go to the Lake Forest hospital.

James Simpson, his son, Jack Simpson, and a group of friends, including Lawrence K. Callahan, George D. Hu-d, and James H. Harper, are to leave the municipal airport tomorrow morning on the first lap of the novel vacation to the west coast that Mr. Simpson has planned. They are to make the trip in the giant trimotored plane flown here Monday by Anthony H. G. Fokker, the airplane designer and builder. The trip to the coast is expected to take approximately one and a half days. The party will visit a brother of Mr. Simpson in San Francisco, and then will proceed by plane to southern California. They will go to the giant forest and then into the Sierra mountains, hunting and fishing through the Kings River canyon. They will return to Chicago on July 16 by rail.

Unless You Really Need It, Why Play with a Henna Rinse

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A friend with an exceptionally lovely head of gold-red hair was telling me her experience in a hairdressing parlor. For over a year she has been frequenting the same place for shampoos. Upon every visit in the course of the year she has been asked by the same operator if she wouldn't take a henna rinse.

"I don't know," my friend says, "whether she thinks some day I'll say yes out of sheer ennui over the question, or whether she thinks she'll hypnotize me into it yet."

Perhaps it's one of the stock queries in a place where the more jobs done for a client the more money in the till. My object in telling the story is simply to warn women not to succumb to the repeated inquiry if the hair is not in need of a henna rinse. A number of women I do know ask for the henna rinse when the natural shade of their locks needs brightening. Then it is all right, if they want it. But if the hair is not in need of brightening up, don't be foolish enough to try to make it brighter than its own naturally lovely brightness.

The same caution goes for a certain type of blonde who, on an off day, may look at her hair while it is still unshampooed and think a dash of peroxide or perhaps a blonde henna rinse is what it needs.

It's time enough to get the rinse with foreign coloring matter in it when the hair actually needs it. The natural color, though perhaps it is dimmed slightly from childhood's brilliance, is still lovelier than the artificial. I'm not out of sympathy with persons whose hair is changing to a drab tone and who need a rinse, or feel they need it. I only want to caution in instances where eagereness to shine hirsutically may get the better of your judgment.

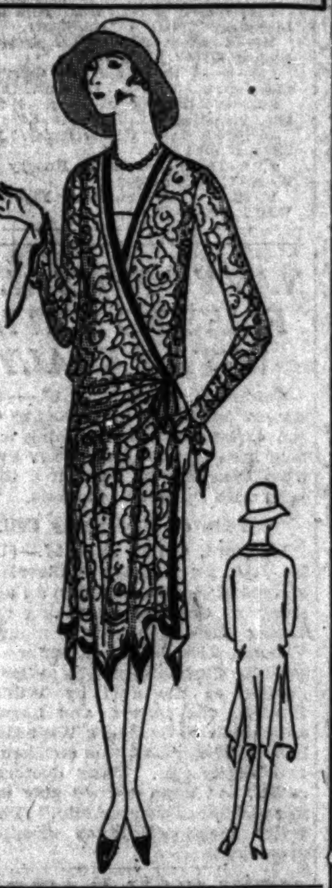
Chiffon Coat Dress Is Distinctly Smart

by Corinne Lowe



NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—To the home dressmaker this might constitute one of the unkindest cuts of all. Undoubtedly difficult to achieve is the elaborate seaming that makes for the distinction of this chiffon afternoon model. Yet those who are sufficiently in command of needle and scissors will feel themselves repaid by the result.

The coat dress is like the poor. It is always with us. But, unlike the poor, it is always finding ways to make itself look like a novelty. Really wonderful to contemplate, in fact, is the manner in which this adaptable type of frock contrives to lend itself to all the latest whims of fashion!

For example, in the matter of the slanting waist line. The up to date and enterprising coat frock manages to introduce this. With a similar display of talent, it enters fully into the fashion of the irregular hem. Armed with these two innovations, it greets you as an absolutely fresh idea.

The coat dress illustrated today fulfills both of these requirements for chic. Its slanting waist line is achieved by seams and these seams then run downward to achieve the original line of the skirt. The material, a blue chiffon with black figure, is set off by bands of black and pastel blue and the latter tint is introduced in the vestee.

He Believes in Marriage for Keeps, So He Hesitates

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am a young man in my late twenties and am keeping company with a girl I think is a gem. I hope some day to marry her. She is an only child and her mother is a widow. I am of a faith which does not recognize divorce, as is the girl.

"I don't believe in starting anything which has a chance of failing under reasonable circumstances. If I thought our lives would not be one of perfect harmony, I would rather not attempt marriage. In my opinion it would not be fair to either one of us.

"I have an average disposition and generally get along with those I come in contact with. Never have I met a girl in whom I have seen such fine qualities. She is extra kind and loving to her mother at all times. If I thought we three could live in the same house I would gladly attempt marriage. That is what we will have to do. But I've seen so many cases where dissension and strife could be traced to mothers-in-law that I hesi- that I hesitate. Jim."

The ideal thing, of course, is for a newly married pair to start their home without an in-law. But the ideal state of affairs is not always possible, is it? Then it is up to people to measure up their gifts and be willing to make a compromise.

A son-in-law, especially the husband of a devoted only daughter, is rarely up against the mother-in-law proposition as a daughter-in-law meets it. If he is devoted to the older woman he usually finds himself doubly blessed with affection from her. Of course, if he is of a jealous disposition or an irritable one or a disagreeable one he may make trouble for himself, for his wife, and for the mother. But with a reasonably good temper and a willingness to make her mother's life pleasant for his wife's sake, I don't think the chances against happiness are great enough to act as a deterrent to marriage.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

In touring through various sections of Illinois recently, several times I crossed the paths of the age-long fruit knockers, frost and windstorm. Both have given the trees some fairly heavy shakes, cutting the apple, peach and pear crops down a few points below the average. But the prospects for these three fruits, taking the whole United States, is above the average.

Illinois fruit growers must sell their surpluses in competition with growers of other sections and must grade close in order to get in on the higher prices paid for the quality fruit. Warnings already are being sent out by market specialists urging orchard owners to watch the culls this season and keep them out of the hands of unscrupulous dealers.

Bootleggers are hiding behind apple barrels as well as whisky barrels nowadays. They are dealing in culls. R. S. Marsh, horticulturist of the state college of agriculture, says the bootleggers dealing in culls threaten the 1928 market for good fruits. Growers are urged to sell their culls in such a way that they will be used in the making of cider, vinegar, canned goods, pectin, and various juices and extracts.

He finds that many buyers haul culls by truck out of southern and western Illinois to cities where they sell the junk at prices near those received for good fruit. One carload of culls will do more damage toward clogging the market than fifty carloads of good fruit.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Now's the Time to Play.

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm 18 and am to be married in June. But every one tells me I'm too young to marry. I'm not the kind that could go with any fellow. Please advise. D. F. C."

You are young to marry, particularly as you haven't given yourself the opportunity to mix with other boys. 'Twould be better to do so now than to marry and discover later you weren't in love with your husband.

BOARD TO SELECT BEST SUBMARINE SAFETY DEVICE

4 Members Named; Get Flood of Suggestions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—Appointment of a five member board to study the 4,000 submarine safety device suggestions submitted to the navy department after the S-4 disaster last December was announced today by Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operation and acting secretary of the navy.

The board will include Thomas A. Scott of New York a recognized authority on salvage operations; Dr. W. R. Whitney, director of the research laboratory of the General Electric company, and a member of the naval consulting board since 1915; Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, retired, and Rear Admiral David W. Taylor, retired.

Fifth Member to be Chosen.

John F. Stephens, at one time the engineer of the Panama canal and now president of the American Society of Civil Engineers, accepted an invitation to serve on the board but has since notified Secretary Wilbur that he will be unable to act, and a successor will be named.

With the $200,000 appropriated by congress for the investigation, and with the now decommissioned S-4 for use in practical tests, it is hoped that the board will be able to give full consideration to all of the ideas and determine which are practicable.

Deluged with Suggestions.

Following the sinking of the S-4, after it was rammed in Provincetown, Mass., harbor by the coast guard rum chaser Paulding, the navy department was deluged with over 6,800 communications from individuals in the United States and abroad, detailing 60,000 suggestions for safety devices. Many of the suggestions were accompanied by elaborate plans and working models. But only 4,000 were considered worthy of further study.

The board will meet next Friday to outline the procedure of its study. Admiral Hughes said today that clerical assistance would be supplied by the navy department.

MacDONALD HINTS U. S. PACT ONLY "COLLEGE ESSAY"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 27.—"Secretary of State Kellogg's proposal that the nations sign a treaty outlawing war does not include everything," said Ramsay Macdonald, labor leader and former prime minister, in a speech at Carmarthen tonight.

"The gesture Mr. Kellogg wants us to take is not a final thing. We have been too niggling—too panicky. We have written too many Oxford university essays on disarmament—those nice, niggling essays school boys write in order to get degrees. No foreign office or foreign minister writes essays like that.

"A man who is going to lead the world in peace is not going to be a man who sits in his chair—who writes essays and proves by verbal formulæ where dangers and difficulties lie. The virtue of gestures is that you should not shilly-shally about it."

Rush Work on Elevation of Evanston "L" Tracks

Material for the elevation of the "L" line tracks in Evanston from Clark street to Isabella street is on the ground and the project will be completed before winter, it was announced yesterday. The new elevation will create eleven more subways. In 1910 the tracks were elevated from Howard street to Clark street, in accordance with an ordinance which permitted a delay until this time in completing the elevation through the entire city of Evanston.

Baby Falls in Hot Water; Soon Dies of Its Burns

Josephine Mauro, 16 months old, was fatally scalded yesterday when she fell into a pan of hot water with which her mother, Mr. Marie Mauro, was scrubbing a floor in her home at 726 Gilpin place. The child died in Gabrini hospital shortly after the accident.

GOVERNOR SIGNS SIX BILLS PASSED BY LEGISLATURE

Tax Board Will Meet Here Soon.

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Small today gave his approval to the six bills passed by the third special session of the Fifty-fifth Illinois general assembly, which adjourned last Friday. The bills were filed in the office of Secretary of State Emmerson and will become effective July 1.

Two measures give the state tax commission the power to order a reassessment of real property at any time and a companion bill provides for the publication of assessed property by lot and house number instead of legal description. The three other bills appropriate $24,000 for the third special session.

Tax Board to Meet Here.

William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, was present when the bills were signed.

Chairman Malone ordered a reassessment of real property of Cook county some time ago, but his order was held premature in an opinion by the attorney general. The call for the special session followed. It is expected the tax commission will meet in Chicago soon, when Malone will direct a reassessment of property under the provisions of the new laws.

Governor Makes Statement.

Gov. Small issued this statement when he signed the bills:

"The amendments to the revenue law adopted give the state tax commission power to order reassessments by the local assessment officers of property where glaring inequalities were apparent.

"The previous law, however, was not clear with reference to how real estate was to be described in publication, but the new act definitely states the description shall be by lot and house number instead of by legal description."

SHOT TO DEATH BY WOMAN.

National King, colored, 21, of 24 East 31st street, was shot to death by Mrs. Gertrude Moore, also colored, when she was awakened early yesterday by his attempt to open the door of her home.

NAVY OFFICIAL FLIES TO SON ILL WITH PARALYSIS

Columbus, Ga., June 27.—(AP)—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson arrived at Fort Benning aviation field here at 2:30 p. m. today by plane from Washington, to visit a son who is ill with infantile paralysis.

Flies on Emergency Call.

Hartford, Conn., June 27.—[U.P.]—Dr. John MacLachlan of Cleveland, O., arrived at Brainard field in an airplane today as the sole remaining hope of saving the life of seven months old Virginia Scofield, daughter of a wealthy Clevelander. The surgeon was greeted at the field by William C. Scofield, the father, and hurried by automobile to Scofield's West Hartford home. The infant was stricken about two weeks ago. Many doctors were called, but none seemed able to treat her ailment successfully. The majority diagnosed it as streptococcic poisoning.

NEW TAX RATES ON ADMISSIONS BEGIN TOMORROW

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—At midnight tomorrow reduced tax rates on admission tickets to theaters and other places of amusement will go into effect. The new law exempts all admission tickets costing $3 or less. A flat rate of 10 per cent will be imposed for single tickets sold for more than $3.

A tax of 25 per cent is imposed upon admissions of $5 or more to prize fights and other pugilistic exhibitions. Prize fight tickets between $3 and $5 will be taxed 10 per cent. A tax equivalent to that due on paid admissions is also charged against complimentary tickets.

BOOZE FOR "SICK FINNS" CUT DOWN BY GOVERNMENT

Holds Prescriptions of Doctors to 400.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune].

HELSINGFORS, June 27.—The popularity of physicians in Finland rose 100 per cent today when the new government regulations limiting each doctor to 400 prescriptions annually became effective.

Because of the willingness of certain medicos to prescribe whisky, wine, and other liquors to patients, the Finnish department of health decided on the new regulations to attempt to reduce the present turnover in supplies of alcoholic drinks maintained at drug stores, whose purchases from stocks maintained by the government have been increasing yearly.

If the measure is successful, the government will have a new problem on its hands. Under the trade treaties signed with Spain and France, Finland is obliged to import large quantities of wines and cognacs.

Expect National Dry Referendum.

Maj. Ellis Hultin, head of the Association for National Temperance Without Prohibition, said that while socially the question of prohibition is becoming steadily more despairing, still politically the situation is improving because of the growing movement for a national referendum similar to that held in Norway which resulted in the repeal of the law there.

The Unionist party, which has thirty-four delegates in parliament, canceled the prohibition plank in its platform and the other parties are expected to follow.

Bootleggers Do Big Business.

Liquor obtained through prescriptions, Maj. Hilton said, represents only a small percentage of the total consumed. Drug stores charge $2 for a half pint of whisky, while the bootleggers offer a quart of "Black and White" or "Johnny Walker" made in the bathtub for the same price.

TOOL COMPANY SUES MELLON'S ALUMINUM FIRM FOR $9,000,000

Boston, Mass., June 27.—(AP)—Charging that the Aluminum Company of America, its officers and others entered into a conspiracy to create an aluminum monopoly to the detriment of other firms engaged in the industry, the Basch Machine Tool company of Springfield today filed suit for $9,000,000 in federal court against the company.

The suit also names as defendants Arthur V. Davis, president; George R. Gibbons, vice president and secretary; Edward K. Davis, a vice president, and Roy A. Hunt, a director. All reside in Pittsburgh.

The plaintiff company named Andrew W. Mellon, James B. Duke and others as having participated in the alleged conspiracy, but did not make them defendants. The bill alleged that, although Mellon resigned as a director of the Aluminum company in 1920, he continued to participate in the management of its affairs.

The plaintiff declared it had suffered a loss of "much more than $3,000,000."

The bill says the defendants conspired to use in combination their large resources to acquire all deposits of bauxite in the United States and foreign countries.

HEALTH FAILING, PILSUDSKI QUITS; PICK NEW CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, June 27.—Marshal Pilsudski today tendered the resignation of the entire cabinet. His reason was his failing health. A new government was named within an hour, consisting, with two exceptions, of the same ministers. Former Acting Premier Bartel becomes premier. Marshal Pilsudski becomes minister of war. Interim Minister General Kolarjewski will act in his place while Pilsudski takes a rest. The ministers of railways and education, who insisted on the necessity of commercializing the Polish railroads, were left out of the new cabinet.

BOY PULLS WIFE OF FRAZIER HUNT FROM ICY RIVER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LETHBRIDGE, Can., June 27.—Mrs. Frazier Hunt, wife of Frazier Hunt, former correspondent of THE TRIBUNE in Russia and former magazine editor, was saved from drowning in Highwood river by a fifteen year old boy scout, Munroe Hosford, of Cayuga, Ind.

Mrs. Hunt was thrown into the water when a strong current struck the wagon in which the party was attempting to ford the river.

The youth plunged into the icy river and succeeded in reaching the bank with Mrs. Hunt in tow.

The party was on its way to the Hunt ranch in Alberta.

Wm. Arbuckle Jamison, Coffee Magnate, Is Dead

New York, June 27.—(AP)—William Arbuckle Jamison, 65, directing partner of Arbuckle Bros., coffee importers and sugar refiners, died today at his home here. He was stricken with a heart attack last Monday at his office.

17 INDICTMENTS AGAINST LAND BANKER QUASHED

Toledo, O., June 27.—(AP)—Indictments against Guy Huston, president of the Joint Stock Land bank, Chicago, charged with having used the mails to defraud, were quashed today by Federal Judge Killits, who sustained a plea in abatement. Mr. Huston, arrested here on a Chicago-New York train last June, had been indicted on 17 counts in connection with the sale of stock.

The court learned that Attorney Sylvester Rush of Kansas City, Mo., who appeared against Mr. Huston before the United States grand jury here, had no authority to act for the attorney general in this district although he did have the power to act in Missouri.

AMAZING

WE BELIEVE

THE

will prove a great impetus to business in Chicago.

This conviction leads one of Chicago's most successful firms to offer positions paying

$40 AND UP PER WEEK

in addition to your present salary if you are now employed. Permanent positions for those not now engaged in other work. These positions are open to

BOOKKEEPERS, CLERKS, TEACHERS, MECHANICS,
CARPENTERS,
ALL TRADESMEN.

We do not desire real estate sales people, nor door-to-door canvassers.

THIS IS PUBLICITY WORK AND IS NOT OF A SELLING NATURE.

Experience not necessary, just ordinary common sense. We have no schools. There is no delay. You go to work at once and are given every assistance and co-operation by expert executives, making your advancement certain and rapid. Our future executives are chosen from those fortunate enough to be selected at this time.

THE IMMEDIATE PERMANENT ADDITION TO YOUR PRESENT INCOME WILL TAKE YOU OUT OF THE SMALL-PAID DRUDGERY CLASS FOR ALL TIME.

The reputation of this organization is vouched for by any Chicago bank.

A CONNECTION WITH US ENDS YOUR MONEY WORRIES FOREVER.

Such an opportunity was never offered you before.

Our representative has arranged to receive you

IN PERSON ONLY,

from 2 to 2:30 p. m. or from 7:30 to 8 p. m., on THURSDAY, JUNE 28TH.

Telephone applications not considered.

If you are white and over 25 years of age and are

INTERESTED IN MAKING MONEY,

tear this ad out as a reminder and apply at the Publicity Department only during the above hours.

ROOM 1221,

100 W. MONROE-ST.

$100 A WEEK.

You can earn the above amount by calling on our trade. No experience necessary, as we will train you, providing you pass our test. Must be able to furnish the best of references as to character, honesty, etc.

CALL AND SEE MR. JONES.

AMAZING

WE BELIEVE

THE

will prove a great impetus to business in Chicago.

This conviction leads one of Chicago's most successful firms to offer positions paying

$40 AND UP PER WEEK

in addition to your present salary if you are now employed. Permanent positions for those not now engaged in other work. These positions are open to

BOOKKEEPER, CLERKS, TEACHERS, NURSES, STENOGRAPHERS, AND ALL TRADESWOMEN.

We do not desire real estate sales people nor door-to-door canvassers.

THIS IS PUBLICITY WORK AND IS NOT OF A SELLING NATURE.

Experience not necessary, just ordinary common sense. We have no schools. There is no delay. You go to work at once and are given every assistance and co-operation by expert executives, making your advancement certain and rapid. Our future executives are chosen from those fortunate enough to be selected at this time.

THE IMMEDIATE PERMANENT ADDITION TO YOUR PRESENT INCOME WILL TAKE YOU OUT OF THE SMALL-PAID DRUDGERY CLASS FOR ALL TIME.

The reputation of this organization is vouched for by any Chicago bank.

A CONNECTION WITH US ENDS YOUR MONEY WORRIES FOREVER.

Such an opportunity was never offered you before.

Our representative has arranged to receive you

IN PERSON ONLY,

from 2 to 2:30 p. m., or from 7:30 to 8 p. m., on THURSDAY, JUNE 28TH.

Telephone application not considered. If you are white and over 25 years of age and are tear this ad out as a reminder and apply at the Publicity Department only during the above hours.

INTERESTED IN MAKING MONEY

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

On Tuesday of this week the Chicago Morris Plan Bank will have loaned its 50,000,000th dollar. Like the $49,999,999 preceding dollars, it will be used for some family running need.

It was only a little over ten years ago that The Chicago Morris Plan Bank introduced into this community a plan whereby credit was made available to the man of moderate circumstances at a reasonable cost and upon terms which met with his purse. Little did the community realize that the facilities offered were so greatly needed and that the amount of money loaned would ever approach the amount of money which has already been loaned.

A little over two years ago this same institution was instrumental in providing facilities for another phase of the family running business. We were almost shocked at the high rates which were charged for second mortgage loans on homes, and we were equally shocked at other conditions which were accepted as a part of the second mortgage business. A very large fund was made available to see if the home owners could not be spared the exorbitant charges and the other unsatisfactory conditions.

While we have not as yet loaned $50,000,000 on second mortgages, we have already loaned several million dollars in the short period in which we have been engaged in this field. We are hopeful that as time goes on the record established by The Chicago Morris Plan Bank as agent in second mortgage development will be quite as notable as the record which has been established in the making of industrial loans.

We will be glad to meet home owners in Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties. We will make loans to you for a period up to three years on houses and homes and up to three flat buildings. The appraisals will be made promptly and payments will be made to fit the home owner's income, and the rates charged will not be out of sight. At the present time we charge 6% interest plus a commission which works out as follows:

65.00 per $1,000 for 2 years.
90.00 per $1,000 for 3 years.

TEN SPECIAL BARGAINS

IN STUDEBAKER CARS

A good used Studebaker, inspected and gone over in our own shops, is the best used car buy today. Investigate our great array of Studebaker cars. They are offered at ROCK BOTTOM prices. Many of these carry a 30 day free service guarantee, and all of them are backed by the Studebaker Used Car Pledge that allows 5 days' free driving trial.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. A special six that's unusually clean throughout. The finish glistens and the mohair upholstery looks new. Extras are spare tire, shutter front, heater, bumpers, etc. Reduced to $325.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. An attractive, fine performing light six that was just refinished; has expensive upholstery and the tires are in dandy condition; extras are bumpers, heater, spare tire, etc. Special for $395.

STUDEBAKER COACH. A special six that has been given very good attention by the original owner; oiled and greased every 500 miles; result is today it looks and runs as though it were direct from the factory. It's the last word in fine appearance and spirited performance. Has a wealth of equipment. Will be sold at once for $645.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT, 7 pass. Big Six Sedan. The original owner only drove this car a few thousand miles, and a careful inspection will prove it's absolutely like new today. Finish is distinctive. The expensive mohair upholstery appears unused. The motor is guaranteed. Has 4 wheel brakes, spare tire, bumpers, snubbers, etc. Will be sold at a big discount.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, Big Six, 7 pass. The finish glistens and the upholstery looks like new; has 2 spare tires mounted along the sides, driving light, snubbers, trunk, bumpers, etc. Today, $445.

STUDEBAKER COACH. Standard Six that's unusually clean throughout; runs like clockwork; has very good rubber and the extras are bumpers, spare tire, etc. Today, $645.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. We recommend this as one of our very best buys. It's a 7 pass. Big Six, with very low mileage. The finish is beautiful and the expensive mohair upholstery appears unused. The tires are in dandy condition and the motor has been reconditioned and carries a 30 day free service guarantee. This car sold for close to $3,000 not very long ago, and it hasn't been driven more than 9 months. Equipped with 4 wheel brakes, snubbers, spare tire, bumpers, Lorraine driving light, etc. Today, $685.

STUDEBAKER COUPE. Here is the latest Commander Big Six Coupe. Will satisfy the most exacting buyer. Has 4 wheel brakes, snubbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. Finish is a beautiful color, motor is A1; in fact, every feature is like brand new. Offered for $685.

ERSKINE SEDAN. This is the famous "Little Aristocrat." This Six has very low mileage, and your neighbors could not tell it was not a brand new car. Equipped with 4 wheel brakes, snubbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. A bargain for $645.

STUDEBAKER TOURING. Special Six that's equipped with glass sides, affording open or closed car convenience. The finish is bright and shiny and the extras are bumpers, snubbers, spare tire, etc. Has very good rubber and the upholstery looks new. Will be sold at once for $385.

PEERLESS

This car should appeal strongly to persons interested in the purchase of a high grade 4 or 5 passenger coupe type car. It cannot be termed the ordinary "used" car. The entire car was refinished by the previous owner just before traded to us. Mechanically it is excellent, having had chauffeur care. Fully equipped. We have never before offered a car of this type within $300 of what we are offering this one, and believe that in selling it at this price we will make a friend of whoever buys it and that it will be the means of selling many more cars for us. For this reason it is priced $495. Deferred payments if desired. $198 down payment.
